3. FOREWORD BY THE CHAIRPERSON

The 2021-2022 financial year was the second full year that Legal Aid South Africa contended with ensuring access to justice amid a global pandemic. While the year ended on something of a high note, with the country's National State of Disaster lifted just a few days after the close of the financial year, 2021-2022 continued to be dominated by the COVID-19 Coronavirus pandemic and its impact on our way of life.

Despite this, Legal Aid SA was able to assist 487,552 indigent and vulnerable people with legal representation and legal advice. This is an increase of over 100,000 people assisted when compared with the previous financial year and is testament to how the organisation has been able to adapt its practices and resources to best tackle the adjustments rendered necessary by COVID-19. Our committed Legal Aid SA Citizens further ensured that the Strategic Plan 2020-2025 continued to be rolled out, working towards fulfilling our goal of ensuring equal access to justice for all to build a just society. The last two plus years have been tremendously difficult for us all, and I am grateful for the sustained dedication of our organisation to rendering quality legal services and ensuring that constitutional rights are realised. Legal Aid SA has certainly demonstrated that it places human rights above all else.

Legal Aid SA remained an active partner in building justice systems and safer communities nationally, regionally and internationally, thus supporting access to justice for all. Our work with the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and the United Nations Development Programme continued, in line with our commitment to realising the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) 16, Target 16.3 of promoting the rule of law at the national and international levels and ensuring access to justice for all. Stakeholder engagement and co-operation have been essential to reach communities during the Coronavirus pandemic, especially when movement was hindered by lockdown restrictions. Our partners in justice have assisted us to carry on providing accessible and quality legal aid services to those in need.

During the last quarter of the 2021-2022 financial year, Legal Aid SA took over the legal representation function previously undertaken by the Land Rights Management Facility (LRMF) of the Department of Agriculture, Land Reform and Rural Development. The extension of our mandate to provide land justice services commenced on 5 January 2022 with the establishment of a Land Rights Management Unit, and sees our organisation provide legal representation and advice services in land disputes for those who cannot afford legal representation. Most legal practitioners who were previously providing legal representation to farm occupiers, labour tenants and restitution claimants through the LRMF have accredited with Legal Aid SA on the Judicare system and continue to provide legal services as required.

I am proud to see our organisation at the centre of land justice efforts in South Africa, which is a further acknowledgement of our high performance and consistent delivery of our constitutional mandate.

Legal Aid SA's budget has been reduced by 15% over the Medium Term Expenditure Framework (MTEF) period of 2021/22 to 2024/25. We continue to implement stringent mitigating measures to absorb these reductions and have once again achieved our annual targets within these budget constraints, delivering on 84% of the approved Business Plan for 2021-2022. However, this is not sustainable in the long-term, particularly with Legal Aid SA expected to reduce compensation to employees by R125 million and goods and services expenditure by R227,6 million over the MTEF period.

Legal Aid SA thanks the Minister of Justice and Correctional Services, Mr Ronald Lamola, as well as the Deputy Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development, Mr John Jeffery, for their continued support during the last financial year, and throughout the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Board records its gratitude to Legal Aid SA's Chief Executive Officer, Ms Mantiti Kola, and the Executive Management team for continuing to capably lead the organisation throughout this very challenging time. We are proud to be affiliated with Legal Aid SA and see the daily demonstration of passion for justice and Ubuntu in action. We have sadly lost colleagues to COVID-19 in the past year and will remember them fondly.

The Board also wishes to thank the staff of Legal Aid SA who continue to champion the rights of all persons to access justice in this period of great uncertainty and loss. We recognise the significant impact this pandemic has had on each one of us and are grateful for your steadfast commitment to our mandate. We remain inspired by you.

Lastly, I thank the Board of Legal Aid SA. It is a privilege to work with a team of like-minded human rights ambassadors, who hold the fulfilment of constitutional rights central to every discussion we have and decision we make. I look forward to continuing to extend access to justice to the most vulnerable.

Judge Motsamai Makume
Chairperson: Board of Legal Aid SA

Five minor children were removed from their mother on allegations of neglect. Social workers found that the children were living in a dilapidated shack with their mother. None of them had birth certificates and the mother was unemployed. The children were temporarily removed from the mother's care and placed in a place of safety. The eldest son attempted to run away from the place of safety to return to his mother. Legal Aid SA was appointed to act as legal representatives for the children. Upon perusing the social worker's report, we found that there was no mention of neglect. An interview with the children revealed that the children were actually well taken care of by their mother and that they wished to be returned to their mother's care. The family was experiencing financial difficulty and they were in need of proper housing. The mother also needed assistance in obtaining her identity document as this would enable her to get birth certificates for all her children. She would then be able to receive a child support grant for each child. This would alleviate the families' financial problems. A meeting was held between the mother, the social workers and family members. The Department of Social Development undertook to assist the family in obtaining proper housing, an identity document for the mother and birth certificates for the children. The grandmother of the children offered to house the mother and the five children temporarily until she receives a house from the Councillor of their area. The children were returned to the care of their mother and the social workers continued to assist in resolving the socioeconomic issues endured by the family.

4. CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER'S OVERVIEW

The 2021-2022 financial year saw the world continue to operate in a state of uncertainty due to the COVID-19 Coronavirus pandemic. The lessons learnt from the first year of the pandemic held us in good stead as we contended with further variants and lockdown restrictions that impacted on our ability to execute our mandate. I am pleased to report that Legal Aid South Africa was able to increase the number of indigent and vulnerable people assisted with legal representation and advice during the financial year under review, demonstrating remarkable tenacity while facing the frightening unknown.

COVID-19

The organisation's business continuity was made possible through its COVID-19 Steering Committee, established in March 2020 and comprised of members from Management and the two recognised trade unions, namely, SALAWU and SAPTU. The Committee has capably led Legal Aid SA through the various stages of our country's National State of Disaster, ensuring agility in operations so that we could continue fulfilling our constitutional mandate. During the 2021-2022 financial year, 373 Legal Aid SA employees were infected with COVID-19, 66% of whom are legal staff, and we recorded 77 instances of temporary office closure for decontamination.

Sadly, six of our employees were lost to complications arising from COVID-19, bringing the total number of colleagues who have passed away due to the Coronavirus to 14. The Legal Aid SA family remembers these dear employees and continues to honour them in our work.

During the financial year under review, the COVID-19 vaccination became widely available. As at the end of 2021-2022, a total of 54.8% of Legal Aid SA employees received the vaccination. Management continues to encourage widespread vaccination against the Coronavirus, to ensure further protection of staff and the safety of both staff and clients when attending offices, courts, correctional facilities and outreach events.

Throughout the many challenges that have accompanied the COVID-19 pandemic and impacted on operations during the 2021-2022 financial year, Legal Aid SA has remained committed to championing the rights of all persons to access justice through the provision of independent, accessible and quality legal aid services in criminal and civil legal matters. This has seen the entity attaining a clean audit outcome from the Auditor-General South Africa and achieving 84% of the Business Plan 2021-2022 objectives, concluding a successful second year of the Strategic Plan 2020-2025.

Legal Services Delivery

A total of 487,552 people were provided with legal representation and legal advice during the year under review; this is a 31% increase when compared with the previous financial year, and first year of the Coronavirus pandemic. This figure comprises a total of 314,998 (89%) new criminal and 40,143 (11%) new civil matters, and the provision of legal advice to 132,411 people. This is 17% more criminal matters, 44% more civil matters and 75% more advice matters than the 2020-2021 financial year. We finalised 360,655 matters; 317,546 (88%) criminal matters and 43,109 (12%) civil matters. This is 9% more finalised matters than the previous financial year.

Legal Aid SA assisted 11,686 children in 2021-2022; 6,935 (59%) children in conflict with the law and 4,751 (41%) children involved in civil matters.

The organisation continued to take on strategic litigation matters, both handling and funding precedent-setting human rights and social justice matters that often have a far-reaching impact on a broader population of people beyond those involved in the litigation. In 2021-2022, 49 matters were assessed for recognition as strategic litigation matters, and 19 were approved. A success rate of 93% was achieved for the 13 finalised matters with an outcome; 12 had a positive outcome and one had a negative outcome.

The growth in these service delivery figures reinforces the efficacy of the mixed model service delivery system, which sees legal aid services delivered by Legal Aid SA Local Offices and Satellite Offices, as well as Judicare, Co-operation and Agency Agreement partners. This system enables the organisation to extend the range of its services, as well as supplement its expertise by utilising legal practitioners from within the broader legal fraternity. As a result, all criminal courts as well as specialised criminal courts including specialised Child Justice Courts, Sexual Offences Courts and Commercial Crimes Courts are covered.

During the financial year, Legal Aid SA implemented an in-year output indicator change for Programme P1-1 (Access to criminal legal aid services) of the Annual Performance Plan 2021-2022.

The change was necessitated by the possible challenges in obtaining verifiable information on the actual number of days that courts sat. The output indicator was amended from actual court coverage to planned court coverage. The amendment was duly approved by the Board of Legal Aid SA and Executive Authority. The Revised Annual Performance Plan 2021-2022 was subsequently re-tabled in Parliament on 16 March 2022.

Thus, the Annual Performance Report for court coverage has been reported on this basis. Actual court coverage was 84% in the District Courts, against a target of $\geq 80\%$, and 81% in the Regional Courts, against a target of $\geq 90\%$. The delivery on planned court coverage for the District Courts and Regional Courts in the financial year was 87.6% and 94.4%, respectively.

A central court roll model was in place for High Court matters and representation was provided in all matters that required legal aid. The tracking and monitoring of Remand Detainees was better able to continue during the financial year under review, as legal practitioners were able to consult with clients in custody and these clients could attend court for bail matters. Legal services were provided by 1,907 legal staff, including paralegals; this accounts for 77% of total staff recruited.

The proportion of new civil matters has increased by 2% from the previous financial year to 11% in 2021-2022. A total of 89% of new civil matters were handled by internal legal practitioners; 7% through Co-operation Partners and 4% by Judicare practitioners.

While the Legal Aid Advice Line operated on a 50% staff capacity for much of the financial year under review, as we implemented a rotational work roster, it reverted to full capacity in quarter three of 2021-2022. This, along with relaxed lockdown regulations, has contributed to the 75% increase in the provision of legal advice as compared to the previous financial year – a total of 132,411 people were provided with legal advice, with 94,419 people assisted at local and satellite offices, 29,119 through the toll-free Legal Aid Advice Line and 8,873 at correctional facilities.

Summaries of criminal, civil and strategic litigation matters from the 2021-2022 financial year, providing insight into the work Legal Aid SA does to ensure equal access to justice for indigent and vulnerable persons and make the Constitution a living document for all, are found throughout this Integrated Annual Report. We have also incorporated land justice matters, highlighting the organisation's new, additional mandate.

The entity has stringent quality requirements for internal and Judicare legal practitioners, as well as practitioners handling matters on behalf of Legal Aid SA clients through Co-operation Partners and Agency Agreements. Several quality interventions, including training programmes; legal research and support programmes; mentorship and supervision; access to electronic libraries, and assessments conducted by the Legal Quality Assurance Unit (LQAU) continue to be effective. File audits conducted by the LQAU indicate that all categories of legal practitioners achieved the quality targets for their file audit scores, in both criminal and civil matters.

Legal Aid SA further monitors client satisfaction through surveys and compliments and complaints received through the Legal Aid Advice Line, in line with our Client Relationship Management Strategy and Client Services Charter. Client satisfaction surveys resumed in quarter four of the 2021-2022 financial year, after the Legal Aid Advice Line reverted to full capacity. The overall satisfaction level for civil is 73% and 94% for criminal matters. Part B: Performance Information contains detailed reporting on service delivery.

Finance

Legal Aid SA remains committed to the responsible, accountable and prudent spending of public resources in the fulfilment of our constitutional mandate. The Annual Financial Statements are compliant with relevant standards and regulations and the detailed Report of the Auditor-General can be found in Part F of this Integrated Annual Report. The entity received its 14th clean and 21st unqualified audit opinion from the Auditor-General South Africa in the financial year under review.

Legal Aid SA's budget has been reduced by 15% over the MTEF period of 2021/22 to 2024/25 and the entity is expected to reduce compensation to employees by R125 million and goods and services expenditure by R227,6 million during this time. This is a major concern and will significantly hamper Legal Aid SA's ability to execute its constitutional mandate.

The 2021-2022 budget allocation to Legal Aid SA was cut by 8.3%. The organisation spent and committed R2,022 billion of our budget in 2021-2022. This is a total of 95% of our budget, which is 3% below the target expenditure of 98%.

Payments to creditors and Judicare payments within 30 days were recorded at 97.3% and 99.1% respectively. Judicare payments within 30 days increased by 18% when compared to the previous financial year, showing a significant improvement.

Supply Chain Management

Supply Chain Management policies and procedures were reviewed and compliance with these was tested through the risk based Internal Audit Coverage Plan. The decrease in irregular expenditure by R459,291 is evidence of better controls implemented to ensure compliance with legislation and procurement regulations. Of the total of R50,754 of fruitless and wasteful expenditure incurred, R25,751 was recovered, in line with the Public Finance Management Act (PFMA).

The ongoing challenge of acquiring office lease accommodation will be eased by the Executive Authority's recent approval enabling Legal Aid SA to purchase office buildings in terms of the PFMA. The entity will commence with this procurement from 2022-2023.

In quarter four of the financial year under review, the National Treasury issued a moratorium on procurement due to the Constitutional Court judgment on the invalidity of the Procurement Regulations, 2017, which further constrained the ability to finalise procurement against the approved procurement plan. This has necessitated the rollover of outstanding procurement to the new financial year.

Legal Aid SA does not accept any unsolicited bids, and there were none received for 2021-2022. For detailed information on our financial performance please refer to Part F of this Integrated Annual Report.

Risk Management

The Enterprise Risk Management Strategy and Risk Management Implementation Plan was reviewed by the Board and implemented effectively to manage the strategic, operational and fraud risks affecting Legal Aid SA and to identify emerging risks. A Combined Assurance Framework is in place and provides for Management, the Chief Risk Officer, the Internal Auditors and External Auditors to provide assurance. The Internal Audit Department conducted a total of 110 of the planned 113 audit projects during 2021-2022, as well as an additional three projects, affirming the effectiveness of the organisation's risk management activities and achieving a 100% target of completion of the annual Audit Coverage Plan. The Board, in its oversight role, approved the risk appetite and tolerance for the top strategic risks and reviewed the Risk Registers and quarterly Risk Watch Reports. Legal Aid SA was materially compliant with relevant legislation that comprises the organisation's legislative universe. Details of the Internal Audit Function can be found in Part C: Governance of this Integrated Annual Report.

Regulatory Framework

The Legal Aid SA Act has been reviewed, with amendments submitted to the Department of Justice and Constitutional Development for consideration. The amendments to the Legal Aid Regulations were duly gazetted by the Executive Authority and came into operation on 6 August 2021. The amendments to the Legal Aid Manual were gazetted on 9 March 2022 and came into operation on 8 May 2022.

Human Resources

Legal Aid SA Citizens have continued to exemplify passion for justice and Ubuntu throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, fulfilling the organisation's vision of a just society. Legal Aid SA was named a Top Employer South Africa for the 13th consecutive year. We have continued to prioritise maintaining excellent people practices in the workplace and strive to meet the challenges of the changing world of work to positively impact on the lives of our staff. The organisation's recruitment rate at financial year end was 91.8%, which is 3.2% below the target. We maintained a low staff turnover rate of 5.2%.

As part of improving the Employee Value Proposition (EVP), the following aspects were reviewed: the prior year's Group Life cover was doubled with additional cover benefits ranging from Temporary Disability, Permanent Disability and Critical Illness. Employee wellness and health and safety programmes were ramped up to maintain a healthy and happy workforce. Performance incentives remained in place, as did creative and virtual employee engagement, education, training and development.

An internal employee satisfaction survey found that employee satisfaction increased in all dimensions, with an overall organisational score of 82%. We continue to implement our Employment Equity Plan 2020-2025 and focus on recruitment where there are gaps in representation. More information on Human Resources Management is provided in Part E of this Integrated Annual Report.

Information Technology

Even prior to COVID-19, Legal Aid SA recognised the importance of embracing emerging technologies, including the Fourth Industrial Revolution, in its Strategic Plan 2020-2025. The IT platform remained stable and was maintained during the financial year, with a system availability of 99.9%. Eighty percent of the workforce had remote access to our IT systems during 2021-2022, with network and Internet lines upgraded to boost capacity for remote work. Concomitant cybersecurity training was conducted for all users during the financial year under review. The Board continued to fulfil its responsibility for IT governance by effectively reviewing the IT Strategic Plan, Cybersecurity Strategy, IT investments, performance and maturity during Board meetings.

Stakeholder Management

Legal Aid SA values stakeholder engagement and co-operation to jointly increase access to justice. The stakeholder engagement table in Part D of this Integrated Annual Report details our interactions with the stakeholder universe in the 2021-2022 financial year. We are very pleased that this programme could continue throughout the pandemic, albeit in a limited capacity. Stakeholder feedback, as well as the virtual tools that now enable our interactions, will underscore future planning that will feed into the entity's sustainability approach.

Governance

The Portfolio Committee on Justice and Correctional Services continues to recognise Legal Aid SA as a high performing public entity, acknowledging our sustained successful track record and considerable contribution of our work. Three briefing sessions with the Portfolio Committee took place in the year under review.

The Board of Legal Aid SA continued to provide effective and strategic leadership and oversight of delivery on performance during the year under review. It was not fully constituted as at the end of the financial year, due to a member retiring in January 2022. More information is detailed in Part C of this Integrated Annual Report.

The review of our Strategic Plan 2020-2025 for 2022-2023 was approved by the Board during the 2021-2022 financial year. This review took into account the 15% budget cut over the MTEF period of 2021/22 to 2024/25; the ongoing response to the COVID-19 pandemic, as well as the additional land justice mandate that Legal Aid SA took over in January 2022.

Future Outlook

The financial constraints of the 2021/22 to 2024/25 MTEF period will underpin all organisational planning and execution of the Strategic Plan 2020-2025. Legal Aid SA will continue to deliver our constitutional mandate, albeit under severe financial pressure. The budget cuts continue to necessitate a Staff Rationalisation Programme, which will result in a reduction in the coverage of courts and delivery of legal aid services to indigent and vulnerable persons and erodes the EVP.

I extend my heartfelt thanks to all Legal Aid SA Citizens for your dedication and firm commitment to our mandate throughout the pandemic – your passion for justice is truly inspiring. Our success is made possible by your exceptional work.

I also thank the Chairperson of the Board, Judge Motsamai Makume, the Board of Directors, the Minister of Justice and Correctional Services, Mr Ronald Lamola, Deputy Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development, Mr John Jeffery, and our stakeholders. Your support and shared commitment to realising the rights enshrined in the Constitution changes the lives of indigent and vulnerable people, every day.

Ms Mantiti Kola

Chief Executive Officer: Legal Aid SA

5. STATEMENT OF RESPONSIBILITY AND CONFIRMATION OF THE ACCURACY OF THE ANNUAL REPORT

To the best of my knowledge and belief, I confirm the following:

All information and amounts disclosed in the Integrated Annual Report is consistent with the Annual Financial Statements audited by the Auditor-General.

The Integrated Annual Report is complete, accurate and is free from any omissions.

The Integrated Annual Report has been prepared in accordance with the guidelines on the annual report as issued by National Treasury.

The Annual Financial Statements (Part F) have been prepared in accordance with the Generally Recognised Accounting Practice (SA Standards of GRAP) standards applicable to the public entity.

The Accounting Authority is responsible for the preparation of the Annual Financial Statements and for the judgments made in this information.

The Accounting Authority is responsible for establishing and implementing a system of internal control designed to provide reasonable assurance as to the integrity and reliability of the performance information, the human resources information and the Annual Financial Statements.

The external auditors are engaged to express an independent opinion on the Annual Financial Statements.

In our opinion, the Integrated Annual Report fairly reflects the operations, the performance information, the human resources information and the financial affairs of the public entity for the financial year ended 31 March 2022.

Yours faithfully

Chief Executive Officer
Ms Mantiti Kola

6. STRATEGIC OVERVIEW

The 2021-2022 financial year was the second year of implementation of the Legal Aid South Africa Strategic Plan 2020-2025.

6.1. VISION

"A dynamic South Africa in which constitutional rights are realised to ensure a just society for all."

6.2. MISSION

"To remain a leader in the provision of equal access to justice to indigent and vulnerable persons by rendering quality legal services."

6.3. VALUES

The values that the organisation subscribes to are:

- i. Passion for Justice
- ii. Ubuntu
- iii. Integrity
- iv. Accountability
- v. Service Excellence
- vi. People and Planet Focused

7. LEGISLATIVE AND OTHER MANDATES

The Legal Aid South Africa Act (Act 39 of 2014) mandates Legal Aid SA to give effect to the rights and obligations enshrined in the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa and other national legislation. The Legal Aid Regulations reflect policy provisions and guide us on when legal aid should be made available and the Legal Aid Manual contains the procedural provisions which indicates how legal aid should be delivered.

7.1. CONSTITUTIONAL MANDATE

The Constitution of the Republic of South Africa contains specific sections from which Legal Aid SA's mandate to provide legal representation in criminal trials and appeals, children's civil matters and civil matters are derived. These sections are quoted below and our enabling legislation read with the Legal Aid Regulations and other national legislation provide detail on how we give content to these rights.

The Constitution of RSA (Act 108 of 1996)

Section 35(2): "Everyone who is detained, including every sentenced prisoner, has the right -

(a) ...

(c) to have a legal practitioner assigned to the detained person by the state and at state expense, if substantial injustice would otherwise result, and to be informed of this right promptly; ..."

Section 35(3): "Every accused person has a right to a fair trial, which includes the right -

(a) ...

(g) to have a legal practitioner assigned to the accused person by the state and at state expense, if substantial injustice would otherwise result, and to be informed of this right promptly;...

(o) of appeal to, or review by, a higher court."

Section 28(1): "Every child has the right,

(a) ...

(h) to have a legal practitioner assigned to the child by the state, and at state expense, in civil proceedings affecting the child, if substantial injustice would otherwise result; ..."

Section 34: "Everyone has the right to have any dispute that can be resolved by the application of law decided in a fair public hearing before a court or, where appropriate, another independent and impartial tribunal or forum."

7.2. LEGISLATIVE MANDATE

7.2.1. Legal Aid South Africa Act 39 of 2014

(Date of Commencement 1 March 2015)

The Legal Aid South Africa Act (39 of 2014) came into operation on 1 March 2015.

Section 5 of the Act makes it an imperative that Legal Aid SA, its directors, employees, and agents serve impartially and independently, and exercise their powers and perform their duties and functions in good faith and without fear, favour, bias or prejudice.

Section 6 of the Act details the composition and appointment of the Board. The Board is composed of 14 voting members appointed by the Minister of Justice and Correctional Services. In the 2021-2022 financial period, all 14 members of the Board continued to hold office until December 2021 when one Board member retired, being the National Operations Executive of Legal Aid SA. We still await the appointment of this vacancy by the Executive Authority.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Various Board Committees have been constituted as per section 13 and these committees were fully operational and assisted the Board in the performance of its functions.

The preamble of the Legal Aid South Africa Act (39 of 2014) describes the mandate and objects of Legal Aid SA, in the following terms:

“To ensure access to justice and the realisation of the right of a person to have legal representation as envisaged in the Constitution and to render or make legal aid and legal advice available; for that purpose to establish an entity called Legal Aid South Africa with a Board of Directors and to define its objects, powers, functions, duties and composition; to provide for the independence and impartiality of Legal Aid South Africa; ...”

The objects are described as follows in the Legal Aid SA Act:

3. The objects of Legal Aid South Africa are to—

- (a) render or make available legal aid and legal advice;
- (b) provide legal representation to persons at state expense; and
- (c) provide education and information concerning legal rights and obligations, as envisaged in the Constitution and this Act.

7.2.2. Other legislation impacting on delivery of legal aid

In addition to the Legal Aid SA Act, there are various pieces of legislation that make provision for the state to provide legal assistance to indigent persons. In most instances, Legal Aid SA is mandated and funded to provide such representation but there are some noticeable exceptions (mostly in civil related matters) where the state has not provided the necessary funding to enable Legal Aid SA to render such services:

- i. Criminal Procedure Act (section 73, 309, 309B, 309C, 309D & 316) – Legal Representation in Trials and Appeals;
- ii. The Child Justice Act (section 82(1) & 83(2)) – Legal Representation for Children in Child Justice Court (No Child may refuse Legal Representation);
- iii. Children’s Act 38 of 2005 (section 55(1)) – Legal Representation of Children in matters dealt with in the Act on order of the Court);
- iv. Refugees Act 140 of 1998 (section 27(b));
- v. Labour Relations Act 66 of 1995 (section 149) – Currently unfunded;
- vi. Mental Healthcare Act 17 of 2000 (section 15);

- vii. Restitution of Land Rights Act 22 of 1994 (section 22) – Funding and Mandate transferred with effect from 1 January 2022;
- viii. Prevention of Illegal Eviction from and Unlawful Occupation of Land Act 19 of 1998 (section 4(5)) – Currently unfunded;
- ix. Land Reform (Labour Tenants) Act, 1996 (Act No. 3 of 1996) – Funding and Mandate transferred with effect from 1 January 2022;
- x. The Extension of Security of Tenure Act, 1997 (Act No. 62 of 1997) – Funding and Mandate transferred with effect from 1 January 2022;
- xi. Promotion of Equality and Prevention of Unfair Discrimination Act 4 of 2000 (section 10(5));
- xii. Domestic Violence Amendment Act 14 of 2021 – section 19(2)(c);
- xiii. The Public Finance Management Act 1 of 1999 (PFMA).

Legal Aid SA currently provides legal representation relating to the above legislation, within its available budget/funding and resources, in accordance with the policy provisions of the Legal Aid Regulations which came into operation in terms of section 23(1) of the Legal Aid SA Act on 22 August 2017. Due to budget/funding and resource constraints, there are criteria in the Regulations that determine qualification for and limitation or exclusion of assistance. The Board has reviewed the Regulations during the 2020-2021 financial year and these amendments were gazetted and came into effect in the current financial period on 6 August 2021. These limitations and exclusions unfortunately do result in unmet legal needs for South Africans who are not able to afford the cost of their own legal representation, particularly in civil related matters. It is likely that further limitations will be necessary due to the budget cuts that have been implemented for the 2021–2024 MTEF period.

The Legal Research Unit within the National Operations Department monitors the Parliamentary Legislative Agenda for any proposed legislation or envisaged amendments to current legislation, in so far as they impact on the organisation’s mandate and/or clients’ rights. This is to ensure that clients’ rights are properly articulated and protected and furthermore to ensure that the mandate of Legal Aid SA is not extended without concomitant funding which must be determined after a proper costing of the required resources to implement any such mandate extension.

PART B PERFORMANCE INFORMATION

1. AUDITOR'S REPORT: PREDETERMINED OBJECTIVES

The role of the Auditor-General South Africa/Auditor is acknowledged as critical to the sustainability of Legal Aid South Africa, as it provides independent assurance that activities being carried out within Legal Aid SA are in accordance with the approved predetermined objectives and mandate.

The audit conclusion on the performance against predetermined objectives is included in the report to Management, with no material findings reported under the Predetermined Objectives in the Report on other legal and regulatory requirements.

Please refer to page 152 of the Report of the External Auditor, published in Part F: Financial Information.

2. SITUATIONAL ANALYSIS

2.1. SERVICE DELIVERY ENVIRONMENT

The 2021-2022 financial saw another year in which Legal Aid SA operated under the 'new normal'. The previous financial year had seen a flurry of activity, with the organisation making various adaptations so that operations could continue, amidst the devastating onslaught of the COVID-19 virus. The country continued to be in full lockdown, with adjustments to the severity of the lockdown being made from time to time, depending on the severity of the threat of the Coronavirus. The lockdowns had a devastating effect on the economy and consequently, on all sectors of society. With our work focused on people who are on the lower end of the economic scale, and our funding coming from an already over-stretched fiscus, we at Legal Aid SA were not spared the economic devastation brought about by the pandemic. Countless hours were lost due to staff being infected by the virus and sadly, six of our employees were lost to complications arising from COVID-19, bringing the total number of colleagues who have passed away due to the Coronavirus to 14.

We continued to make changes to our operations, in line with the guidelines that were issued by the Department of Justice and Constitutional Development, changing the way the courts operated during the various levels of lockdown. While restrictions on access to court buildings had been lifted, together with restrictions on the types of cases that could be heard, the output of cases in the courts came nowhere near what could have been expected, had we not been in a pandemic. This loss of productivity was mirrored in Legal Aid SA's own intake of cases, as well as their finalisation.

Throughout this period, our COVID-19 Steering Committee continued to meet weekly, and formulated guidelines to guide our response to the pandemic in line with the national guidelines, as well as court directives. The COVID-19 Steering Committee maintained a tracking system to ensure that we track the number of infections throughout the organisation. Later, when vaccines became available, the same system was used to track the rate of vaccination in the organisation.

While it was important to ensure that the delivery of service to clients continued uninterrupted, the safety of our staff and clients was of paramount importance to us. We continued to use the two teams approach in terms of which half the staff were in the office on alternate weeks. This was to ensure that a minimum number of staff were in any one office at the same time, to minimise the risk of infection, but also to ensure continuity of operations if one team was compromised. During the non-office week, staff continued to work from home. This included legal practitioners, who serviced their court obligations directly from home.

The re-organisation of our working arrangements from the office to home was made easier since the entity has, for some time now, embraced technology. We equipped all our permanent practitioners with laptops so that they were able to do their administrative and research work at home or at court. An allowance was made available to all staff to whom we did not provide remote connectivity devices, so that they could purchase data to connect from home using their personal devices.

Legal Aid SA practitioners continued to deliver legal services of a high quality to the South African public, thereby ensuring that their rights are protected, even during the most challenging of circumstances.

Service Delivery Model

The keystone of our legal services delivery model is the mixed model delivery system. This model enables us to tap into external resources to extend the range of our services, as well as to supplement our expertise by utilising legal practitioners from within the broader legal fraternity. This is done by using the tried and tested Judicare model as well as the fixed-fee Agency Agreement model for criminal matters. For civil matters we concluded Co-operation Agreements with legal sector NGOs and University Law Clinics, to ensure the provision of a wider range of services to clients in catchment areas that may be out of reach to us. In the urban areas, Co-operation Partners help alleviate the pressure on our local offices, which are inundated with clients seeking assistance with civil matters.

By using the mixed model system, we ensure that the pool of practitioners available to represent the indigent is increased, and services can be delivered to a wider group of people and for a wider variety of services.

Due to budget constraints, our national footprint has not changed for some time now. We continue to deliver our services through our 64 Legal Aid SA Local Offices and 64 Legal Aid SA Satellite Offices, which are supported by 6 Provincial Offices, and the National Office. Due to our inability to expand the physical footprint, we have explored various ways to increase contact with clients using electronic means. We have however continued to perform improvements and maintenance on our existing facilities, budget allowing.

A dedicated Property Management Unit has been established in the Finance Department. The Unit is responsible for managing the acquisition of property for our offices to operate from, where, in terms of our strategy, it is deemed more feasible and economical to acquire fixed property. Regarding leased premises, the Unit monitors all lease agreements to ensure timeous renewal of the agreements, as well as the timeous acquisition of alternative office space, in cases where the lease agreements have come to an end. All decisions regarding the location of our offices are guided by the ease of access to our offices by clients and the proximity of the courts.

Notwithstanding the sweeping changes we were forced to make to our operations due to the pandemic, we have continued to use our 'practitioner per court' model in terms of which we have a dedicated legal practitioner assigned to every criminal court on pre-determined days. Using this model ensures that there is continuity in the operation of the courts because the possibility of a practitioner being held up with another matter in another court is eliminated. This minimises stakeholder complaints regarding the unavailability of practitioners when they are needed. It also ensures the smooth flow of cases and higher finalisation rates due to the seamless operation of courts. The DoJ&CD occasionally establishes specialised courts to address specific challenges, either on a permanent or temporary basis. These courts include Specialised Commercial Crimes Courts and Sexual Offences Courts. In all areas where these courts have been established, we have deployed specialist legal practitioners who have specialised training in the handling of commercial crime and sexual offence matters. We have also deployed practitioners with the requisite skills in dealing with matters for children in conflict with the law and in all areas where there are dedicated Juvenile Courts. We have further made capacity available in areas where there are full-time Preliminary Inquiry Courts.

During certain levels of lockdown, Remand Detainee facilities were also placed under lockdown and were out of bounds for both the public and lawyers alike. This was done to prevent the introduction of the Coronavirus into the prison system. This had a negative impact on our ability to consult with clients in custody. During some of these periods, Remand Detainees could not be transported to courts for their court appearances.

In those courts where video remand facilities exist, our practitioners made use of these facilities to postpone their client's matters. It is unfortunate that these facilities that have been piloted for some time now, have not been developed to the level that a full criminal trial can be conducted using them.

The restrictions on the number of cases that could be heard by the courts because of the COVID-19 lockdowns resulted in a much lower throughput of cases from the courts, compared to the pre-COVID-19 period. Part of the rationale for this is that the hard lockdown, with its associated curfew, led to a reduction in criminal activity, and therefore the number of arrests and prosecutions. Consequently, there was a corresponding reduction in the demand for legal aid services. The sharp reduction in the number of new cases taken on by Legal Aid SA during this period is therefore not so much a measure of productivity as it is a reflection of social trends in reaction to the lockdowns and a subsequent slowdown in activity across the entire sector. There was a positive side to this in that the reduction in demand gave us some space to introduce the new operational model we put into place. It also brought some relief to the pressures that were brought about by the staff reductions of previous years, as well as the fact that we do not have a dedicated relief component. Throughout this period, our local office Managers continued to assess the demand coming from their courts so that our staff provisioning in the courts remained responsive to local demand.

Judicare Programme

Our Judicare programme is underpinned by a well-developed accreditation programme, which has been perfected over the years to respond to our business requirements. The Judicare accreditation programme ensures that we attract suitably qualified and experienced legal practitioners in private practice to supplement our representation of legal aid clients, primarily in cases where there is a conflict of interest with our internal practitioners. This is done with strict compliance with procurement regulations which require that Judicare practitioners must be registered on the Central Supplier Database and be tax compliant. Our local offices are required to hold individual briefing sessions with all newly accredited Judicare practitioners to apprise them of our Judicare policies and procedures, as well as the standard of quality expected of Judicare practitioners.

In addition to this, they hold formal Judicare briefing sessions with all Judicare practitioners annually, to acquaint them with the latest developments and policies that affect them, as well as to answer any questions that Judicare practitioners may have. In addition, two newsletters were distributed to Judicare practitioners during the financial year. These newsletters cover all developments within Legal Aid SA that are of relevance to Judicare practitioners.

We have continued to realise savings to our Judicare budget, resulting from the revisions that were made to our Judicare Travel Reimbursement Policy. These revisions cap the maximum distance in respect of which Legal Aid SA will pay a travel reimbursement, thereby discouraging practitioners from taking instructions in courts where the travel reimbursement would be excessive. This ensures that payments to Judicare practitioners directly cover professional services rather than disbursements.

Early in the pandemic, we recognised the impact that the economic downturn would have on Judicare practitioners, who mostly operate small practices relying on Judicare work for revenue. It became quite clear that the slowdown in the operation of the courts would make it difficult for Judicare practitioners to finalise their cases, with devastating financial consequences. The Board of Legal Aid SA approved a competitive increase in the tariff, which was backdated to the beginning of the financial year. Subsequently, a decision was taken to give a concession to Judicare practitioners to submit interim accounts in all matters, and for all court types. This was done with the aim to improve their cashflows, thereby ensuring the sustainability of their practices, due to their vulnerability. The granting of this concession has indirectly contributed to the stress testing of our Payments Processing Unit (PPU) to deal with the increased volume of accounts. Several tracking systems were put in place to ensure that the taxation and payment of accounts are not delayed. It took only a short while for the system to be perfected so that PPU can process all accounts, at any stage of the proceedings, and not only when proceedings are finalised. This has resulted in a recommendation in the revisions to the Legal Aid Manual to remove any restrictions to the submission of interim accounts, for all court types.

After a detailed analysis of our Judicare instruction and payment data, there was a concern about the number and value of instructions given to women. While our Judicare instruction module had previously been tweaked to favour women when allocating instructions, the latest research showed that very few women were accredited for courts that yield high value instructions, such as Regional and High Courts. A pilot project was therefore proposed, for implementation in the new financial year, involving a more proactive approach in attracting and preparing women practitioners and making sure that we turn the bias towards male practitioners around.

Civil Delivery

Our civil delivery strategy has continued to gain traction, despite the difficulties with contacting clients that were experienced during the period, due to COVID-19 restrictions. We continued to provide legal services to the indigent and vulnerable in civil matters. Most significantly, we continued to provide services to identified focus groups such as women and children as well as continue our contribution in the winding up of estates where children are beneficiaries. It is regrettable that during certain periods when the risk of COVID-19 infection was at its highest, we were forced to completely restrict access to our offices by clients in the interests of their health, as well as that of our staff. Whenever a window opened for us to lift the restriction on access to our offices, our Civil Legal Practitioners were required to work from their offices for more days than their colleagues attending to criminal matters. We have continued to monitor the ratio of administrative staff to civil practitioners so that the time of our Civil Legal Practitioners is freed up, so that they can spend more of their time in legal service delivery. During the reporting period, the availability of administrative staff to assist civil practitioners was impacted by the fact that we were compelled to adopt a two teams approach, meaning that the civil administrative ratio recorded based on filled positions per local office was not a reflection of the support available to practitioners at a point in time at local level.

The demand for civil legal services is increasing exponentially. Previously, we managed to contain this increase in demand by creating several Junior Legal Practitioner posts, to spread the work. This exercise also helped us in widening the career path for our practitioners, especially recently qualified practitioners. Our ability to increase the number of civil practitioners is unfortunately hampered by severe and ongoing budget cuts, which resulted in decreasing our civil capacity. This has not been helped by the fact that the fiscus is under severe pressure.

The ratio of civil supervisors to civil practitioners is continuously monitored to ensure that the quality of the services we provide is not compromised, due to lack of supervision. This does not stop at the practitioner/supervisor ratio. The quality of the supervision at all local offices is also closely monitored.

There are various technological resources available to our civil practitioners, since a civil practice typically involves the generation of many documents, while at the same time, having to meet exacting time demands. Several Standard Operating Procedures have been developed to regulate the functioning of our civil units. We have advanced document generation software to assist in the generation of the many documents that a civil practitioner generates on any given day. Web-based monitoring systems are in place to assist civil practitioners with monitoring their compliance with prescribed time periods, to ensure that all cases which have defined notice and prescription periods are well managed. Regular reports are sent to Managers to assist them in monitoring the adherence of their practitioners to all time periods. Separate reports are generated to assist local offices in the management of trust funds held in our Trust account.

Various online research facilities are available to our practitioners, including both Jutastat and LexisNexis. The latest developments in the law are communicated to practitioners using our e-mail system. In addition to this, we have a SharePoint platform where practitioners can exchange knowledge, pose questions to the practitioner community, or venture answers on issues they have knowledge on or experience in.

Most of our civil clients are helped through our general advice programme. This programme was the most affected by the restrictions on clients accessing our offices due to lockdown regulations, as well as limitations on the number of staff that can attend our offices at any given moment. During 'no-access' periods, general advice clients were serviced by our Legal Aid Advice Line, which provided advice, but also facilitated contact with local office practitioners, whenever it was necessary.

Being a toll-free line, the Legal Aid Advice Line alleviates the cost of both travelling and making a phone call, particularly for clients in rural areas, who can access instant legal advice through a toll-free telephone service including the availability of a 'Please Call Me' function. Clients with access to the internet can access the Legal Aid Advice Line through our website by leaving a web enquiry for an agent to contact them. The website enquiry form makes provision for persons with hearing impairments to indicate their communication needs so that the Legal Aid Advice Line can customise their response to such clients. While the technological resources mentioned here may seem out of bounds given the profile of our clients, usage statistics have surprised us, and show that there is a high penetration of especially cellphones among our clients, including our rural clients.

Self-help modules are also available on our website for use by clients who have matters that are less complex and lend themselves to self-resolution by the client. These modules cover several common legal issues and are meant to empower clients to deal with those legal issues that the client can resolve, without external assistance. The usage statistics of our self-help services indicate that an increasing number of people are making use of these services.

Our Strategic Litigation Unit has continued to litigate cases of social and constitutional importance, thereby making a difference in the lives of many. As is the norm, the Unit dealt with issues that positively impact the lives of the indigent by taking on cases dealing with land issues, environmental matters, the rights of children, the rights of women married by Muslim rites, as well as many other issues that impact on the daily lives of ordinary South Africans. The Unit again contributed to the realisation of the rights of children and women, particularly those whose marriages are governed by discriminatory religious or traditional laws.

High Court Operations

We have a High Court Unit at all offices located at the seat of a High Court. Our High Court Unit Practitioners ensured that legal aid is available to litigants in the highest courts in the land, including the Supreme Court of Appeal and the Constitutional Court. The High Court Units are staffed by highly experienced practitioners who are dedicated to servicing the High Courts only.

The COVID-19 challenge enabled us to explore alternative models of conducting litigation, with the litigation of the first cases to be conducted virtually by video link. However, virtual hearings are currently only suitable for non-trial matters such as civil applications and appeals.

During certain periods of the lockdown, our dedicated High Court Unit Paralegals were unfortunately not able to consult with clients in custody, due to correctional centres coming under lockdown before the rest of the country.

There is an automated system in place for our High Court Units to receive a notification as soon as a case is transferred from the lower court for trial in the High Court. We have also developed a system to notify our High Court Units of all matters in which we have successfully applied for leave to appeal in the lower courts, so that the High Court Units are aware and ready for the ensuing appeal. Due to persistent delays in finalising appeals, we have implemented an extensive appeal tracking system to track the progress of appeal matters until finalisation. This enables Managers to identify the causes of delays in finalising matters. We are in continuous discussions with court stakeholders to eliminate delays in the preparation of appeal records, as these have been identified as the single biggest factor that causes delays in finalising appeals. Unfortunately, one of the factors that contributes to our inability to secure appeal records are delays by the DoJ&CD in concluding the procurement process for transcription service providers. When issuing trial instructions in the High Court, our system has been enhanced so that the offer of instruction received by the practitioner contains the estimated duration of the case. This minimises the possibility of Judicare practitioners taking instructions concurrently and places the practitioner in a better position to decide if they should accept the instruction or not.

Criminal Justice System

Legal Aid SA is recognised as a valuable contributor in all intersectoral structures of the CJS cluster. One of our biggest contributions is the exchange of reliable data which helps stakeholders in making informed decisions for the entire sector, based on reliable information. The different lockdown periods brought some disruption to our stakeholder interaction efforts. However, as the sector adapted to the new reality, and it became clearer with time that the end of the pandemic is not within sight, changes were made to the way we interact, with meetings moving more to virtual platforms.

Meetings of the National Efficiency Enhancement Committees were negatively impacted at national level. However, provincial and local meetings continued to take place. Our flagship Remand Detainees and Children Awaiting Trial in custody programmes were also negatively impacted by the prohibition of external visits to correctional centres. The ban on these visits, as well as the fact that there were difficulties in holding Provincial Efficiency Enhancement Committees, saw a slight increase in the number of Remand Detainees awaiting trial for periods exceeding two years. Difficulties were also encountered in obtaining information on Remand Detainees from the Department of Correctional Services. We have however continued to track those Remand Detainees that we had on our system individually, until their cases were finalised, or they were released from custody.

Children are a special vulnerable group and as such, they enjoy special priority from Legal Aid SA. We have capacitated all our practitioners by offering them training in dealing with matters involving children in conflict with the law. We have practitioners available to help with the representation of children in all Child Justice Courts as well as in all Preliminary Inquiry Courts, whenever our assistance is required. The Child Justice Act has established the Intersectoral Committee for Child Justice (ISCCJ), responsible for monitoring the implementation of the Act. While Legal Aid SA is not an official member of this Committee, we participate in all the activities of the Committee since we are an integral part of the delivery of legal services to children.

Our civil units also provide legal representation for children, most of whom are children in need of care, in the Children's Courts. Most of our civil cases are estate matters in which children are beneficiaries.

Even with practitioners operating largely from home, we continued with the implementation of our Quality Monitoring and Intervention Programme. Our Quality Management Programme is reviewed and refined on a continuous basis to ensure that it is continuously improved and remains relevant to our operations. The Legal Quality Assurance Unit (LQAU), located within the Internal Audit Department, conducts independent quality audits of our practitioners, thereby providing a measure of independent assurance of the quality of our services. Most of our practitioners met their quality targets, even while operating under the most difficult of circumstances.

Quality Assurance

The Quality Assurance Programme has been extended to include a review of the work of all practitioners handling cases on behalf of Legal Aid SA clients, including Judicare practitioners, Co-operation Agreements and fixed-fee Agency Agreements. To inculcate a culture of delivering quality legal services to clients among Judicare practitioners, individual consultations were held with Judicare practitioners to discuss our quality requirements. Judicare practitioners are required to conduct a self-review of their work each time they submit an account.

Since the Legal Aid Advice Line had to take over part of the general advice function performed at local offices, the capacity to conduct Client Satisfaction Surveys was limited and only resumed towards the end of the financial year. The Advice Line however continued to deal with any complaints received.

These complaints are referred to the local office Managers so that they can investigate any source of complaint with the client and, if necessary, engage the practitioner who dealt with the matter. We also have a web-based complaints management system to track all complaints received, until their successful resolution.

The work of the Criminal Justice System Review Committee slowed down to a halt during the pandemic, while stakeholders looked to address urgent operational issues. While no new protocols were concluded, we have continued to implement all recommendations and existing protocols developed as a result of the work of the CJS Review Committee. The work of specialist committees such as the Intersectoral Committee on Child Justice and the Sexual Offences Committee, continued as normal. Legal Aid SA continues to enjoy representation on the Rules Board and participates in task teams of the Rules Board where changes to the Rules of Courts are considered. We also monitor and provide input into all proposed legislative changes.

While we had hope that the end of the pandemic would be announced at some stage, we started the year with a new acceptance that COVID-19 and its resultant restrictions were the new reality. To return to a sense of normalcy, Government has eased restrictions although the pandemic is still in existence.

However, some positives have come from the current pandemic. The increased use of technology is an imperative that we cannot avoid for the future. The pandemic has jolted us from a slumber into unprecedented levels of technology usage. Working from home was a concept already adopted at Legal Aid SA, albeit limited to high performers. The pandemic has taught us that rather than this being a luxury, it can be an important programme to ensure the sustainability of the organisation, especially during difficult times. We are incorporating numerous lessons learnt from the pandemic into our normal operations. This includes a move away from purchasing desktop computers for staff, to laptops. It is most important for us that we remain geared up for the current reality.

2.2. ORGANISATIONAL ENVIRONMENT

The COVID-19 report is found in paragraph 3 below of this Integrated Annual Report. It is common course that all organisations, including Legal Aid SA, continued to be plagued by the devastating effects of the pandemic in the year under review. Notwithstanding, the entity was resilient and made the necessary adjustments to continue to provide services to its clients in line with its mandate.

2.2.1. Highlights

- Legal Aid SA adopted a two teams approach to circumvent the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic – this ensured the smooth running of operations.
- The organisation assisted 487,552 people with legal representation and legal advice.
- Legal Aid SA delivered on 84% of Business Plan targets.
- Prudent financial management, coupled with improvisation and reprioritisation initiatives, enabled Legal Aid SA to navigate the budget cuts.
- The entity timeously met all statutory requirements.
- Legal Aid SA was accredited as a Top Employer South Africa and proudly received the accreditation for the 13th consecutive year.
- The organisation took over the legal representation function previously undertaken by the Land Rights Management Facility (LRMF) of the Department of Agriculture, Land Reform and Rural Development.

2.2.2. Changes in Management

Legal Aid SA experienced two key changes at the Executive level in the year under review, namely that the Chief Financial Officer position became vacant when Ms Precious Mbingo resigned on 31 July 2021, and that the National Operations Executive position became vacant due to the retirement of Advocate Brian Nair on 31 January 2022.

The organisation was able to fill the positions, appointing Ms Tintswalo Mofokeng as the Chief Financial Officer with effect from 1 January 2022. The gap between 31 July 2021 when Ms Mbingo resigned and 1 January 2022 when Ms Mofokeng assumed her duties was filled by Ms Ndiitwani Liphosa (current Budget Manager) on an acting appointment.

Mr Thembile Mtati was appointed as the National Operations Executive with effect from 1 January 2022.

Mr Mtati was relieved of his responsibilities as from 1 March 2022 as there were personal matters that he had to attend to. In his absence, Ms Mpho Kgabi (currently the Limpopo/Mpumalanga Provincial Executive) has acted as the NOE, with full delegated authority.

2.2.3. Communication Report

The nation continues to reap the bitter fruits of serious violence against women and children. As such, it is upon all the communication units of both the public and private sector to ensure that their plans correlate with the National Strategic Plan on Gender-Based Violence and Femicide (GBVF). The Communication Department stepped up its public education and outreach efforts to elevate awareness on all GBVF related matters during the reporting period.

A partnership with the Department of Basic Education, South African Police Service, Department of Justice and Constitutional Development, Department of Home Affairs and the Department of Social Development on the anti-bullying and violence prevention intervention strategy was the first such public education and outreach programme for the year.

The initiative was launched on 28 May 2021 at Tshepana Primary School in Orange Farm, Gauteng and Legal Aid SA exhibited its legal services and support through its Communication Department and the Legal Aid SA Vereeniging Local Office. This multi-sectoral approach proved successful, along with a webinar which focused on the three Amendment Acts to strengthen efforts to eradicate GBVF.

In the era of the COVID-19 pandemic where an overabundance of information emerged to birth the infodemic (a term the World Health Organization defines as too much information including false or misleading information in digital and physical environments during a disease outbreak), Legal Aid SA's Internal Communication Unit played a pivotal role in ensuring that employees and their respective families are empowered with the correct, verified and consistent information. The growing digitisation means information can spread more rapidly and so it was critical for the Department to have an effective strategy in place to move quickly to fill information voids and reduce harmful messages. Investing resources in new methodologies and technologies was another aspect which the Communication Department continued to utilise in dispersing information pertaining to Legal Aid SA services, e.g., Fraud and Ethics Hotline, Complaints Register and details regarding consultation hours during the various Lockdown Alert Levels. The continued convergence of information across Legal Aid SA's digital platforms saw successful and consistent messaging disseminated to the public, presenting a coherent brand message and identity.

The innovative culture continued even with paid media exposure, where the organisation's brand and services were showcased for the first time in an engaging digital brand integration (DBI) campaign which saw an impressive 27,5 million television viewers exposed to the Legal Aid SA brand. This involved the seamless slotting of the organisation's human rights key messages into the narrative of various TV programmes on three different TV channels. With limited and constrained resources, the Communication Department continued to utilise diverse marketing activities to provide information and raise awareness of the Legal Aid SA brand.

The National Brand Perception Study – a multi-ethnic syndicated survey – was conducted during this reporting year to determine the level of awareness and experience of the Legal Aid SA brand. There was a slight increase in awareness level, from 66% in 2018 to 67% in 2021. Social media has risen to be in the top six sources of information about Legal Aid SA, from 2% in 2018 to 5% in 2021.

The continued partnership with the Government Communication Information System and the Department of Justice and Constitutional Development through #LetsTalkJustice created avenues for access to state-funded legal services to make justice a reality for all.

2.2.4 Challenges

The following challenges can be recorded for the year under review:

- Continued budget reductions – detailed in Part F of this Integrated Annual Report, on page 150.
- Low recruitment levels in general, due to budget cuts.
- Service delivery issues occasioned by the impact of Regulations and Court Directions issued by Government due to COVID-19 - covered in paragraph 3.2. on page 32.
- Capacity to match the increasing demand for civil legal services.
- Building organisational capability and capacity to deal with the new land mandate.
- Challenges to meet the Employment Equity targets at Senior Management level.

In light of the challenges above, the Board and Management of Legal Aid SA worked tirelessly to maintain strong, leading practice financial management and reporting to ensure a clean audit outcome and high financial maturity.

3. COVID-19 IMPACT ON THE ORGANISATION

In the 2021-2022 financial year, South Africa continued to experience and live with the impact of COVID-19 which started at the end of March 2020. Legal Aid SA, like many organisations in South Africa, was adversely impacted by COVID-19. In the year under review, 373 employees were infected with the Coronavirus. The pandemic also had a negative impact on service delivery and organisational finances. The graphic below depicts the summary of the COVID-19 impact on Legal Aid SA in 2021-2022.

3.1. IMPACT OF THE PANDEMIC ON STAFF

COVID-19 positive cases reported in 2021-2022 was 373 compared to 331 in 2020-2021. The graph below depicts how Legal Aid SA staff members by province have been impacted by positive COVID-19 cases.

The province with the highest cumulative number of infections at the end of 2021-2022 was Gauteng, followed by Northern Cape/Western Cape and KwaZulu-Natal in the second and third spots, respectively.

PERFORMANCE INFORMATION

Legal staff members account for 66% of those affected by the pandemic (450 of a total of 681 positive cases), making them the most affected category in the workforce. Unfortunately, Legal Aid SA suffered six (eight in 2020-2021) fatalities due to the pandemic. This is reflected in the table below as at 31 March 2022.

Table 2: Legal Aid SA COVID-19 Statistics at 31 March 2022

3.2. IMPACT OF THE PANDEMIC ON LEGAL SERVICE DELIVERY

Service delivery at courts was negatively impacted throughout the year as court coverage, intake of new matters and finalisation of matters was lower than initially planned.

Table 3: Court Coverage Statistics (Actual as per Matter Activity Reports: 1 April 2021 - 15 March 2022; Planned: 16 - 31 March 2022)

4. KEY POLICY DEVELOPMENTS AND LEGISLATIVE CHANGES

The Legal Aid South Africa Act 39 of 2014 came into operation on 1 March 2015 and the Board has been constituted for the second time since the implementation of the Legal Aid SA Act and has been operational in accordance with the requirements of the Act. During this reporting period there has been one retirement. This vacancy remains to be filled. The annual review and refinement of the Board instruments was conducted and all relevant governance requirements were fully operational. The Board Governance Charters and Board Code of Ethics were not finalised in the year under review. They will be finalised in 2022-2023. All governance structures functioned efficiently and effectively during the period under review.

The Legal Aid Regulations have been operational since 22 August 2017 and have been reviewed and amended to ensure that it remains relevant to societal changes. Of particular importance is the amendment of Regulation 27 (the Legal Aid SA Means Test) which allows for an annual increase, effected in the 2022-2023 financial year. Further amendments to the Regulations in 2021-2022 related to implementing some limitations in civil matters but also extending the contribution policy that has been in place for criminal matters to civil matters. Amendments to the Legal Aid Manual were tabled in Parliament and published in the Gazette on 9 March 2022 and will come into operation in the 2022-2023 financial year. Version six of the Legal Aid Manual was gazetted by the Executive Authority and came into operation on 8 May 2022.

In December 2019, an Inter-Ministerial Committee on Land Reform recommended the transfer of the Land Rights Management Facility (LRMF) from the Department of Agriculture, Land Reform and Rural Development (DALRRD) to Legal Aid SA. From July to December 2021, Legal Aid SA worked alongside the Department of Justice and Constitutional Development, the DALRRD and National Treasury in preparation for the agreed takeover date of 1 January 2022. The Legal Aid SA Land Rights Management Unit is headed by the Legal Executive: Land Rights Management and currently operates from the National Office.

On 1 January 2022, Legal Aid SA took over the management of the legal component of the LRMF. The total contingent liability verified for the budgets approved in all pending matters transferred to Legal Aid SA (740 matters) amounts to R144,686,671. It is projected that at least 20% of these matters would be finalised by the 2022-2023 financial year which requires an amount of R29 million; 30% would be completed by the 2023-2024 financial year and 50% between the 2024-2025 and 2025-2026 financial years.

The National Treasury approved the request from Legal Aid SA to retain R35 million in surplus funds for the establishment and capacitation of the LRMU. The DALRRD availed a budget of R33 million received in April 2022 and the MTEF allocation agreed in the Memorandum of Understanding will be transferred during the 2022 mid-term budget.

In this reporting period, the investigation of the South African Law Reform Commission in terms of section 35 of the Legal Practice Act on the issue of legal fees and the impact on access to justice was finalised and submitted to the Minister of Justice and Correctional Services for consideration in March 2022. The Legal Practice Act mandates the Commission to investigate and report back to the Minister with recommendations on the desirability of establishing a mechanism which will be responsible for determining fees and tariffs payable to legal practitioners, the composition of such a mechanism and the process it should follow in determining fees or tariffs. The Commission expressed the view that there is no need for another mechanism to be established when there is already an existing mechanism, the Legal Practice Council (LPC), in place. It is recommended that fee guidelines will be the desirable mechanism for determining legal fees and tariffs in respect of all areas of the law. These will be developed by the LPC based on the factors enumerated under section 35(2) of the Legal Practice Act. It is also recommended that the LPC must adopt an effective consultative process of all the stakeholders, including involving Legal Aid SA, prior to determining fees and tariffs.

The organisation remains committed to the protection of the most vulnerable in society, especially women, children and the disabled. Legal Aid SA remains supportive of all efforts to eradicate gender-based violence and participates in the National Steering Committee on Gender-Based Violence and Femicide that monitors the implementation of the National Strategic Plan on GBVF.

The President of the Republic assented to three new laws aimed at addressing aspects of gender-based violence. Most of these new provisions impact on survivors and ensure that the journey at courts and the judicial process does not amount to secondary victimisation. The amendments aim to make it easier for survivors to present their cases in courts. One of the amendments directly impacts Legal Aid SA in that the Domestic Violence Act now makes provision that legal representation through Legal Aid SA must be available for minor children in domestic violence proceedings.

The Legal Aid Regulations already make provision for legal representation for minor children in domestic violence applications and we should therefore be able to implement this new provision without any challenges. Legal Aid SA considered the draft regulations relating to the three new laws and responses were submitted to the relevant stakeholders. The three new laws will be implemented from July 2022.

The South African Law Reform Commission (SALRC) published an Issue Paper on Domestic Violence and the Criminal Law Response which aims to identify the way the law currently responds to criminal behaviour perpetrated by people in domestic relationships and whether these responses are adequate or in need of law reform. Legal Aid SA provided a response to the Paper to serve as a basis for further in-depth deliberation with the Commission and other stakeholders.

The entity considered proposals and provided comments for law reform aimed at protecting vulnerable groups which include the Recognition of Customary Marriages Act 120 of 1998 which still deprives certain cultural and religious communities from concluding legally recognised marriages; the Green Paper on marriages aimed at establishing a policy foundation for regulating the marriages of all persons that reside in South Africa; the SALRC Discussion Paper on single marriage statute, and the SALRC Issue Paper on the review of aspects of matrimonial property law, all of which seek to redress the injustices of the current marriage regime. Regarding the protection of children, Legal Aid SA confirmed its commitment to upholding the best interest of the child and affording the child a voice in legal proceedings pertaining to their lives in comments on the SALRC Issue Papers on Relocation of families with reference to minor children and the National Instruction 2/2010 guiding police officials on how to deal with children in conflict with the law. The SALRC Issue Paper on Domestication of the United Nations Convention on the rights of persons with disabilities outlines several concerns, for example, the treatment of disabled displaced persons that are refugees and asylum seekers as well as their right to health care.

In the response to the questions posed in the Issue Paper, Legal Aid SA emphasised the socio-economic challenges faced by persons with disabilities and attention was also drawn to the statistics that show that African women with disabilities constitute the greatest portion of disabled persons in South Africa in comparison with men and women from other racial groups.

The Department of Justice and Constitutional Development invited comments on the proposed amendments to the Promotion of Equality and the Prevention of Unfair Discrimination, Act 4 of 2000. The purpose of the Amendment Bill, 2021 is to address certain challenges that have been identified following a review process of the Act.

The proposal is to amend section 25 of the principal Act to include that legal aid be granted to persons who wish to institute proceedings in terms of this Act. In the response, Legal Aid SA notes that the Equality Courts are courts designed to deal with matters covered by the Promotion of Equality and Prevention of Unfair Discrimination Act, 2000. The Equality Courts were extended to the Magistrate's Courts primarily to bring access to justice to the marginalised and vulnerable citizens to assert their rights. Proceedings in the higher courts are costly for the majority of people, however, in the Equality Courts, legal representation is not a prerequisite and there are no costs incurred when lodging a complaint (mainly unfair discrimination), thus making it easy to access. In terms of the Equality Act, the South African Human Rights Commission and the Commission on Gender Equality (CGE) are mandated to assist complainants in taking their matters to the Equality Courts. In terms of the Act, all High Courts are Equality Courts for their area of jurisdiction and all Magistrates' Courts have been designated by the DoJ&CD to serve as Equality Courts in all nine provinces, making it accessible to the public.

If Legal Aid SA is required, as per the proposed amendment of section 25 above, to grant legal aid to persons who wish to institute proceedings in terms of this Act, the current resources of the organisation will be wholly insufficient and it will impact negatively on the sustainability of the entity as it will be an unfunded mandate. Legal Aid SA does not have the capacity to help every person that seeks to initiate a legal process in unfair discrimination matters. Such an unfunded mandate will result in a situation where Legal Aid SA will not have sufficient resources to deliver on its core mandate which is to provide legal representation to persons who cannot afford their own legal representation. Should the Minister set regulations that exceed our mandate, additional budget and resources must be allocated to Legal Aid SA to ensure that we are able to meet the additional demand for legal services in these types of matters.

The sustainability of the community-based paralegal sector, which plays an important role in ensuring access to justice and legal empowerment for indigent communities, remains tenuous as the Minister of Justice and Correctional Services must still provide the outcome of the consideration of the report and recommendations made by the LPC. In terms of section 34(9) of the Legal Practice Act, the LPC must make recommendations to the Minister relating to the statutory recognition of paralegals.

The UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) has a set of 17 Global Goals aimed at ending extreme poverty and fighting injustice and inequality. Global Goal 16, Target 16.3 calls upon countries to: Promote the rule of law at the national and international levels and ensure equal access to justice for all. The adoption of the UN Principles and Guidelines on access to legal aid in criminal matters continues to play a critical role internationally to guide sustainable development. This is paving the way for the development of legal aid systems and increased access to justice by indigent persons in all UN member countries. A common set of measures to track progress towards the goals and monitor the actions taken to achieve the SDGs were agreed upon but they are very narrowly focused on criminal justice to the exclusion of civil justice. In 2019, Legal Aid SA participated in developing the SDG Country Report providing South Africa's progress on attaining the Global Goals. The next progress report is scheduled for 2023 and the impact of the COVID-19 disaster is expected to have stymied some progress on the attainment of the Global Goals as South Africa focused on the immediate social needs of its citizens, some brought on and some exacerbated by the COVID-19 disaster, since 2020.

Progress made towards the achievement of the Objectives and Outcomes is reported on in Part B: Performance Information of this Integrated Annual Report.

PERFORMANCE INFORMATION

4.1. STRATEGIC OUTCOME ORIENTED GOALS

The Impact Statement: Equal access to justice to build a just society.

The Objectives for 2020-2025 are:

- 01 Empowered clients and communities making informed choices about their legal matters, rights and responsibilities.
- 02 All indigent and vulnerable members of society have equal access to public-funded legal services to protect and defend their rights.
- 03 A fair, efficient and effective justice system that ensures equal access to justice for all.
- 04 Delivering on our constitutional and statutory mandate thereby ensuring equal access to justice for all, in an independent, accountable and sustainable manner.
- 05 An organisation re-inventing and embedding sustainable and agile practises in every segment to positively impact on society, the economy and the environment.
- 06 Sustaining good governance, best practises and maintaining high ethical standards and integrity, high performance and accountability.
- 07 Legal Aid South Africa's regulatory framework is responsive to the changing legal, social and economic environment.
- 08 An effective, efficient, economic and environmentally responsive supply chain management system supporting client services delivery and internal business processes.
- 09 An appropriately resourced national footprint that is adaptable to changing technological and environmental factors to ensure improved access to our clients, communities, stakeholders and employees.
- 10 Knowledgeable, informed, self-directed and committed employees competently delivering the organisation's constitutional mandate and strategies in a sustainable manner.
- 11 Embracing emerging technologies including the Fourth Industrial Revolution to optimise its impact on business and the provision of client services through a responsive and adaptive IT environment.

The following Outcomes were implemented to realise our mandate:

- 01 Quality client-focused legal aid in criminal matters, particularly for indigent and vulnerable persons.
- 02 Quality client-focused legal aid, including to indigent and vulnerable persons, in civil matters with a priority focus on land and other constitutional rights matters.
- 03 Quality client-focused legal advice services.
- 04 Client-focused strategic litigation services in order to give content to constitutional rights, as well as to increase access to justice for indigent and vulnerable persons.
- 05 Contribute to the effective functioning of the justice and legal sector, thereby promoting the rule of law and increasing access to justice.
- 06 Account to the Executive Authority (the Minister of Justice and Correctional Services) and Parliament on delivery of mandate, governance and sustainability.
- 07 Improve financial sustainability and manage the reductions to the budget.
- 08 Maintain and enhance good governance.
- 09 Maintain a regulatory framework that incorporates best practises and is responsive to changes in the overall environment.
- 10 Sustain strong financial management, supply chain and asset management practises informed by best practise.
- 11 Consolidate and review the resourcing of our national footprint to ensure adequate staffing, as well as safe and secure facilities for clients and staff, within available resources.
- 12 Strengthen and continuously improve the quality and expertise for each segment of the national footprint.
- 13 Enhance and maintain an integrated and service and client-oriented and secured Information Technology system with capacity to integrate stakeholders.

5. LEGAL AID SOUTH AFRICA REPORT ON THE SIX CAPITALS

Legal Aid SA adopted the six capitals as depicted below. These capitals together represent stores of value that are the basis of an organisation's value creation.

Source: International Integrated Reporting Council – 2013

5.1. SOCIAL AND RELATIONSHIP CAPITAL

The source of Legal Aid SA's value creation is the constitutional and legislative mandate which enables the formulation of policies and strategies of the organisation. Social and economic imbalances between South Africa's affluent and poor persons necessitates the State to intervene in providing legal aid to the indigent and vulnerable. Legal Aid SA provides professional legal representation services and legal advice services to the indigent and vulnerable, thereby protecting and defending their rights. The provision of legal aid services further promotes the rule of law and increases confidence in the fairness and accessibility of the criminal justice system and the justice system in general. This contributes to building a just society.

We actively manage our brand and reputation, driving service excellence and accountability through integrity and people-centred values. Therefore, we use our combined skills, expertise and years of experience to lead and manage the business operations of our organisation, being mindful of governance principles.

The use of the 'practitioner per court' model ensures the efficient and effective use of resources in covering the criminal courts nationwide. Hence, we have maintained the high-performance level of our Business Plan goals for 2021-2022 consistently, alongside past achievements.

Our active participation in the development of Sustainable Development Goal 16, Target 16.3 is a demonstration of our commitment to the rule of law and equal access to justice for all, both locally and internationally. It is therefore our conviction that our strategy to drive a sustainable business growth for access to justice for all must be pursued by state funding for legal aid services.

5.2. INTELLECTUAL CAPITAL

Legal Aid SA operates a mixed model of legal services delivery provided mainly by in-house legal practitioners who are augmented by Judicare and Co-operation Partners. Our legal aid services ensure access to justice for the populace, especially in view of the high level of legal costs. Our Means Test, which sets the threshold limits for persons to qualify for legal aid, is periodically reviewed to widen the level of eligibility of legal aid services for the indigent.

PERFORMANCE INFORMATION

Our greatest differentiator lies in our national footprint, and our toll-free Legal Aid Advice Line, which ensure the presence of our services for both urban- and rural-based citizens, thus facilitating access to justice.

Our lawyers are committed to deliver quality legal services to ensure a high standard towards the progressive realisation of the rights of individuals. Our low turnover rate and recruitment and retention strategies have ensured that the legal experience and competency levels of our legal professionals are high and they able to provide quality legal services and advice to our clients. Moreover, our strategic litigation matters, including class action lawsuits, positively impact the lives of groups of persons and a large section of society by establishing legal precedent, jurisprudence and constitutional damages, resolving group disputes and influencing changes to laws and administrative systems that impact society.

5.3. HUMAN CAPITAL

The staffing level in 2021-2022 was 91.8%, which was 3.2% below a target of 95%. The lower rate however did not impact negatively on employee workload as the demand for legal services was lower due to the various COVID-19 regulations imposed during the year which limited movement of people and at times impacted on the functioning of courts.

Good labour relations were maintained throughout the year with quarterly meetings held with union leadership as per recognition agreements. No industrial action was experienced in the financial year under review.

The Employee Value Proposition was enhanced, with the prior year's Group Life cover doubled with additional cover benefits ranging from Temporary Disability, Permanent Disability and Critical Illness. Employee wellness and health and safety programmes were ramped up to maintain a healthy and happy workforce. Performance incentives remained in place, Candidate Attorneys' Practical Legal Training and Board Examination Fees were covered in full and the undergraduate bursary funding ceiling was increased by 50%. An internal employee satisfaction survey found that employee satisfaction increased in all dimensions, with an overall organisational score of 82%. Our wellness programmes were utilised by our employees as depicted below.

Referral for Employee Assistance Programme services – April 2021 to March 2022

During the 2021-2022 financial year, numerous awareness talks were held as part of the Organisational Culture Programme calendar. The talks were presented via MS Teams and all Legal Aid SA Citizens were invited to attend. The talks were facilitated by healthcare professionals and provided psycho-educative material.

5.4. MANUFACTURED CAPITAL

To address the issue of insufficient resources for remote work, the primary network line was upgraded from 300Mbps to 600Mbps. The internet line was also upgraded from 100Mbps to 300Mbps in quarter three. Security awareness campaigns continue to be rolled out to all users with four campaigns rolled out by the end of the financial year to improve user awareness on cybersecurity issues. All employees have access to a laptop or desktop, with access to IT systems, and 80% of those can access our IT systems remotely.

Our offices are easily accessible and located throughout the country. The local offices have UPS devices installed which are tested monthly. The offices are configured to ensure safe social distancing. Sanitisation stations and thermometers are available at the reception for clients and employees to sanitise and take their temperatures on arrival at every office.

Many young boys have died in recent years while undergoing traditional circumcision. This is partly due to the entry into industry of unqualified and unscrupulous traditional surgeons, who are doing this for the financial benefits. This has necessitated Government to enact legislation to regulate this traditional practice. The circumcision of boys under the age of 18 years is strictly prohibited. A father whose 16-year-old son had undergone circumcision approached the Legal Aid SA Mthatha Local Office for assistance. The father was charged, together with a traditional leader and a traditional surgeon, with the statutory offence of allowing a child below the age of 18 years to be circumcised and admitted to an initiation school. The Supervisory Legal Practitioner who dealt with the matter had to study the new legislation in full to assist his client. His saving grace was a provision in the Act that allowed for the circumcision of boys under the age of 18, provided there is written parental consent. The outcome of the case prompted the Eastern Cape House of Traditional Leaders and the Congress of Traditional Leaders of South Africa to engage in a process to review the Act.

5.5. FINANCIAL CAPITAL

Legal Aid SA's financial management practices not only ensure compliance with legislation and regulatory prescripts but ensure that resources are economically acquired and efficiently applied to derive maximum output with limited funding from Government. Our efficiency in applying limited resources has ensured that performance levels above 80% are maintained amid budgets cuts of 8.3% in the 2021-2022 financial year. The organisation managed to save costs, resulting in surplus at year end. Our good governance practises and adoption of leading practices led to sustained high performance and an unqualified audit outcome with no material findings.

5.6. NATURAL CAPITAL

Legal Aid SA strives to become a world-class player in the environmental protection space by creating an environmentally friendly working environment, which will bring positive outcomes for all its employees and other stakeholders who may be directly affected by its activities. It actively adopts a holistic Environmental Policy and Programme, which aims to educate the Legal Aid SA community to appreciate and deal with environmental issues. It further aims to administer and manage Legal Aid SA in an environmentally sensitive way and ensure that the organisation, through its operations throughout the country (National Office, provincial offices, local offices and satellite offices), complies with applicable legislation and international leading practices and standards with regard to the protection of the environment.

Objective 1	Empowered clients and communities making informed choices about their legal matters, rights and responsibilities.
Outcome 1	Quality client-focused legal aid in criminal matters, particularly for indigent and vulnerable persons.
P1	To deliver quality legal aid services in criminal matters that are client-focused, within available resources.
P1-1 (This relates to the reporting against the originally tabled Annual Performance Plan)	Access to criminal legal aid services	To cover all criminal courts as per our court coverage targets (DC =80%; RC =90%; HC = 100% legal aid matters), thereby protecting clients' rights to a fair trial.	Delivering quality client- focused legal aid in criminal matters, particularly for indigent and vulnerable persons.	Legal aid provided to qualifying accused persons.	Actual court coverage using Matter Activity Reports by internal practitioners. Planned coverage only for Judicare and Agency Agreement covered courts (excluding coverage via Judicare and Agency Agreements).	We had 86% planned coverage of DCs as at the end of FY 2019-2020. Our RC planned coverage at the end of FY 2019- 2020 was 94%. Representation was provided in all matters that required legal aid in HCs.	We had 85% planned coverage of DCs as at the end of the 2020- 2021 FY. Our RC planned coverage at the end of FY 2020- 2021 was 94%. Representation was provided in all matters that required legal aid in HCs.	Average DC coverage: ≥ 80%. Average RC coverage: ≥ 90%. HC coverage: All legal aid matters covered.	Coverage in the DC was 84%. Coverage in the RC was 81%. All legal aid HC matters covered.	Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the operations of courts have been negatively affected, resulting in many courts not operating as normal. Several provinces reported that their recording machines in some of the courts were not functional and this also attributed negatively to the functioning of the courts.	The possibility of using integrated Court Management System (ICMS) data and physical court books to determine the actual days courts sat was considered, but there were concerns that it might be arduous to rely on external sources to audit the actual days courts sat. We subsequently, and during the course of the financial year, submitted a motivation to amend the APP line to 'planned court coverage'. This motivation was approved by the Board and the Executive Authority and subsequently tabled in Parliament.

In the 2019-2020 FY we took on 51,177 new civil matters through our various delivery models. This exceeds the target of 47,580 by 7.6% (3,597). Internal practitioners took on 45,034 new matters, which is 88% of the total new civil matters taken in. Co-operation/ Agency Partners took on 4,310 new civil matters which is 8.4% of the total new civil matters. 1,810 instructions were issued to Judicare which is 3.5% of the total new civil matters.	As at the end of the 2020-2021 FY, Legal Aid SA took in 27,818 new civil matters through its delivery mechanisms. This is 54% of the annual target of 51,118. Internal practitioners took in 24,684 new matters, which is 89% of the total new civil matters for the FY. Co-operation Partners took in 1,885 new matters, which is 7% of the total new civil matters taken in for the FY. We issued 1,241 civil instructions to Judicare legal practitioners, which is 4% of the total new civil matters for the FY. Eight new civil matters have been recognised as strategic litigation matters in the FY.	Total: 47,931. Internal: 45,173. Judicare: 1,120. Co-op: 1,638.	In the 2021-2022 FY we took in a total of 40,143 new matters through our various delivery models. This is 79% of the target of 50,705. Internal practitioners took in 35,691 new matters which is 89% of the total new civil matters taken in. Co-operation Partners took in 2,762 new civil matters which is 7% of the total new civil matters. 1,671 instructions were issued to Judicare practitioners which is 4% of the total new civil instructions to date. Strategic litigation took in 19 new civil matters in the FY.	The intake of new matters was impacted by the COVID-19 Regulations and Restrictions issued by Government in order to curb the spread of the virus. In this FY, the country had to deal with the 3rd and 4th waves and the organisation had to implement measures to manage the various stages we went through.

P2-1							As at the end of the 2020-2021 FY, Legal Aid SA finalised a total of 35,502 civil matters through its various delivery mechanisms. This is 69.5% of the annual target of 51,118. Internal practitioners finalised 32,118 civil matters, which is 90.5% of the total civil matters finalised in the FY. Co-operation Partners finalised 2,320 civil matters, which is 6.5% of the total civil matters finalised for the FY. Judicare practitioners finalised 1,052 civil matters, which is 3% of the total civil matters finalised for the FY. Our Strategic Litigation Unit finalised 12 civil matters as at the end of the FY.		In the 2021-2022 FY we finalised 43,109 civil matters through our various civil delivery mechanisms. This is 85% of the year to date target of 50,690. Internal legal practitioners finalised 39,392 matters which is 91% of all civil matters finalised in the FY. Co-operation Partners finalised 2,431 matters which is 6% of all civil matters finalised. Judicare practitioners finalised 1,272 matters which is 3% of all civil matters finalised. Strategic litigation finalised 15 civil matters in the FY.	We finalised 7% more matters than what we took on in the FY. However, finalisation was still impacted as the country experienced the 3rd and 4th waves of the Coronavirus pandemic in the FY and remained under a State of Disaster.

P3	To deliver quality legal advice services that are client-focused, within available resources.
P3-1	Legal advice services	To provide legal advice to clients, thereby ensuring that clients are enabled to resolve their disputes.	Delivering quality client- focused legal advice services.		General legal advice services.	In the 2019-2020 FY, we assisted 266,055 clients with general advice. This is 42,105 (14%) less when compared to the previous FY. Local and satellite offices assisted 199,668 clients, which is 75% of the total clients assisted. RD paralegals assisted 27,379 awaiting trial or sentenced prisoners at Correctional Centres, which is 10.3% of the total clients assisted. The Legal Aid Advice Line assisted 39,008 clients with telephonic advice, which is 14.7% of the total clients assisted.	In 2020-2021, Legal Aid SA assisted 75,624 clients with general advice. The number of clients assisted at the local and satellite offices is 50,259. The number of clients assisted at correctional facilities is 2,303. The Legal Aid Advice Line assisted 23,062 clients.	276,444	In the 2021-2022 FY we assisted 132,410 clients with general advice. The number of clients assisted at local and satellite offices was 94,419. The number of clients assisted at correctional facilities was 8,875. The Legal Aid Advice Line assisted a total of 29,116 clients in the FY.	Legal advice is demand based. The 2021-2022 FY was still impacted by the Disaster Management Act Regulations issued by Government throughout the year as the country sought to combat the spread of COVID-19 through its different waves. General legal advice was impacted in that clients could not just walk in to local offices and had to make appointments through the Legal Aid Advice Line. For the first 7 months of the year, the Legal Aid Advice Line could only operate with 50% of their staff per week.

P15-2	Employment Equity			Diverse workforce in line with annual targets to achieve employment equity goals; Employment Equity (EE) Plan and Reports.	Targets defined nationally per performance, per office and per Department as per approved EE Plan.	Legal Aid SA has a diverse workforce in line with annual targets to achieve employment equity goals, as per the EE Plan and Reports. Overall, African men, Coloured men and people with disabilities are the most underrepresented groups. We still have a challenge with African Males in Senior, Professional, Skilled technical and Semi- skilled levels, as well as African Females in Senior and Professional levels. Disability recruitment grew from 0.9% to 1.67%, of a target of 2%. Coloured Females in Top and Senior Management and Indian Males in the Skilled and Semi-skilled levels are also a challenge as these groups are underrepresented.	Legal Aid SA implemented the EE targets as per the approved EE Plan 2020-2025. There was an improvement in the attraction of African Females to the Senior Management level, with a movement from 19 to 22 of the target of 34 in the EE Plan. Top Management is around the target. The attraction of employees with disability remains a challenge. The organisation is currently sitting at 1.58% of the 2% Department of Labour and Employee Assistance Programme target. The attraction of African Females and employees with disability will be hastened. Strategies to retain and attract them will be developed.	Implementation of the approved EE Plan 2020-2025.	Overall, females are above the target in all races, whereas African Males, Coloured Males, Indian Males and people with disabilities are underrepresented. African Females are underrepresented at the Top Management, Senior Management and Professional levels. African Females are above the target at the lower levels.	At Senior Management level, African Females are below the target due to senior management positions historically being occupied by White Males and Females. The demographics are gradually changing as and when the positions become vacant. The organisation is prioritising the attraction of African Females and persons with disabilities when positions become available or vacant.

Cybersecurity Committee attended its meeting and reported to the ISSC in 2021-2022.

7. LEGAL AID SA'S RESPONSE TO PRIORITISING WOMEN, YOUTH AND PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES

Diversity gives us a competitive advantage and aids in decision-making and problem solving to provide the best solutions for our clients. We promote an inclusive, bias-free culture and deliver on our commitment to transformation and equal opportunity through our Employment Equity Policy for Legal Aid SA, our human rights and group ethics policies, as well as other compliance policies that embrace good governance principles.

The organisation prioritises the recruitment of women in all positions, as is evident with 55% of the organisational workforce being women and representative of all South African nationalities.

Legal Aid SA actively drives inclusivity and supports a network of female leaders across all levels of the entity to champion impactful changes to ways of working for the benefit of female talent. By expanding inclusivity programmes to all business units, Legal Aid SA develops and accelerates high-performing female talent. The following future initiatives demonstrate organisational transformation efforts:

- a) The Advancing Women Mentorship Programme pairs top Female Senior Managers in teams with Executive-level mentors across the organisation, focusing on enhancing their management skills, connecting them with female role models in the legal fraternity and exposing them to broader aspects of the organisation.
- b) Legal Aid SA afforded women a platform to accelerate their succession plans and career paths by providing relevant development opportunities and motivating individuals to own their development paths. The entity extended support to these women through mentorship programmes, stretch assignments, training courses and webinars.

To empower the youth, Legal Aid SA is conducting career awareness at all universities in South Africa. Furthermore, the organisation has recruited over 500 Candidate Attorneys between the ages of 18-35 years, which comprises 20% of the workforce.

People with Disabilities (PwD) are important in the organisation. Currently, as per the 2020-2025 Legal Aid SA Employment Equity Plan targets, the entity had achieved 1.6% of the 2% set target, which is above the national status of 1.4%. Furthermore, Legal Aid SA has a specialised recruitment drive for PwD which is part of the recruitment policy and sees the organisation give preference to PwD candidates in recruitment processes.

The dangerous sport of drifting in motor vehicles is gaining popularity in South Africa, where it is known as 'spinning'. The spinning of vehicles even takes place at dignified ceremonies such as funerals. A Candidate Attorney at the Legal Aid SA Pinetown Local Office represented a client who was charged with reckless and negligent driving. The State alleged that the accused had been spinning his vehicle during a funeral at a cemetery, thereby endangering the safety of mourners at the cemetery. The State relied on the evidence of two witnesses, who unfortunately contradicted each other. The first witness testified that the accused drove his vehicle recklessly and was spinning it in a manner that endangered the safety of those at the cemetery. The second witness testified that the accused was revving his vehicle, which led to them believing he will end up spinning the vehicle. They therefore approached him to speak to him to prevent this from happening. Based on these contradictions, our Candidate Attorney was able to secure a discharge of her client.

Note:

1. The over collection of R44 million is as a result of a transfer of the Land Rights Management Unit to Legal Aid SA with a budget of R33 million and the new Special Commercial Crimes Court funding of R11 million.
2. The R6,1 million interest is additional interest received from the Reserve Bank - Corporation for Public Deposits (CPD) on funds invested. This is due to invested funds which are higher than anticipated.
3. The amount of R1,7 million is profit realised from the sale of old and fully depreciated assets disposed of during the 2021-2022 financial year.
4. The R8,6 million surplus which is included in the sundry income is mostly recoveries from other operations.

Note:

1. The R189 million under expenditure is due to commitments of R33 million for the Land Rights Management Unit that was received in April 2022; R3,5 million from the IJS; R13,9 million of which rollovers have been requested and savings from operations and salaries of R136 million as there was a moratorium placed on recruitment due to the budget cut and some programmes could not proceed due to the suspension of procurement by the National Treasury Note.

Note:

1. The under expenditure in computer hardware is due to orders that were not delivered at the end of the financial year. The amount of R2,9 million has been requested as a rollover.
2. The under expenditure on leasehold and buildings improvements is due to refurbishments on newly acquired buildings and on leased buildings which could not be finalised by the end of the financial year.
3. The under expenditure on motor vehicles is as a result of vehicles ordered but not yet delivered by the end of the financial year. The amount of R7,9 million has been requested as a rollover.
4. The under expenditure on computer software is due to the ongoing development of the eLAA system; Phase 2 is envisaged to be completed by the end of 2022-2023.

Very often people think the person with the most money will be the one who wins the case or that if you have money you can buy justice. Every day, Legal Aid SA dispels this thought with the work we do. Our client is a 44-year-old female currently in her third year of Medicine studies at Walter Sisulu University. She is married out of community of property and divorce proceedings are pending at the High Court. Our client's husband is a well-known doctor. Our client has been struggling financially as her husband stopped supporting her. She had a financial investment with Provisional Provident Society and approached them as she wanted to make use of the monies – an amount of R30,013.40 that had accrued in the account. Provisional Provident Society paid out the monies but paid it into the account of the husband who refused to pay the monies to our client. She feared that her husband might spend the money and approached Legal Aid SA for assistance to get access to the monies. The legal practitioner immediately drafted papers for an urgent application to freeze the clients' husband's account and made all the arrangements to have the matter heard on an urgent basis. We successfully argued the matter and the Court granted the order to freeze the bank account until all monies due to our client is paid. As soon as the order was served on the client's husband, he immediately contacted our office to make arrangements to pay the money over to our client. Our client received the monies and was very happy that her rights to her property were protected even if she does not have the financial resources that her husband has.

2021-2022				Comments
Infrastructure projects	Budget	Actual expenditure	Over/under expenditure
	R'000	R'000	R'000
Land and buildings	-	-	-	N/A
Building improvements	1,044,259	321,285	722,974	Projects were implemented as per the Infrastructure Plan, however there were projects which could not be finalised due to challenges encountered by the service providers. The remaining funds have been requested for rollover to the new financial year to finalise these projects.
Computer hardware	33,045,319	23,874,521	9,172,469	Computer hardware is implemented according to the Capital Asset Replacement Programme. There was, however, computer equipment procured which could not be delivered by the end of the financial year due to challenges in the global supply chain for technological units. The funds to finalise the procurement have been requested for rollover.
Computer software	7,922,931	4,994,906	2,928,025	The computer software budget included the eLAA software development budget. The eLAA software development of Phase 2 commenced later than envisaged and is still not complete due to challenges with the service provider. The remaining funds have been requested as rollover to be used to finalise the project.
Furniture and equipment	1,338,087	625,718	712,369	The furniture and equipment was procured as per the budgeted amount, however there were items procured which could not be delivered by the end of the financial year and the funds have been requested as rollover.
Leasehold improvements	1,346,287	579,281	767,006	The leasehold improvements were implemented as per the Procurement Plan however there were refurbishments which commenced but could not be finalised by the end of the financial year and funds to finalise these refurbishments have been requested as rollover. There were also delays in finalising some of the office leases which delayed the commencement of the refurbishments.
Motor vehicles	25,566,354	17,567,288	7,999,066	Motor vehicles were budgeted for and procured according to the Capital Asset Replacement Programme. There were vehicles ordered before the end of the financial year however delivery could not be finalised due to limitation of stock for some of the areas. The remaining funds have been requested for rollover to the 2022-2023 financial year to finalise the procurement.

8.2. PROJECTS IN PROGRESS AND FACILITIES TO BE CLOSED DOWN

The eLAA infrastructure project is currently in progress, with an expected completion date of end of 2022-2023.

There are currently no plans to close or downgrade any of the current facilities Legal Aid SA is using, however there is a continuous review of these facilities.

8.3. MAINTENANCE OF INFRASTRUCTURE

Legal Aid SA incurred R6,6 million towards the maintenance of infrastructure. A total amount of R834 thousand was incurred for building maintenance; R3,5 million for maintenance of motor vehicles and R2,3 million for maintenance of office equipment. All the maintenance projects planned for the financial year 2021-2022 were finalised by the end of the financial year.

8.4. ASSETS DISPOSED, SCRAPPED AND LOST DUE TO THEFT

Disposals of assets at Legal Aid SA is processed as per the Fixed Assets Policy on the lifespan of each asset category or when damaged beyond repair. The total disposals for the financial year 2021-2022 was R2,8 million, of which R2,2 million was for motor vehicles, R380 thousand for computer hardware and R76 thousand for furniture and equipment. There were no assets scrapped or lost due to theft.

The Supervisory Legal Practitioner based at the Legal Aid SA Phalaborwa Satellite Office assisted an accused person suffering from a mental disability, even though he was not one of our clients. He had elected to represent himself against the advice of the Magistrate. The accused, who was clearly of unsound mind, was charged with immigration offences and had been appearing in court for over a year. His case was postponed several times for mental observation, due to the unavailability of bed space. During one of his appearances, the prosecutor requested yet another postponement. Touched by the plight of the accused, our practitioner volunteered his services to him. The practitioner objected to the request for a further remand, as the accused was clearly being prejudiced by the endless postponement of the case. The case was struck from the roll.

8.4.1. Maintenance of Asset Register

The Legal Aid SA Fixed Assets Register which is on the SYSPRO financial system is monitored through quarterly verification of fixed assets and all redundant assets are reported and thereafter disposed. Assets which are due for disposal but are still in use are moved to the Tools and Equipment Register. The Tools and Equipment Register is also part of the Fixed Assets Register verification process.

8.4.2. Major maintenance projects that have been undertaken during the period under review

All the maintenance of assets undertaken in the financial year 2021-2022 are part of the day-to-day maintenance of the infrastructure.

There was no maintenance backlog in the year under review at the end of 2021-2022.

MEDIA STATEMENT

LEGAL AID SA CHALLENGES THE CONSTITUTIONALITY OF SECTION 15 OF THE EXTENSION OF SECURITY OF TENURE ACT 62 OF 1997

The newly established Land Rights Management Unit within Legal Aid South Africa (Legal Aid SA) has instructed a private attorney to represent farm occupiers and challenge the constitutionality of section 15 of the Extension of Security of Tenure Act 62 of 1997 (ESTA).

This is in line with Legal Aid SA's additional mandate to provide legal representation and mediation services in land related disputes, for those who are not able to afford the cost of their own legal representation.

Capespan Agri (Pty) Ltd trading as Applethwaite Farm brought an application in the Land Claims Court for the immediate eviction of Patricia Matthys, Patricia Swartland and Danvino Jemaine Swartland from the property known as portions 12, 13 and 22 of the farm Van Aaries Kraal situated in the Western Cape.

On 10 February 2022, the Land Claims Court granted the eviction order. The order states that: "Pending the grant of a final eviction order [Patricia Matthys, Patricia Swartland and Danvino Jemaine Swartland] and all those holding title under them, are evicted from the property known as portions 12, 13 and 22 of the farm Van Aaries Kraal, farm number 455, Caledon RD, Western Cape, also known as Applethwaite as contemplated in section 15 of the Extension of Security of Tenure Act 62 of 1997".

The application for eviction was brought due to allegations of assault of one of the farm occupiers by Patricia Swartland and Danvino Jemaine Swartland. The criminal case was opened by the farm occupier against Patricia Swartland and Danvino Jemaine Swartland. Danvino Jemaine Swartland then opened a criminal case against the farm occupier.

Section 15 of the ESTA allows the courts to grant the order for the immediate removal of any occupier from land, pending the outcome of proceedings for a final order. It provides that: "Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, the owner or person in charge may make urgent application for the removal of any occupier from land pending the outcome of proceedings for a final order, and the court may grant an order for the removal of that occupier if it is satisfied that— (a) there is a real and imminent danger of substantial injury or damage to any person or property if the occupier is not forthwith removed from the land; (b) there is no other effective remedy available; (c) the likely hardship to the owner or any other affected person if an order for removal is not granted, exceeds the likely hardship to the occupier against whom the order is sought, if an order for removal is granted; and (d) adequate arrangements have been made for the reinstatement of any person evicted if the final order is not granted".

This section does not make provision for the courts to consider the availability of suitable alternative accommodation for the occupier before granting the order for the immediate removal of the occupier. This is not in line with section 26(3) of the Constitution, which provides that: "No one may be evicted from their home, or have their home demolished, without an order of court made after considering all the relevant circumstances. No legislation may permit arbitrary evictions".

The availability of suitable alternative accommodation is one of the relevant circumstances to be considered in all eviction matters. In several cases, the Constitutional Court has held that if there is a risk that the occupier will be rendered homeless when evicted, the Municipality must provide alternative accommodation.

Furthermore, the ESTA was promulgated to give effect to section 25(6) of the Constitution: "A person or community whose tenure of land is legally insecure as a result of past racially discriminatory laws or practices is entitled, to the extent provided by an Act of Parliament, either to tenure which is legally secure or to comparable redress".

Legal Executive: Land Rights Management, Mr Thabiso Mbhense, says: "If Patricia Matthys, Patricia Swartland and Danvino Jemaine Swartland are successful in this challenge, the judgment will have a significant impact on the lives of all farm occupiers in South Africa".

PART C GOVERNANCE

Stable governance framework, responsive

GOVERNANCE

1. INTRODUCTION

The Legal Aid South Africa Act 39 of 2014 clearly articulates the governance structure of the Board of Legal Aid SA as well as its responsibilities and accountability. The fiduciary responsibilities, stewardship duties and corporate governance roles of the Board and Board Committees are vested in their charters in accordance with section 49 of the Public Finance Management Act (PFMA).

The graphic below summarises the governance structure of the Board:

The Board exercised due care and oversight to undertake its functions in the year under review, despite challenges. The Board's commitment to this governance framework has enabled the organisation to manage the rough environment of budgetary reductions, as well as the COVID-19 pandemic and its negative impact on service delivery, particularly for the indigent and vulnerable people of South Africa.

2. PORTFOLIO COMMITTEE

Legal Aid SA was invited and appeared in three briefings of the Portfolio Committee on Justice and Correctional Services as follows:

- i. 6 May 2021: Legal Aid SA Strategic Plan 2020-2025, Annual Performance Plan 2021-2022 and the 2021-2022 Budget.
- ii. 12 May 2021: Briefing on Regulations (Legal Aid SA).

- iii. 19 November 2021: Legal Aid SA Integrated Annual Report 2020-2021.

The entity also responded timeously to all Parliamentary questions received during the 2021-2022 financial year, namely question 1972 on 27 August 2021, 427 on 2 March 2022 and 191 on 15 February 2022.

3. EXECUTIVE AUTHORITY

Legal Aid SA continued to be accountable to the Minister of Justice and Correctional Services (Minister) as required in the year under review.

The Legal Aid SA Annual Performance Plan 2021-2022 was submitted to and approved by the Minister and tabled in Parliament on 15 March 2021. The reporting on the Annual Performance Plan 2021-2022 was done through quarterly performance reports, to provide updates to the Minister on the implementation of the Annual Performance Plan 2021-2022.

The output indicator for Programme P1-1 for both the District and Regional Courts in the past financial years was based on planned court coverage. Having put considerable effort into the methodology to determine actual court coverage, in the compilation of the Annual Performance Plan 2021-2022, the output indicator was changed from Planned Court Coverage to Actual Court Coverage.

Management saw the need to revise the methodology used to calculate actual court coverage. Since we are unable to obtain verifiable information from an external source (to verify the denominator element of the calculation; the actual number of days a court sat) and to prevent an audit finding on this indicator, a report was tabled at the Board meeting held on 27 November 2021 recommending that the output indicator for Programme 1-1 be changed.

The Board approved that the output indicator for Programme 1-1 (Access to criminal legal aid services), which currently reads as “Actual court coverage using Matter Activity Reports by internal practitioners; Planned coverage only for Judicare and Agency Agreement covered Courts (excl. coverage via Judicare and Agency Agreements)” be changed to “Planned court coverage (District Courts and Regional Courts - Planned percentage coverage; High Court: Actual legal aid matters)”. This amendment of the technical indicator for Programme P1-1 as it was written in the Annual Performance Plan 2021-2022 is in line with sections 3.4.4 and 4.4.4 of the Revised Framework for Strategic Plan and Annual Performance and Regulation 5.1.1 of the Treasury Regulations that requires amendments made during the financial year to be approved by the relevant Executive Authority, in our case being the Minister of Justice and Correctional Services. The Department of Planning, Monitoring and Evaluation (DPME) guidelines further require that once the proposed changes are approved by the Executive Authority, institutions are expected to re-table the revised plan(s) to the relevant Legislative Authority. The Minister approved the amendment of the Technical Indicator for Programme P1-1 on the Annual Performance Plan 2021-2022 on 17 February 2022, and it was tabled in Parliament on 16 March 2022.

The Legal Aid SA Integrated Annual Report 2020-2021, prepared in accordance with leading practice and in compliance with the revised DPME Annual Report Guide for Schedule 3A and 3C Public Entities (March 2019), was approved by the Board in July 2021.

The finalised Integrated Annual Report was submitted to the Minister, Parliament, National Treasury and the Auditor-General in compliance with section 55(1)(d) of the PFMA by 31 August 2021 and tabled in Parliament on 6 September 2021.

4. THE ACCOUNTING AUTHORITY/BOARD

The Board as the Accounting Authority sustained good governance by encompassing leading practices and maintaining high ethical standards, integrity, high performance and accountability. It achieved this by focusing on the strategic imperatives as enshrined in the Legal Aid SA Strategic Plan, which was in the second year of implementation. The Board also ensured that the entity accounted to the Executive Authority (the Minister of Justice and Correctional Services) and Parliament on the delivery of its mandate, governance and sustainability.

As at the end of the financial year 2021-2022, the Board of Legal Aid SA was not fully constituted in terms of the Legal Aid SA Act 2014. Thirteen out of 14 Board positions were filled. The NOE retired on 31 January 2022 and his term on the Board automatically terminated. As at the end of 2021-2022, the vacancy had not been filled.

The Board honoured its Board calendar – all scheduled meetings were convened, during which meetings the Board not only approved all governance instruments (strategies, policies, charters, et cetera), but also, and amidst the challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic and budgetary reductions, amongst others, focused on measures ensuring that the organisation remained sustainable. Key focus areas included:

- Financial performance maturity
- Oversight on compliance
- Effective risk governance
- Effective IT governance

The efforts of the Board in this regard are contained in the Sustainability Report in Part D of this Integrated Annual Report, on page 112.

The decisions of the Board were effectively tracked for implementation and communicated to staff through a Board Brief that was circulated from time to time by the Board Secretariat.

The Board development process progressed well in the financial year. Three Board workshops were organised in the year under review, which focused on corporate governance, risk management and Legal Aid SA finances.

- A. The workshop on 28 August 2021 covered:
- Budget cuts' impact on service delivery and possible review of the Legal Aid SA mandate;
 - Land matters and associated risks;
 - IT software, hardware and network, 4IR, IT 5 years Roadmap;
 - Organisational modifiers;
 - Board Code of Ethics.
- B. The workshop on 25 February 2022 was Board Leadership Training delivered by the Institute of Directors SA. Board members accrued Continuous Professional Development points from this training.
- C. An extended workshop was held on 12 March 2022 that covered:
- Amendment of the Legal Aid SA Act 39 of 2014;
 - Succession planning of the Board Chairperson;
 - Discussion of Board Committee Charters (Remuneration Social and Ethics Committee and Board Executive Committee) and the Board Code of Ethics and Approval Framework.

This was all timely and necessary training to equip Board members and empower them to make informed decisions.

In line with leading practice, the Board evaluated its performance as required. The 2021-2022 Board evaluation process was undertaken by an external service provider, in line with the approved Board Evaluation Programme. The evaluation of the Board and its Committees took place in April 2022 and the report was due to be presented to the Board at its meeting during May 2022.

4.1. CHALLENGES

The year under review witnessed intra-Board disputes whereby Board members lodged complaints against one another. The Board resolved to enlist the services of an Independent Counsel (or law firm) to investigate the complaints. A law firm was appointed in April 2022 and a report was presented to the Board in July 2022. The Board was able to implement the recommendations as per the report.

Notwithstanding the above challenges, the Board was able to perform its fiduciary responsibilities. It managed to function well to conclude all its business in all meetings of the Board.

5. RISK MANAGEMENT

Legal Aid SA recognises that risk is inherent to its business, and as such employed Enterprise Risk Management to ensure the achievement of strategic and operational objectives and its mandate. A risk management maturity assessment conducted revealed that the entity is aligned with the Risk Management Standards (COSO Framework and ISO 31000) and National Treasury Risk Management Framework. In accordance with the risk maturity model used, areas of improvement were identified and a plan of action was developed to address those gaps.

Legal Aid SA has demonstrated a commitment to building a risk intelligent culture across the organisation by ensuring that risk management is integrated in the strategic planning process, decision-making and business performance. The Board approved the strategic risks, risk appetite and tolerance whilst Management approved the operational risk appetite and tolerance.

The Enterprise Risk Management Strategy and Plan as well as the Fraud Management Plan were reviewed and approved by the Board.

During the year under review, Executives and Management demonstrated commitment in applying the risk management principles. Risk Champions were appointed to assist in cascading risk management application to lower levels of the organisation.

Quarterly Risk Watch Reports were submitted to the Board detailing the residual value of each risk for each quarter under review in relation to the risk appetite and risk tolerance settings, together with explanations where tolerance levels have been exceeded.

The Board Risk Registers are reviewed bi-annually by Management and thereafter submitted to the Board for noting. Risk Control Self Assessments (RCSA) surveys are conducted bi-annually by all Executives and Managers.

A five-scale rating model, ranging from controls both adequate and effective (Level 5) to no controls in place (Level 1), is used by Executives and Heads of Offices to assess mitigating measures or controls for each of the risks listed on the Risk Register. As at quarter four 2021-2022, Executives and Managers indicated that 98% of controls implemented to mitigate 189 risks were at Level 5 while 2% of the controls were assessed at below Level 5.

The budgetary risk (SR-6) rating remained moderate throughout the financial year because of the threat of budget cuts that loom due to the economic downturn faced by the country. The initial funds to set up the Land Rights Management Unit were secured in the form of funds from the Department of Agriculture, Land Reform and Rural Development amounting to R33 million, and R35 million from Legal Aid SA's accumulated surplus. The allocation for 2022-2023 for this function was confirmed to be R90 million by the National Treasury.

The cybersecurity risk (SR-13) rating remained high as at the end of the financial year, requiring constant monitoring. The results of the penetration tests conducted by an external service provider during the year revealed some gaps which have since been closed. A second penetration test was subsequently done in April 2022 with positive results.

The Combined Assurance Framework which was approved by the Board during the year provides for four lines of assurance, i.e., Management; the Chief Risk Officer/Board Secretary; Management Committees; Internal Audit and External Audit. The Combined Assurance Report is completed semi-annually by all four lines of assurance using the same five rating scales used by Executives and Managers for the completion of RCSA surveys.

The risks identified were managed within the tolerance levels or did not materialise, except for the following risks:

5.1. BUDGET CUTS

The 2021-2022 budget allocation to Legal Aid SA was cut by 8.3%. Cost-cutting initiatives were implemented to manage the budget reductions to ensure the achievement of objectives and the organisational mandate.

5.2. IMPACT OF COVID-19

COVID-19 positive cases reported in 2021-2022 was 373 compared to 331 in 2020-2021. There were six (eight in 2020-2021) fatalities due to the Coronavirus in the financial year under review. There was a steady uptake of vaccinations by staff members and the overall percentage of vaccinated staff was 54.8% as at the end of the financial year. This is below the 70% required for herd immunity.

5.3 NON-COMPLIANCE WITH LEGISLATION

There were isolated incidents of non-compliance with section 51(b)(ii) of the Public Finance Management Act 1999 (PFMA), and the Preferential Procurement Policy Framework Act (No. 5 of 2000) during the year.

5.4. SOCIAL MEDIA RISK

In January 2022, a tweet on the legal representation of the person accused of setting fire to the Parliament building, insinuating that Legal Aid SA's clients run a risk of being advised to confess, was widely covered on social media. This cast aspersions on the quality of legal advice and services the organisation offers and put to question the integrity of Legal Aid SA's legal practitioners. Management responded to the tweet accordingly and an apology was subsequently issued by the writer.

5.5. LEAVE ACCRUAL

Leave accrual for 2021-2022 decreased by 6% to R46,033,194 compared to R49,114,154 in the previous financial year. The decrease can be accredited to more employees who took leave in January 2022.

The downward trend in leave balance is expected to continue during the 2022-2023 financial year, with the COVID-19 State of Disaster being lifted in South Africa and most employees working from the office.

5.6. SYSTEM FAILURE DUE TO POWER INTERRUPTION

On 22 March 2022, a fatal shutdown of the IT infrastructure rendered business applications unavailable and inaccessible for four operational hours, due to prolonged power outages, resulting in a depletion of diesel for the generator. The shutdown affected productivity of the core functionality of the eLAA system by 41% compared to the typical average productivity for any day, and saw a 42% reduction in PPU Judicare processing and a 99.55% reduction in payments on the day.

5.7. KWAZULU-NATAL AND GAUTENG UNREST

The riots that occurred in KwaZulu-Natal in July 2021 affected Legal Aid SA Satellite Offices at Bulwer and Ixopo, as well as the Legal Aid SA Umlazi Local Office. At Bulwer, the whole satellite office was burnt down, and nothing was saved inside the office. Alternative accommodation for Legal Aid SA staff had to be sought. The Ixopo Satellite Office was burgled and both Legal Aid SA and staff assets were stolen. At the Umlazi Local Office, vehicles were damaged and petrol drained out of the vehicles.

The riots spilled over to Gauteng but did not affect Legal Aid SA offices although some malls where offices are were affected. Closure of malls to prevent damages resulted in some offices being closed for a maximum of seven days. However, normal court coverage including attending to clients was unaffected as staff were operating remotely.

The riots negatively impacted assets in KwaZulu-Natal requiring the landlord to find alternative premises for Legal Aid SA staff. Tables 16 and 17 below show the breakdown of court matters and charges relating to the unrest.

The Legal Aid SA Soweto Local Office represented a client who was charged with kidnapping, rape and robbery with aggravating circumstances. The complainant was his ex-wife. The accused was referred for mental observation. He was diagnosed with substance use disorder. However, the panel of psychiatrists unanimously concluded that the accused has no mental illness or intellectual disability and is therefore fit to stand trial. During consultations with our practitioner, the client could not give a chronological sequence of events, was forgetful and would deviate from the topic at hand and discuss unrelated issues such as voices telling him to confess to killings that he had apparently committed a long time ago. The client would also act and behave inappropriately in court while the court was in session. This prompted the attorney to call one of the doctors on the original panel to give evidence regarding the initial report. The doctor conceded under cross-examination that a second observation was called for. This was made an order of court.

5.8. EMERGING RISKS

The Land Rights Management Facility (LRMF) was transferred to Legal Aid SA effective 1 January 2022. The allocation of sufficient funding for the 740 matters transferred from the DALRRD LRMF remains a concern. A Memorandum of Understanding between the three parties (DoJ&CD, DALRRD and Legal Aid SA) addresses the undertaking by the parties to fund the LRMU operations and contingent liability.

Table 18: Legal Aid SA Strategic Risks with Mitigating Measures and Opportunities Derived

6. IT GOVERNANCE 2021-2022

The new Information Technology Strategic Plan was reviewed in conjunction with the organisation's Strategic Plan 2020–2025 and was approved by the Board in accordance with the King IV Principles. Effective oversight of information technology investments remains a priority for the Board.

Collaboration tools that have been deployed to enable efficient remote working have allowed users to work effectively, resulting in improved productivity and efficiency of staff. All employees have access to Microsoft Teams.

The server infrastructure environment has been maintained in alignment with the Capital Asset Replacement Programme with a gradual adoption of a hybrid cloud infrastructure. This allows for a reduced footprint of physical server infrastructure required in the future.

Laptop encryption technology has been introduced in the IT security area, with the goal of deploying it to all personal computers. In addition to endpoint security, the organisation included Dynamic Threat Defence as part of its security measures. Eighty percent of all users have remote access using both Global Protect remote connection and Access Point Name channels.

The electronic Legal Aid Administration (eLAA) system was further stabilised and enhanced through the implementation of several critical developments, including the correction of trade requisition bugs; the correction of Judicare payment bugs; the redesign of the Judicare accreditation module and the automation of the distribution of Judicare invoices following payment processing. Additionally, the system was upgraded through the establishment of a women's empowerment programme, which aims to empower women practitioners by supervising and exposing them to proceedings before Regional and High Courts. About 59 upgrades and bug fixes were developed and deployed into the production environment. With the organisation's expansion into handling land rights matters which came into effect in January 2022, Legal Aid SA expediently conducted a gap analysis to determine what was required to integrate the new business unit into the eLAA system and used its agility to develop enhancements that integrate the Land Rights Management Unit into the eLAA system's value chain process.

Additionally, the manual process of requesting a deviation prior to initiating the procurement process was fully automated with reminders and escalation features. This automation has enabled the organisation to trace the progress of each deviation submission, increasing process transparency by informing all parties involved and eliminating the paper trail.

Data is the new oil in the twenty-first century, an untapped precious asset. As with oil, data requires infrastructure in the form of database management software and hardware for storage and transmission. Software was updated to manage and store data, ensuring that it is accessible, consistent and of adequate quality for analytics.

7. INTERNAL CONTROL UNIT

The Internal Control Unit is an integral part of the governance mechanism within the CFO's office. Its role in the organisation is to continuously improve the operations and financial control activities to promote efficiency, reduce the impact and likelihood of identified financial and operational risks, and develop sound financial policies and procedures. The Internal Control Unit is a newly established unit in the organisation and will be fully capacitated in the new financial year.

Internal control maintains registers on irregular expenditure, fruitless and wasteful expenditure and losses and damages. The Unit is also responsible for co-ordinating both internal and external audits, responses on audit findings and consolidation of audit action plans designed to address internal control weaknesses identified by the Auditor-General South Africa. A position of Manager: Internal Unit was created and filled in 2021-2022 to head and strengthen the Unit.

No significant control deficiencies have been identified by the Unit that cause it to believe that Legal Aid SA's system of internal controls and reporting procedures is not effective, and that the internal financial controls do not form a sound basis for the preparation of reliable financial statements. However, for the year under review, the Unit acknowledges the deficiencies in preventing irregular expenditure though this is decreasing year-on-year. It further acknowledges opportunities identified for continuous improvements in controls to respond to any potential elements of fraud, wastage and abuse.

8. INTERNAL AUDIT AND AUDIT COMMITTEE

The Internal Audit Department of Legal Aid SA provides an independent, objective assurance and consulting service designed to add value and improve the organisation's operations. It helps the entity accomplish its objectives by bringing a systematic, disciplined approach to evaluating and improving the effectiveness of risk management, control, compliance and governance processes.

The Internal Audit Department is responsible for the following:

- a) Evaluating controls, including assessing the tone and risk management culture of the organisation and reporting on the effectiveness and efficiency of the implementation of management controls;
- b) Evaluating risks by identifying key activities and relevant risk factors and assessing their significance. The Internal Audit Department has adopted a more proactive and risk-based approach. This enables the Department to anticipate possible future concerns and opportunities as well as identifying current issues;
- c) Analysing operations and confirming information by closely working with Line Managers to review operations then report their findings, and
- d) Reviewing compliance to ensure that the organisation is adhering to rules, regulations, laws, codes of practice, guidelines and principles as they apply individually and collectively to all parts of the organisation.

The Internal Audit Department assesses and makes appropriate recommendations for improving risk and governance processes to accomplish the following objectives:

- a) Promote appropriate ethics and values within the organisation;
- b) Achieve effective organisational performance management and accountability;
- c) Communicate risk and control information to appropriate areas of the organisation;
- d) Assist Management in achieving the organisation's strategic objectives;
- e) Secure reliability and integrity of financial and operational information;
- f) Operate effectively and efficiently;
- g) Safeguard assets, and
- h) Comply with laws, regulations, policies, procedures, and contracts.

The Internal Audit Department undergoes an external quality assessment every five years to assess the delivery of internal audit compliance with IIA standards and benchmarking with leading practices. The last assessment was conducted in 2018, and it confirmed that the Internal Audit Department generally conforms to the International Standards for the Professional Practice of Internal Auditing. The Department further performs its activities in compliance with the PFMA, National Treasury Regulations and the King IV Report on Corporate Governance. Accordingly, Internal Audit developed a risk-based Audit Plan which is approved by the Audit Committee. The Audit Plan is tailored to the organisation's overall risk management framework and is flexible and responsive to Legal Aid SA's risk landscape.

The purpose, authority and responsibility of the Internal Audit Department is formally defined in the Internal Audit Charter. Internal Audit reports functionally to the Audit Committee and has full and unrestricted access to all organisational activities, records, property and personnel.

The Internal Audit Department completed 110 projects against 113 projects per the approved Audit Coverage Plan which translates to a 97% achievement at the end of the financial year. Three additional projects were completed outside the approved coverage plan, resulting in a 100% overall achievement.

The following work was completed during the year under review:

- Review of operational and financial controls at selected local offices and Finance;
- Review of the mid-year and the year-end financial statements;
- Review of the mid-year and the year-end performance information;
- Review of Legal Aid SA's risk management including fraud risk management;
- Review of information technology controls including the application controls embedded in financial systems;
- Quarterly review of compliance with PFMA and other legislation applicable to Legal Aid SA, and
- Supply Chain Management and tender reviews.

The results of the audits conducted demonstrated that Legal Aid SA's internal controls and governance processes were in place and functioned as intended over the period under review.

8.1. LEGAL QUALITY ASSURANCE

In addition to the provision of internal control, Internal Audit is responsible, through the Legal Quality Assurance Unit (LQAU), for assessing the quality of legal services provided by internal legal practitioners and external service providers appointed by Legal Aid SA to represent its clients. The LQAU achieved 106% of its Annual Coverage Plan. The LQAU's overall conclusion is that the quality of legal services rendered by legal practitioners is of a satisfactory quality.

8.2. AUDIT COMMITTEE

The Audit Committee is responsible for playing an oversight role and monitoring the effectiveness of internal control, particularly financial controls and risk management; compliance with legislation and regulations, and the review of the Annual Financial Statements. Internal Audit reports to the committee on a quarterly basis and submits written annual assessments of controls and risk management at the end of each year.

Membership and attendance of Audit Committee meetings appears in the table below:

Table 19: Composition of the Audit Committee

Mr Samson Nkosi	Co-opted Director	Higher Diploma: Business Studies (Institute of Business), Postgraduate Diploma: Information Systems, Master of Science: Information Systems (Leeds Beckett University)	IT	Audit Committee (4)

9. COMPLIANCE WITH LAWS AND REGULATIONS

Legal Aid SA's Compliance Universe consists of all applicable laws. Executives identified 16 applicable laws that require the attention of Management on an ongoing basis.

A Legislative Compliance Checklist which includes deadline dates for complying with certain statutory requirements is confirmed annually by all Executives and Heads of Offices through a webpage, and thereafter monthly confirmations are done by all Executives. As a quality control, Executives and Provincial Executives scan the legislative environment within their functional responsibilities for changes on a quarterly basis and the Compliance Universe is updated accordingly.

A Legislative Compliance Checklist was completed monthly by all Executives and Managers. Quarterly Compliance Reports were thereafter submitted to the Board. The Legislative Compliance Checklist was updated whenever new legislation or provisions came into effect. Management strives to ensure 100% compliance with all relevant legislations, regulations and directives/practice notes.

Legal Aid SA complied with all legislation that comprises the Legislative Universe, except for the non-compliance to the PFMA. There were isolated incidents of non-compliance with SCM prescripts mainly due to cleaning contract extensions in response to COVID-19 and deviations which were not approved in accordance with the applicable instruction note.

The entity meets all principles of the King IV Code on Corporate Governance (the King Code).

9.1. PAIA REQUESTS FOR THE YEAR UNDER REVIEW

During the 2021-2022 reporting period, Legal Aid SA received four PAIA requests. The first request relates to an application for legal aid assistance which the organisation refused. All the records requested were granted including the explanation and reasons for refusal of legal aid.

The second request relates to an alleged injury on duty, benefits in terms of the Group Life Scheme and benefits at the Department of Labour for compensation. The records were refused in terms of section 7 of the Promotion of Access to Information Act in that these records relate to pending legal proceedings issued by the requester at the High Court and pleadings have been exchanged.

The third request relates to the records requested for an application for increased fees by a legal practitioner to Legal Aid SA in respect of his representation of a legal aid client. All the records were granted.

The fourth request relates to the outcome of recruitment processes. The requester requested information that relates to the third party; another candidate who was appointed. A section 47 of PAIA notice was dispatched to the third party and she refused her personal information. The records were refused and the requester withdrew the request.

There are still eight outstanding matters by one requester, which emanates from the previous reporting period and are before courts. The requester had not proceeded with the matters but has not withdrawn them.

In compliance with section 32 of PAIA, a report was submitted to the Information Regulator stating the number of requests received and how each request was dealt with. Their system was not finalised for submission as at the end of the financial year under review.

10. FRAUD PREVENTION AND MANAGEMENT

Legal Aid SA has zero tolerance towards any fraudulent and unethical behaviour. To give effect to this imperative, the organisation has designed and successfully implemented measures that are aimed at addressing the risk of fraud and corruption. Some of the measures that have been put in place include the following:

- Implementation of a Fraud, Corruption and Ethics Management Policy which articulates Legal Aid SA's philosophy on fraud, corruption and ethics management. The policy was approved by the Board which is an indication of the level of support for the policy.
- Fraud risk management was performed to identify and assess risks related to fraud, corruption and unethical behaviour and implementation of the applicable mitigation measures as an intervention to limit risk exposure.
- Fraud Awareness Programmes which have been executed by Internal Audit to educate employees and clients on the issues of fraud.

10.1. FRAUD AND CORRUPTION RESPONSE PLAN

The fraud response plan included the establishment and maintenance of tip-offs or a fraud hotline which is managed and administered by an outsourced service provider, thereby certifying the highest level of anonymity is maintained, affirming the impartiality of the process.

There were 19 matters brought forward from the 2020-2021 financial year and 37 new matters reported through the Fraud and Ethics Hotline and by Management during 2021-2022. Twenty-nine matters were finalised and 27 carried forward to the 2022-2023 financial year.

All the reported suspicions of fraud, corruption, maladministration and unethical behaviour are independently investigated by Internal Audit, and appropriate action taken, including but not limited to:

- consequence management procedures.
- referrals to relevant agencies.
- institution of criminal complaints.

Fraud related matters are reported to the Remuneration Social and Ethics Committee of the Board.

The Board and Management remain committed to upholding and supporting the Fraud and Ethics Hotline by ensuring that consequence management actions are taken in case of reported incidents of fraud, corruption or unethical behaviour.

The table below summarises the six incidents of fraud and corruption that were investigated and finalised.

Table 20: Summary of Investigated Fraud and Corruption Matters and Outcomes in 2021-2022

No.	Allegation	Period Completed	Outcome
1	A caller reported that an employee was fraudulently appointed as an executor of her late husband's estate. The caller stated that she did not apply for legal assistance from Legal Aid SA, because she had appointed a private law firm.	Q2 2021-2022	The allegations made by the caller were substantiated to be factual and disciplinary action was taken against the employee.
2	A caller reported the alleged conflict of interest, abuse of power and fraud perpetrated by a staff member.	Q4 2021-2022	The results of the investigation confirmed the authenticity of the allegations made.
3	An anonymous caller reported that a staff member had allegedly awarded a cleaning contract to her family member. Furthermore, it was stated that the family member was fronting for the staff member and her brother, but the company is jointly owned by the employee and a family member.	Q4 2021-2022	The investigation did not find any evidence of wrongdoing against the employee.
4	A caller alleged that a Civil Legal Practitioner offered legal services outside of her employment contract with Legal Aid SA and was paid for it. The caller further indicated that the employee was a director in an entity and was receiving sums of monies through her daughter's bank account.	Q4 2021-2022	The results of the investigation indicated that there was no evidence that the employee had provided legal services for payment. Nevertheless, the employee was found to have been registered as a director in a private company and did not declare her interest in the Register of Interest.
5	A caller alleged that a staff member at a local office was receiving kickbacks from the service provider appointed to provide cleaning services. The caller further alleged that the service provider was the preferred/favoured service provider.	Q4 2021-2022	The investigation did not find any evidence of fraud or corruption against the staff member. However, the cleaning contract was found to be irregular as it was awarded without following the prescribed Supply Chain Management processes. A disciplinary process was initiated against the Evaluation Committee.
6	A member of the public laid a complaint through the SAPS alleging that a Civil Legal Practitioner committed fraud, corruption, betrayal and dishonesty towards a client.	Q4 2021-2022	The investigation did not find any evidence of wrongdoing against the employee.

Zero tolerance on fraud and corruption remains entrenched.

11. ETHICS MANAGEMENT AND MINIMISING CONFLICT OF INTEREST

All employees of Legal Aid SA are obligated to declare gifts they received, as well as instances of conflict of interest on the Register of Interest. In the year under review, 99% of employees disclosed registerable interest. Similarly, all Directors of the Board declared interest in all meetings they attended in 2021-2022 to ensure adherence to the Legal Aid SA Code of Ethics.

A three-year average view of compliance by employees in terms of the disclosure of interest is shown in the table below:

Table 21: Average Percentage Completion of the Register of Interest by Employees – three-year comparison

Financial Year	2019-2020	2020-2021	2021-2022
Compliance Rate	93%	99%	99%

The Ethics Management and Organisational Culture Programme review was conducted in February 2022 in accordance with the Internal Audit Department's 2021-2022 Audit Coverage Plan. The Internal Audit Department concluded that the assessed internal controls relating to Ethics Management are adequately designed and operating effectively to provide reasonable assurance that risks will be mitigated and that management objectives at Legal Aid SA will be attained.

12. CODE OF CONDUCT

The organisational Code of Ethics and Conduct Policy articulates the values of the entity and represents the highest ethical standards applicable to all employees and the Board. The Code was reviewed in the year under review.

Contraventions of the Code are dealt with in the provisions of the Human Resources Policies as well as the Terms and Conditions of Legal Aid SA. Matters are investigated and sanctions issued based on the merits of the cases.

The Board has a Code of Ethics that supports the organisation's mission, values and principles. This is being reviewed to ensure that it sufficiently deals with the ethics issues at the Board level.

13. HEALTH, SAFETY AND ENVIRONMENTAL ISSUES

Legal Aid SA has a Health and Safety Policy in place and complies with the Occupational Health and Safety Act 85 of 1993. The purpose of this policy is to provide and maintain as far as is reasonably practicable, a working environment that is safe and without risks to employees and persons other than those in employment who may be directly affected by the activities of Legal Aid SA. This policy provides guiding principles for the achievement of the organisation's health and safety programmes. Health and Safety representatives and Committees are in place and inspections are carried out regularly. Legal Aid SA also discharges its legal duty to inform its employees about health and safety matters and takes all the necessary prescribed steps in relation to COVID-19 Regulations and measures.

All serious injuries, reportable diseases or dangerous occurrences taking place at work are reported to the Human Resources Department and the Department of Labour in terms of the Compensation for Occupational Injuries and Diseases Act 130 of 1993, as amended. A total of 12 incidents of injury on duty were reported in the 2021-2022 financial year.

The Employee Wellness Programmes were fully implemented to encourage awareness and support.

The Vicarious Trauma Counselling Programme intervention programmes were delivered on a national scale virtually by the in-house Clinical Psychologist.

14. BOARD SECRETARY

The Board Secretary provided the necessary guidance to the Board of Legal Aid SA. Amongst other duties, the Secretariat:

- Handled all administrative and other logistical requirements of the Board.
- Ensured that Board procedures are followed.
- Helped maintain the stakeholder relationships with the Chairperson and the Board at large.
- Ensured the proper compilation and timely circulation of Board documents and that the meetings of the Board took place as scheduled and were conducted in a proper orderly manner.
- Took decisions/minutes at Board meetings and tracked the matters that arose from the decisions of the Board.
- Ensured that there was continuous Board development through evaluations and training.
- Monitored and ensured that all governance instruments were reviewed, save for the Board Governance Charters and Board Code of Ethics.
- Advised the Board on statutory and governance obligations.

15. SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Legal Aid SA engaged in several activities to support vulnerable groups to ultimately ensure that communities had increased access to justice. These activities included the administration of a Pro Bono Scheme through which legal practitioners rendered pro bono services to indigent and vulnerable communities, allowing access to justice in 90 new legal matters.

Legal Aid SA has 59 employees registered as Small Claims Court Commissioners and the organisation's contribution to the pool of Small Claims Court Commissioners ensures the speedy resolution of minor disputes.

The Legal Aid SA Fixed Assets Policy and Procedures were revised during the financial year to apply Treasury Regulation 16A7 which provides that "The Accounting Officer or Accounting Authority must, when disposing of computer equipment, firstly approach any State institution involved in education and/or training to determine whether such an institution requires such equipment. In the event of computer equipment being required by such a State institution, the Accounting Officer or Accounting Authority may transfer such equipment free of charge to the identified institution". The policy further provides that should there be no State institutions which require the computer equipment due for disposal, these assets are offered as donations to NPOs, NGOs, CBOs and Community Advice Offices dealing with the delivery of legal services, increasing access to justice and the promotion and protection of human rights, as well as community radio stations.

16. AUDIT COMMITTEE REPORT

The Legal Aid SA Audit Committee is a committee of the Board duly constituted in terms of the PFMA. Its main purpose is to assist the Board in fulfilling its oversight responsibility on the system of internal financial control, the governance of risk, Internal and External Audit Functions, integrated reporting and Legal Aid SA's processes for monitoring statutory and regulatory compliance. To this end, the Board delegates the above listed responsibilities to the Audit Committee. This is over and above its statutory responsibility to the governing authority.

The Audit Committee accordingly adopted its Terms of Reference, which are reviewed annually and approved by the Board of Directors. Throughout the financial year, the committee carried out its duties in accordance with its Terms of Reference, the PFMA and the National Treasury Regulations 3.1.13 and King IV Report on Corporate Governance for South Africa 2016.

16.1. COMPOSITION

The committee consists of four independent Non-executive Directors and one independent specialist member. Collectively they have sufficient skills and knowledge to deliver on the set responsibilities of this committee. The meetings of the Audit Committee members as well as the qualifications for the year are detailed in table 19 on page 105.

The Legal Aid SA CEO, COO, NOE, CFO and other senior members of Management, together with the internal and external auditors, attend these meetings by invitation. During the year, the committee held separate meetings with Senior Management, external auditors and internal auditors individually, before every meeting. The internal and external auditors have unrestricted access to the Audit Committee. The Audit Committee and its members are assessed for effectiveness on an annual basis.

The Audit Committee is happy to report that it has regulated its affairs in compliance with its set Terms of Reference and has delivered on all its responsibilities as contained therein.

16.2. THE EFFECTIVENESS OF INTERNAL CONTROL

The committee reviewed:

- i. the significant issues raised by both internal and external auditors and was satisfied regarding the resolution of all these issues as and when they were reported;
- ii. the policies and procedures relating to the prevention and detection of fraud and corruption; and
- iii. the effectiveness of Legal Aid SA's systems of internal control including the assurance received from Management, Internal Audit and External Audit, during the course of the financial year.

The Combined Assurance Model was updated and the tracking map reported to the committee during 2021-2022. The final Combined Assurance Report concluded that the internal controls are satisfactory.

16.2.1. Regulatory compliance

The committee has complied with all applicable legal and regulatory responsibilities. These are tracked, reported and discussed at the quarterly meetings.

16.2.2. External Audit

We reviewed, discussed and deliberated on the External Audit scope and coverage including the fees as set out in note 25 of the financial statements.

We concurred with the conclusions on the status of the internal financial controls and we therefore recommended these to the Board for approval. The Board adopted the recommendations.

16.2.3. Internal Audit

The committee:

- reviewed the updated Internal Audit Charter and recommended it for approval by the Board;
- evaluated the independence, effectiveness and performance of the function as well as its compliance with its charter;
- considered and satisfied itself that Internal Audit has the necessary resources, budget and appropriate standing within Legal Aid SA;
- approved the Internal Audit Plan and the adjustments thereafter; and
- continuously encouraged co-operation and reliance between Internal and External Audit.

16.3. MANAGEMENT MONTHLY/QUARTERLY REPORTS

Legal Aid SA submitted monthly and quarterly reports to the Executive Authority.

16.4. EVALUATION OF FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

We have reviewed the Annual Financial Statements prepared by Legal Aid SA.

16.5. AUDITOR'S REPORT

We have reviewed Legal Aid SA's implementation plan for audit issues raised in the prior year as stated above and we are satisfied that the matters raised by External Audit have been adequately resolved.

The Audit Committee concurs and accepts the conclusions by the external auditor as articulated in the Annual Financial Statements. We are of the opinion that the audited Annual Financial Statements should be accepted and read together with the report of the Auditor-General.

16.5.1. Integrated Reporting

We recommended the Integrated Annual Report for approval by the Board on the basis of the processes in place, underpinned by the assurance provided by the Internal Audit Function.

In conclusion, nothing came to our attention to indicate any material breakdown of the Legal Aid SA internal control processes, risk management, corporate governance and compliance.

17. B-BBEE COMPLIANCE PERFORMANCE INFORMATION

Table 22: Application of Code of Good Practice

Has the Public Entity applied any relevant Code of Good Practice (B-BBEE Certificate Levels 1 – 8) with regards to the following:
Criteria	Response Yes/No	Discussion (include a discussion on your response and indicate what measures have been taken to comply)
Determining qualification criteria for the issuing of licences, concessions or other authorisations in respect of economic activity in terms of any law?	N/A
Developing and implementing a preferential procurement policy?	Yes	Legal Aid SA's Supply Chain Management Policy is guided by the PPPFA Regulations.
Determining qualification criteria for the sale of state-owned enterprises?	N/A
Developing criteria for entering into partnerships with the private sector?	No	Legal Aid SA does not have such initiatives/programmes.
Determining criteria for the awarding of incentives, grants and investment schemes in support of Broad-based Black Economic Empowerment?	No	Legal Aid SA does not have such initiatives/programmes.

Regarding the status of Legal Aid SA's compliance with the Broad-Based Black Economic Empowerment Act 46 of 2013, the organisation appointed a service provider for the assessment of its B-BBEE status. The appointed service provider is still busy with the assessment and the status will be provided as soon as it is finalised.

PART D SUSTAINABILITY REPORT

1. SUSTAINABILITY REPORT

Legal Aid South Africa incorporated a sustainability focus in its strategic planning framework for 2020-2025, to develop an integrated Strategic Plan that incorporates sustainability. Incorporating sustainability into the business strategy means that sustainability is viewed as a long-term goal and the organisation can address sustainability issues, incrementally working towards the outcome of creating long-term value.

SOCIAL

Access to legal services and advice was provided to indigent and vulnerable persons, adding value to their lives. We ensured that these services were accessible despite the limitations placed by the various COVID-19 lockdown alert levels. Service delivery models employed by the organisation means that all clients who require legal services have access to such services, thus preventing the situation of clients having to go unrepresented in criminal courts.

Vulnerable groups including women, children, land/eviction matters, mental health care users and refugees received legal aid services. Legal services to children are a priority and legal aid was provided to all children requiring assistance; 6,935 in criminal matters in the 2021-2022 financial year, which is an increase of 39% from the previous financial year. Children kept in custody for periods greater than one month were individually tracked to ensure that their matters are prioritised; at the end of the financial year, 21 children were in custody awaiting trial and were all represented by Legal Aid SA. The entity took in 4,751 new civil matters for children. This is 37% more than the number of new matters taken in when compared to the same period in the last financial year. We dealt with 2,009 new deceased estate matters for children; 22% more when compared to the 2020-2021 financial year.

We provided services to specialist and vulnerable groups through our coverage of Sexual Offences Courts and Specialised Commercial Crimes Courts, each of which were assigned dedicated practitioners. All Labour Specialist positions were filled and we took in 918 new labour matters in total. One new refugee matter was undertaken through our Co-operation Partner and we assisted 17 mental health care users.

All legal practitioners are equipped to deal with specialist matters through targeted training programmes. They also have access to electronic libraries/online research platforms, legal research and support in the form of monthly newsletters and regular case updates and mentorship and supervision. There are six discussion fora for knowledge sharing among practitioners in the following areas: Criminal, Civil, Children Civil, Land, Administration of Estates and Labour. These interventions are part of the Quality Monitoring and Intervention Programme and contribute to ensuring quality legal aid services so that clients have confidence in the services received. To assess the quality of legal services, the Legal Quality Assurance Unit conducts independent audits of all categories of practitioners through file audits and court observations. The outcome of file audits and court observations is that all categories of legal practitioners achieved the quality targets, confirming the success of the Quality Monitoring and Intervention Programme.

To assist clients and members of the public who may not qualify for legal aid services, self-help modules for common, less complex legal issues are available on the Legal Aid SA website. One hundred and thirty-eight self-help modules under 20 main legal topics such as drafting of wills and a guide to divorce are available which enabled clients to access legal information and guidance. Usage statistics indicate that the self-help modules on the website received 84,798 views during the year under review.

A stakeholder-based approach is part of the Legal Aid SA sustainability approach. The organisation follows the leading practices aligned to the King IV Report on Corporate Governance, emphasising the critical role of stakeholders in the governance process, particularly stakeholder inclusivity and responsiveness. Stakeholder engagements within the justice cluster enabled Legal Aid SA to advance the interests of the organisation and our clients, as well as contribute to the efficient functioning of the justice system. In managing the COVID-19 pandemic, face-to-face meetings were limited as there was preference for virtual meetings. Through our stakeholder partnerships we also linked with Community Advice Offices, allowing local offices to extend access to civil legal aid services. Local offices maintained links with 101 Community Advice Offices; conducted 269 visits and consulted with 1,264 clients, resulting in 260 files being opened. In order to increase awareness of our services and referrals to Legal Aid SA, local offices maintained links with 918 NGOs, CBOs, FBOs and traditional structures and had 1,248 interactions with these stakeholders. Linkages were also maintained with 918 stakeholders that work with vulnerable groups, through 1,254 interactions.

Detailed information on Stakeholder Engagement follows in Part D, Section 2 of this Integrated Annual Report.

Legal Aid SA provides support to developing legal aid systems, and shares knowledge with legal organisations all over the world.

Due to global restrictions on international travel, we have not had any international exchange visits at Legal Aid SA offices but have hosted two groups virtually. These groups were from Argentina and Chile and the visits focused on general legal aid delivery and quality assurance.

The communication programme implemented throughout the year met the objective of providing education and information concerning legal rights and obligations, as envisaged in the Constitution and the Legal Aid SA Act, thereby managing the Legal Aid SA brand. This programme included branding of prison cells, police stations and courts, outreach programmes, advertising and media interventions and using social media platforms which were particularly useful in providing information to clients given the restrictions in accessing our offices arising from COVID-19.

In addition, general advice services were provided by local and satellite offices, the Legal Aid Advice Line and at correctional centres. General advice was also provided at outreach sites and local offices made 783 visits to community outreach sites and consulted with 1,901 clients during these visits. During the 2021-2022 financial year, 58 civil clinics were held and a total of 4,536 clients/participants attended the clinics.

The Board reviewed and approved the Client Relationship Management Strategy and Plan, aimed at managing the interactions and engagement between employees, clients and the general public. Client satisfaction is monitored through client satisfaction surveys, compliments and complaints received through the Legal Aid Advice Line, through social media and on the website. Complaints received at local offices are recorded and monitored. Feedback from clients assists in assessing and improving services and upholding human rights. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, and the re-allocation of some local office work to the Legal Aid Advice Line, client satisfaction surveys were suspended until February 2022. Since February 2022, a total of 223 civil and 43 criminal client satisfaction surveys were conducted. The overall satisfaction level for civil is 73% and 94% for criminal matters.

Legal Aid SA has a new mandate to provide legal representation in land related matters. The Legal Executive: Land Rights Management was appointed with effect from 1 August 2021. A delivery model for provision of legal representation in land matters was developed, including the staffing structure and budget requirements. The Land Rights Management Unit of Legal Aid SA began operations providing representation in land matters from 5 January 2022.

Regarding the Criminal Justice Review recommendations, all protocols entered into with CJS cluster partners are implemented, as are all the recommendations of the CJS Review Committee. Legal Aid SA provided a total of 19 comments on proposed legislation, the rules of court, the rules and regulations of the Legal Practice Council as well as proposed law reforms.

The COVID-19 Steering Committee formed during the last financial year, including representatives from the two recognised trade unions, continued to operate. Guidelines were continually developed to safeguard the health and safety of staff and review working arrangements. Regular communication regarding operations and daily COVID-19 updates was shared to keep staff abreast about developments in the country. There was a continued focus on employee wellbeing. Staff were equipped with all the tools necessary to facilitate remote working and received ongoing support.

Legal Aid SA strives to be an employer of choice and the Top Employer accreditation received for the 13th consecutive year by the Top Employers Institute provides evidence of the work that is done to maintain those aspects of the human resources function and people management practices that are successful and assess areas that need improvement.

The EVP was reconsidered and enhanced during this period. The Group Life cover was improved with additional cover benefits for Temporary Disability, Permanent Disability and Critical Illness; and Life Cover was doubled from R500,000 to R1 million. The professional services membership fees subsidies were maintained; the Candidate Attorneys' Practical Legal Training and Board Examination Fees were covered in full and the undergraduate bursary funding ceiling was increased by 50%. The Employee Wellness Programme, conducted virtually, focused on various topical issues including health awareness, physical illness in the workplace and financial wellbeing.

The Organisational Culture Programme provided an opportunity to discuss issues such as the impact of COVID-19 on employee engagement, client services management and corporate social responsibility activities. Twelve sessions of vicarious trauma workshops were conducted nationally via virtual platforms.

Training interventions continued through online platforms to respond to the challenges of the pandemic.

The introduction of webinars led to increased attendance of training sessions. E-Learning modules are regularly updated and a database of legal training, legal research and legal support material and automated templates are available to staff. Training interventions ensure that staff have an opportunity to improve competence and expertise as this enables them to provide quality services to clients.

Health and safety measures were in place throughout the financial year and monitored on a quarterly basis for compliance with the Occupational Health and Safety Act. The requisite Committees are in place, inspections reports were compiled, COVID-19 measures were established and complied with including guidelines on the return to work plan. Health and Safety Representatives and COVID-19 Compliance appointments are in place.

Legal Aid SA has 59 employees registered as Small Claims Court Commissioners contributing to the speedy resolution of minor disputes. Through our Asset Disposal Policy, which permits the donation of assets to community organisations that provide access to justice to the indigent, 138 computers were donated during the financial year. Further, we administered a Pro Bono Scheme which encourages practitioners to render pro bono services to indigent and vulnerable communities and 90 new matters were dealt with during this financial year.

Budget cuts have impacted on staffing and recruitment as a moratorium was placed on staff recruitment. As a result, the recruitment target was not met with recruitment at 91.8% against a target of 95%, which is 3.2% lower than the target; the low level of staff turnover (5.2%) is indicative of a stable work environment. Sound labour relations were achieved through a favourable relationship with organised labour and there was a low number of grievances, disciplinary hearings and matters and new labour disputes.

FINANCE AND GOVERNANCE

Strong governance performance included compliance with the PFMA, King IV guidelines and other relevant statutory requirements.

While the Board of Legal Aid SA was not fully constituted at the end of the financial year, it ensured the fulfilment of the mandate of Legal Aid SA through the monitoring of all aspects of the business in the execution of the Strategic Plan. Its role in IT governance and performance included the review and approval of the IT Strategic Plan, Cybersecurity Strategic Plan, IT performance reports and IT investments. The Board continued to monitor the implementation of the electronic Legal Aid Administration (eLAA) system which was enhanced and upgraded to meet business needs.

The Board considered and approved all policies to support risk management, including the Enterprise Risk Management Strategy; Fraud, Corruption and Ethics Management Policy; Risk Appetite and Tolerance Setting as well as the Combined Assurance Framework. The Board reviewed the Combined Risk Registers and Quarterly Risk Watch Reports.

Management completed Risk Control Self-Assessment surveys, the results of which indicated that almost all controls were adequate and effective. The Internal Audit Department assessed risk management as effective. Combined assurance is used to report on assessment of control across all levels of assurance providers. Emerging risks have been identified and relate specifically to the inadequate resourcing of the new Land Rights Management Unit, set up to provide legal representation in land matters.

The Internal Audit Function provided an independent assessment of the effectiveness of controls implemented by Management in the mitigation of organisational risks, as well as compliance and governance processes. The Department completed 110 projects which is 97% achievement of the target of 113 projects for the financial year. An additional three projects, not part of the approved Audit Coverage Plan, were completed. Internal Audit have assessed the overall controls and control environment, financial controls and risk management to be effective for the financial year 2021-2022 and have reported such to the Board.

High ethical standards are upheld and there is therefore a zero tolerance approach towards fraud and corruption and ethical conduct with clients is enforced. Incidents which were reported to the Fraud and Ethics Hotline were investigated and reported to the Board. The Forensic Audit Unit conducted eight Fraud Awareness workshops and issued two publications.

The Business Continuity Plan was reviewed and approved by the Board. Having responded effectively to the disruptions in service delivery brought about by the COVID-19 pandemic in the previous financial year, Legal Aid SA capably continued to monitor and respond to the changes in the environment.

The safety and protection of staff and clients remained a priority while meeting the needs of indigent and vulnerable persons for legal aid services.

High standards in financial management processes and reporting, internal controls and financial risk management controls have been maintained. Financial planning resulted in a balanced MTEF 2022/25 and Budget 2022/23 which were approved by the Board. All financial reporting requirements were met.

Through the review of leading practices in financial management there was a continued focus on the improvement of financial maturity. The Internal Control Framework was reviewed and approved by the Board. The Legal Aid SA budget expenditure for the financial year is 95% which is below the targeted expenditure of 98%. Baseline reductions over the MTEF period have resulted in a cautious approach, given that the budget has been reduced by 15% in the MTEF cycle 2021/22-2024/25.

ENVIRONMENT

Legal Aid SA has an Environmental Policy and Implementation Plan in place to guide the organisation in the administration and management of environmental issues. Training workshops on environmental matters were conducted during the financial year. The COVID-19 pandemic resulted in the use of virtual platforms for meetings, reducing travel costs. The organisation has a fleet of 642 vehicles which enable service delivery across all nine provinces. Carbon emissions from fuel usage was calculated based on fuel usage reports and indicated a 25% increase in carbon emissions when compared to the 2020-2021 financial year. Despite limited usage of air travel there was a 79% increase in carbon emissions expelled through flights. The increase in carbon emissions for the financial year is attributable to changes in lockdown regulations which resulted in staff being able to travel.

Electricity and water consumption decreased as the two teams approach resulted in a reduction in time spent at offices. Electricity consumption measured at the National Office showed a decrease by 34.6%. Measures such as the installation of light motion sensor timers and air-conditioning and heating time switch thermostats assisted in reduction.

The waste material recycling programme continued, in partnership with a company that collects recyclable materials. With staff spending less time at the office, there was a decrease in materials collected when compared with the previous financial year.

Legal Aid SA has demonstrated the ability to be agile during this period of uncertainty and change. The commitment to increase access to justice to positively impact the lives of indigent and vulnerable persons; maintain financial sustainability and retain and develop a competent and ethical workforce enabled us to effectively execute our mandate.

2. STAKEHOLDER ENGAGEMENT 2021-2022

Legal Aid SA accepts the definition of stakeholders as those groups who affect and/or could be affected by the organisation's decisions, activities, products and services and associated performance. The organisation operates within a complex stakeholder landscape involving multiple stakeholders each with distinct types and levels of involvement and with diverse needs and expectations. Engagements and relationship management with stakeholders are geared towards supporting business strategy and operation, enhancing good reputation, improving risk management and building organisational values.

The entity recognises stakeholders as one of its most valuable assets, and, therefore, the relational capital built through the stakeholder engagement process is important in enabling the organisation to stay strategically relevant to its stakeholders and true to its mandate.

To date, the organisation has a vast stakeholder universe which comprises nine stakeholder clusters and several stakeholder types in each cluster.

E) Legal Aid SA provided comments to the South African Law Reform Commission on the papers regarding Marriages, Matrimonial Property, Relocation of Children and the Domestication of the United Nations Convention on the rights of persons with disabilities.	A) Stakeholder concerns about the extent of our criminal legal aid coverage and capacity in courts, e.g., our inability to provide 100% coverage in both DC and RC; the lack of relief capacity, as well as our response to reduced budgets. B) Stakeholder representation on increased civil legal aid services, e.g., civil legal aid services/ consultations at all courts: increased legal services in maintenance matters and domestic violence, and representation for unrepresented civil litigants in the High Courts. C) Stakeholders required input from Legal Aid SA on court directives issued to regulate the operation of courts during lockdown periods, as well as information on how Legal Aid SA would cover courts during these periods. D) Legal representation in land matters. E) Access to civil legal aid in rural areas. F) Lack of communication with civil legal aid clients.	The details of our criminal service delivery were shared with stakeholders, explaining: i. the need to align supply and demand per court room to maintain optimal court coverage levels in light of reduced staffing levels. ii. that the Staff Deployment Programme at courts is aligned to our current capacity. However, due to budget constraints, this may not always be in line with what other court stakeholders require from Legal Aid SA. iii. that our SOPs regarding contingency measures to cover courts in the absence of the regular practitioner were canvassed. iv. the importance of allowing practitioners a day out of court for consultation and preparation to improve the quality of their work. v. statistics which were shared on all children represented by Legal Aid SA. vi. staff deployment plans ensuring that practitioners' preparation days are spread throughout the week. vii. court directives during periods of lockdown. Information was shared on the deployment of our staff to cover courts during lockdown periods. B) Our civil delivery programme was explained: i. The programme was impacted by the Regulations, Directives and Guidelines to limit the spread of COVID-19, but clients could always access the toll-free Legal Aid Advice Line for advice or appointments with legal practitioners. ii. Our policy on maintenance and domestic violence matters has been revised to increase access, especially for the elderly and disabled persons. iii. We introduced a contribution policy in civil matters which will increase access to civil legal aid services for clients who do not meet the parameters of the Means Test but cannot afford the costs of private legal representation. iv. Civil legal aid clinics where prevalent legal issues are addressed, and awareness of legal aid services are communicated, continued in circumstances where we could ensure that clients and staff are protected and adhered to COVID-19 safety measures. C) We are working with the relevant Government departments to understand the legal representation need in land matters to determine how we can respond. D) SO paralegals attend to outreach sites in SOs' coverage areas which are mainly rural, and back-up legal services by civil legal practitioners are made available to the advice offices to extend civil legal services to such areas that are far from our offices, particularly rural areas. E) Legal Aid SA implemented SMS communication functionality to improve communication and the providing of feedback to clients.

PART E HUMAN RESOURCES MANAGEMENT

years as a Top
South Africa

1. OVERVIEW OF HR MATTERS AT THE PUBLIC ENTITY

During the 2021-2022 financial year, Human Resources Management continued to ensure sustainable employment practices and people management despite the continued challenges brought about by the advent of the COVID-19 pandemic and the budgetary constraints experienced by the organisation over the years. Human Resources Management continued to ensure stability in Legal Aid SA's Employee Value Proposition (EVP) regardless, by steadily improving same whilst prioritising the wellness, health and safety of employees. This included key human resources incentives such as performance incentive, employee engagement, cohesion education, training and development in creative ways given the financial constraints and human resources policy developments including adjusted flexible work arrangements. The organisation implemented proactive COVID-19 measures in line with the National Disaster Management Act and the Occupational Health and Safety Act. Human Resources Management also made great and affirmative strides in building and fostering sound individual and collective relations with the two recognised trade unions, SALAWU (South African Lawyers and Workers Union) and SAPTU (South African Parastatals and Tertiary Institutions Union). Although recruitment levels were below target, a satisfactory turnover rate and training and development targets were achieved.

Overall, Human Resources Management strived to continuously add value to the core business and support the organisation in the achievement of its strategic goals.

2. SET HR PRIORITIES FOR THE YEAR UNDER REVIEW AND THE IMPACT OF THESE PRIORITIES

Human Resources Management endeavours to focus on supporting and achieving Legal Aid SA's strategic objectives through a motivated and engaged workforce by improving continually on its EVP to attract and retain talent and skill as well as enhance all other employment practises and ensure sound individual and collective labour relations. Human Resources Management also strives to maintain an organisational culture of continuous self-development, learning and high work performance whilst striking the necessary work-life balance. The health and safety of Legal Aid SA employees is also a priority, particularly in the view of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The key priorities set for the Human Resources Function, over and above maintaining the standard talent management programmes, included maintaining a competitive EVP, ongoing leadership development and high levels of employee engagement all within the context of budget reductions to the cost of employment.

2.1. MAINTAINING A COMPETITIVE EVP

During the 2021-2022 financial year, the entity's Human Resources practises were reviewed against people management leading practises. Legal Aid SA was accredited as a Top Employer South Africa and proudly received the accreditation for the 13th consecutive year. This benchmark provides assurance that the organisation's talent management, leadership, culture and development practises are in keeping with international contemporary leading practice.

In maintaining its commitment to constant improvement in people management practice, Legal Aid SA has continuously benchmarked its human resources policies and practices against the Top Employer standards and those of Innocentrix, an innovation benchmarking organisation.

As part of sustaining the EVP, the entity maintains a healthy and happy workforce in the organisation. The following EVP aspects were reviewed: the prior year's Group Life cover was enhanced with additional cover benefits ranging from Temporary Disability, Permanent Disability, Critical Illness; Life Cover was doubled from R500,000 to R1 million per Life Cover; professional services membership fees subsidies were maintained; Candidate Attorneys' Practical Legal Training and Board Examination Fees were covered in full and the undergraduate bursary funding ceiling was increased by 50% as well. Additionally, the 2019-2020 Performance Bonus was retained at the same rate in recognition of employees' contribution towards the entity's sterling performance.

2.2. LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME

During 2021-2022, leaders were held accountable for reinforcing the organisational culture and for employee engagement. Leaders are being supported to build trust and influence the discourse during organisational culture activities.

Ethical leadership assessment and awareness and client management services activities were conducted to help leaders understand the importance of delivering services efficiently. Ongoing leadership support to ensure that leaders are able to engage with their teams whilst providing direction is essential to employee engagement during moments of uncertainty. Positive, effective leadership helps navigate crises, rebuild teams and forge ahead into innovative and creative spaces.

In 2021-2022, the Legal Aid SA Board had approved the Succession Planning Strategy to drive the Succession Planning Programme. The 9 Box Talent Management Tool continues to be used to identify high performance and potential incumbents for the pool for succession planning. This tool has assisted to ensure a more intentional purpose-directed leadership and succession management approach in the year under review.

2.3. MANAGING EMPLOYEE ENGAGEMENT

Employee engagement is critical to business outcomes and in delivering the organisation's constitutional mandate. Given that Legal Aid SA has largely operated as a hybrid workforce in 2021-2022, the results of an internal engagement survey are extraordinarily positive. Employee satisfaction went up in all dimensions, with an overall organisational score of 82%. In the survey, it was revealed that managers are demonstrating a high standard of work quality and employees were satisfied. Furthermore, more than 79% of employees plan to remain in the employ of the organisation for the next two years. As a result, the staff turnover rate remained at an average of 5% which is well below the industry norm of 10%. Overall, the engagement survey helped in measuring the engagement level of employees as well as expressing objective opinions about the organisation. Internal surveys assist Legal Aid SA to continue growing ambassadorship, and enable its connection between employees, the brand and its impact on society. Additionally, the entity ensured that employees have appropriate platforms and objective support through continuous engagement and collaboration.

2.4. HEALTH AND SAFETY IN VIEW OF COVID-19

During the financial year under review, Legal Aid SA managed the impact of COVID-19 effectively and efficiently. Just over 54% of employees were vaccinated. The COVID-19 Steering Committee monitored and ensured oversight over health and safety risks and adjusted the operational return to work guidelines in line with national legislation and regulations as and when it became necessary. Human Resources Management will continue to facilitate the functioning of this committee and the implementation of the health and safety measures meant to mitigate the risks against any possible outbreak or spread of COVID-19. Various workplace policies and procedures will be reviewed as may be necessary to manage the impact of COVID-19 in the workplace.

The Occupational Health and Safety Act enjoins the organisation to provide and maintain a working environment that is safe and without risks to employees, as far as is reasonably practicable. As such, Legal Aid SA will continue to focus on taking steps that are reasonably practicable to eliminate or mitigate any hazard or potential hazard to the health and safety of employees and all persons including clients who have dealings with the entity. Efforts to disseminate information on COVID-19 to all staff and encourage employees to vaccinate against the pandemic is key to a healthy and safe work environment.

3. WORKFORCE PLANNING FRAMEWORK AND KEY STRATEGIES TO ATTRACT AND RECRUIT A SKILLED AND CAPABLE WORKFORCE

The entity bases its workforce planning framework on a 'practitioner per court' model which is aimed at having dedicated Legal Aid SA practitioners based at courts. In the Magistrate's Courts (District and Regional), the 'practitioner per court' model serves the requirements of providing service at scale, meeting high volume needs. The advantage of the 'practitioner per court' model is that the same practitioner can take on all cases required in a specific court on a specific day. This provides certainty amongst court-based stakeholders as to who the Legal Aid SA service provider is and contributes positively to efficient case flow management.

The organisation's 'practitioner per court' model has a target of achieving $\geq 80\%$ coverage of District Courts and $\geq 90\%$ coverage of Regional Courts. In the 2021-2022 financial year, we achieved our target of 84% coverage of District Courts, however 81% coverage of Regional Courts was achieved which is below target.

In the High Courts, the central diary system provides the opportunity to match each case with the appropriate levels of practitioner skills and ability. Whilst the practitioner per court coverage explained above is the current targeted court coverage, Legal Aid SA strives to improve court coverage, with any improvements in this regard being dependent on additional budget allocations from the National Treasury.

The entity remained reasonably well recruited throughout the year under review with a recruitment rate of 91.8% being recorded as at financial year end against the targeted recruitment of 95%. The recruitment rate was below target due to mitigation measures implemented at points in response to budgetary uncertainty and reductions in the total cost of employment. In so far as civil legal aid is concerned, workforce planning is undertaken based on demand in each Legal Aid SA Local Office coverage area together with the ability of the organisation's capacity to efficiently serve this demand. The workforce planning approach of the support platform is one of continuous improvement and leading practice alignment.

The support services platform continuously refines and develops support models to improve sustainability, efficiency and effectiveness of delivery. Business processes and organisational structures in support departments were reviewed in response to the need to reduce the total cost of employment.

The turnover rate of 5.2% in relation to permanent positions recorded for the 2021-2022 financial year is well within acceptable norms. The key Legal Aid SA attraction and retention strategy is the offering of a viable EVP which is appealing to our knowledge-based workforce both in terms of financial rewards, professional fulfilment, work-life balance and social consciousness in improving the lives of the indigent and vulnerable by providing access to justice.

4. EMPLOYEE PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT FRAMEWORK

The organisational Performance Management Framework has continued to deliver sustainable, holistic and integrated organisational performance. This is because the inclusive Performance Management Policy applies to all permanent employees and contains elements of collective and individual performance which must be delivered within budget and in compliance with organisational rules and policies. Whilst each employee's individual performance is critical, every employee must ensure a team approach to performance so that Legal Aid SA's Business Plan is holistically delivered whilst complying with budgetary and policy frameworks.

The annual revision of the Performance Management Framework provides a comprehensive, continuous and flexible approach to the management of performance in the entity, in a way that recognises achievement, deals with underperformance and reflects good practice at international level. The framework allows Legal Aid SA to calibrate effectively and relevantly within the versatile cultural environment and its challenges, sustaining talent pool identification for critical job positions. The Performance Management Framework also includes aspects aimed at stimulating innovation, exceptional performance beyond agreed deliverables and paradigm changing organisational solutions. In addition, leadership development and performance forms part of the system for all managers.

Each Management employee's performance assessment is weighted as follows:

Key Performance Indicators	60%
Contribution to Strategic Outcomes	20%
Management and Leadership Effectiveness	10%
Engagement with Culture and Values	10%

Each non-Management employee's performance assessment is weighted as follows:

Key Performance Indicators	70%
Contribution to Strategic Outcomes	20%
Engagement with Culture and Values	10%

5. EMPLOYEE WELLNESS PROGRAMME (EWP)

During 2021-2022, we continued to witness the impact that the COVID-19 pandemic had on individuals and the organisation. A goal was set to provide continued support and guidance to all employees during the period through awareness talks and independent counselling services.

Legal Aid SA made employee wellness services available through the in-house Clinical Psychologist as well as an external service provider. These enabled employees to access healthcare professionals on a national level. Employees were assisted in managing both personal and occupational difficulties. The number of employees who utilised employee wellness services throughout the financial year is about 500.

In addition, vicarious trauma training was also provided nationally, via an online platform, to assist legal professionals in gaining an understanding of how being exposed to trauma in criminal cases can have an impact and to find ways of dealing with and managing these trauma symptoms.

Psycho-educative material and wellness talks were also presented on a regular basis to help all employees in improving and managing both physical and mental health. These wellness talks were facilitated by different healthcare professionals and included topics such as awareness on tuberculosis, HIV/AIDS, cancer, men's health, women's health and physical health in the workplace. Numerous COVID-19 vaccination awareness talks were also held to help educate employees on the effectiveness and science of the vaccine.

Legal Aid SA successfully supported employees who suffered from and were affected by mental health struggles and emotional COVID-19 related matters through the well-structured EWP.

6. POLICY DEVELOPMENTS: HIGHLIGHTS, CHALLENGES, FUTURE GOALS

The organisation has benchmarked its human resources practices against the Top Employers Institute standard and is proud that it received Top Employer South Africa accreditation for the 13th consecutive year.

In keeping with its commitment to continuous improvement in people management practices, Legal Aid SA has continuously benchmarked its human resources policies and practices against the Top Employer and Innocentrix standards.

The entity implemented a two teams approach during the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic, however in late 2021 there were declining infection numbers. Employees were requested to move back to 80% operations, and as a result, the reintegration of employees to the workplace was implemented through the EWP team and will be continued.

During the 2021-2022 financial year, training targets were achieved under difficult circumstances. Stable and sound relations existed between Legal Aid SA as an employer and organised labour through structured collective engagement. It was noticed that there was a gradual improvement to the appointment of African Females to leadership positions which augurs well for the Employment Equity Plan 2020-2025. In addition, the Succession Planning Strategy was approved by the Board and is in operation.

The organisation strengthened the EVP by maintaining the Performance Incentive Bonus percentage, Group Life was enhanced with additional benefits and undergraduate bursaries were increased by 50%. An inclusive flexible work arrangement policy and practice for most qualifying employees coupled with the provision of work tools and a cell phone and communication related allowance made both remote and working from the office efficient and effective, thus optimising and embracing technology to meet changing business and work requirements.

6.1. CHALLENGES AND FUTURE GOALS

Budget cuts/constraints because of the economic situation in the country were exacerbated by the advent of the COVID-19 pandemic. At times, impersonal work interactions due to work from home/remote infrastructural and technological limitations impeded optimal work performance management, supervision and control. The change in the behaviour of the COVID-19 pandemic resulting in constant adjustments to the operations during the various alert levels of the national lockdown impacted negatively on service delivery predictability.

The recruitment of persons with disability remains a challenge at 1.6% of a target of 2%. More effort was expended in collaborating with specialised persons with disability recruitment agencies and the development of databases where specific advertisements are sent out to attract candidates in this category.

In forecasting the year ahead, a key priority focus area for Legal Aid SA will be to implement and create a work environment that promotes learning and ethical behaviour. The entity will foster an agile environment where employees will be imparted with skills to adapt to the Volatile, Uncertain, Complex and Ambiguous (VUCA) environment.

These goals will be attained as part of ongoing programmes by prioritising recruitment of human capital as per staffing and equity plans and within available resources; repositioning of the EVP within available resources; repositioning and strengthening of organisational culture; employee engagement to promote sound employee relations; retention of skills; managing performance in a virtual world of work and developing competencies to embrace the Fourth Industrial Revolution.

Leadership strategy will be developed and integrated with the Succession Planning Programme. Additionally, leadership will have to be supported through training and development to manage and lead the transformation agenda whilst maintaining a humanistic work environment. The main pillars of execution going forward will be the persistent execution of programmes, tireless empowerment of Managers and a highly efficient, relevant and contemporary Human Resources Function.

Culture Statement

"Proudly Legal Aid SA... champion of legal rights, serving our clients with compassion, integrity and confidence. Your Voice. For Justice."

Leadership Statement

"Mentor Leaders that have genuine concern for people development and success, leading with integrity, empathy and excellence."

Senior Management positions became vacant towards the end of the financial year under review. The recruitment process is currently underway.

A Candidate Attorney at the Legal Aid SA Vryburg Local Office went the extra mile to help his client get bail. The client was charged with housebreaking and theft. The State opposed his release on bail on the basis that he was homeless and had no fixed address. The practitioner was able to obtain the name of a relative of the client, who lives in the Northern Cape. By searching on Facebook, he was able to locate the relative, who in turn provided the contact details of another relative who lived within the court's jurisdiction. He was then able to give the address of the local relative as the address where the client can be found. The State withdrew its opposition to bail, and our client was released on a warning. He was also reunited with his relatives, who had lost contact with him and did not know his whereabouts.

Phopho v National Police Commissioner, SAPS & Others

Legal Aid SA Labour Legal Practitioner in the Eastern Cape, Ellen van Staden, successfully challenged the dismissal of our client in a strategic litigation matter. In 2011, our client was a police Captain in the employment of the South African Police Services (SAPS) and was convicted of a criminal offence and sentenced to a term of imprisonment. He noted an appeal against the conviction and sentence. However, before he prosecuted his appeal, the SAPS informed him that as a result of him being convicted and sentenced to direct imprisonment without an option of a fine, he is discharged from service. In 2014, our client's conviction and sentence were set aside. He made an application for reinstatement to his position. This application was made after 55 days due to various reasons, among which that he became aware that his appeal was successful and there is no provision in the SAPS Act which provides for condonation for such. The National Commissioner of the SAPS refused to conduct an enquiry to determine whether to reinstate our client on the basis that he lodged the application after the expiry of 30 days. The client, assisted by Ellen van Staden in Gqeberha, took the decision of the National Commissioner of the SAPS to Labour Court on review and to have it set aside. The Labour Court set aside the decision of the SAPS but remitted the matter to the National Commissioner of the SAPS to conduct an enquiry. The National Commissioner appealed, and the client noted a counter appeal to the Labour Appeal Court. The Labour Appeal Court dismissed an appeal by the SAPS and upheld an appeal by our client. The Labour Appeal Court held that the client be reinstated to the rank he was in and ordered the SAPS to backpay his salary and benefits.

The organisation is challenged in meeting its targets for African Females at the Top, Senior and Middle Management levels.

This is being addressed through the 2020-2025 Employment Equity Plan.

The Legal Aid SA Soweto Local Office represented a client who was charged with kidnapping, rape and robbery with aggravating circumstances. The complainant was his ex-wife. The accused was referred for mental observation. He was diagnosed with substance use disorder. However, the panel of psychiatrists unanimously concluded that the accused has no mental illness or intellectual disability and is therefore fit to stand trial. During consultations with our practitioner, the client could not give a chronological sequence of events, was forgetful and would deviate from the topic at hand and discuss unrelated issues such as voices telling him to confess to killings that he had apparently committed a long time ago. The client would also act and behave inappropriately in court while the court was in session. This prompted the attorney to call one of the doctors on the original panel to give evidence regarding the initial report. The doctor conceded under cross-examination that a second observation was called for. This was made an order of court.

2. REPORT OF THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

2.1. GENERAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

The economic outlook of the country and globally remains uncertain, evidenced by the baseline reductions that have been implemented by the National Treasury to enable funding for industries significantly affected by the pandemic. Legal Aid SA's budget has been reduced by 15% in the MTEF cycle 2021/22-2024/25. Despite this, the entity managed to navigate through these dynamic conditions, displaying resilience and commitment to achieving its service delivery targets. To absorb the reductions, Management continues to mature its financial management processes, internal controls and financial risk management controls to ensure effective cost management and compliance with legislation and procurement regulations.

In the last quarter of the financial year, National Treasury issued a moratorium on procurement due to the Constitutional Court judgment on the invalidity of the Procurement Regulations of 2017 which further constrained the ability to finalise procurement against the approved procurement plan. This necessitated the rollover of outstanding procurement to the new financial year.

The National Treasury approved a retention of surplus funds from the prior financial year, and a portion was used to fund the Land Rights Management Facility that transferred from the Department of Agriculture, Land Reform and Rural Development (DALRRD) in the last quarter of the financial year. The retained surplus allowed for the interim establishment of the function and the taking over of matters. The funding for quarter four was received from the DALRRD in April 2022. The function is established within Legal Aid SA and the budget allocation will be received after the Medium Term Budget Policy Statement (January 2023).

2.2. REVENUE COLLECTION

The grant collected was more than the allocation, due to funds received for the Land Rights Management Unit from DALRRD of R33 million, Specialised Commercial Crimes Court (SCCC) of R11 million and the Integrated Justice System for the development of the eLAA system of R3,5 million. The interest income received was higher than budget by 29% due to a higher balance in the bank at each reporting period.

2.3. EXPENDITURE: TRENDS AND CHALLENGES

The entity has managed to spend and commit 95% of the budget which is below the targeted expenditure trend of 98%. The underspending is attributed to Management's conservative spending approach to staffing and contractual obligations longer than the outer year of the MTEF cycle.

Salary and related costs are the main cost driver accounting for 79% of the allocation. The staff rationalisation initiative contributed towards the increase in surplus funds. The amount of R9,4 million not spent on employment costs links to the vacancies in the approved structure. The operational budget is 12% of the allocation and is expended through the procurement of goods or services. The delays in finalising procurement processes and suspension of procurement by the National Treasury resulted in underspending of R60,5 million (16.5%) in the operational budget.

The challenge of acquiring office lease accommodation due to non-responsiveness in the procurement process remains and Legal Aid SA has put measures in place, including occupation of offices in courts through the Department of Justice and Constitutional Development and requesting approval to purchase office buildings in terms of section 54(2)(d) of the PFMA. The Executive Authority has approved the application and the organisation will commence with the procurement in the new financial year. The areas where Legal Aid SA is using the court buildings has been disclosed in the related party notes in the financial statements.

The entity follows the Capital Asset Replacement Programme for the management of assets. The capital budget is 2% of the allocation and R10 million of the budget remains unspent at year end because of global supply chain constraints aggravated by the COVID-19 pandemic and the delay in securing service providers for the refurbishment of newly acquired office accommodation.

Intermittent vehicle fuel prices continue to be a challenge as they continue to increase above the inflation rates. There were however some savings as there was limited travelling in the current year due to lockdown restrictions.

Although this prudent budgeting has worked in the past financial years, it is not sustainable in the long-term.

2.4. ROLLOVER OF FUNDS FROM 2021-2022 FINANCIAL YEAR

The rollover of funding of R13,9 million relates to orders placed but not delivered at year end. The bulk of the rollover relates to motor vehicle and computer hardware and software; delivery has been received in the new financial year.

2.5. ECONOMIC VIABILITY

The organisation understands the budget constraints the country is facing. The shedding of jobs due to the COVID-19 pandemic will increase the demand for legal services, with the consequent impact on the fiscus which is the main source of funding for Legal Aid SA.

Management remains hopeful that the South African economy will recover, and the entity will continue delivering on its constitutional mandate to ensure access justice for all.

2.6. OUTLOOK/PLAN TO ADDRESS FINANCIAL CHALLENGES

Legal Aid SA received the MTEF allocations for 2022/23-2024/25 during the year under review. The allocations included reductions effected over the MTEF period; the budget has been reduced by 15% over the MTEF.

The organisation is expected to reduce compensation to employees by R125 million and goods and services expenditure by R227,6 million over the MTEF period as depicted in the table below.

Table 33: Reductions over the MTEF Period

Description	2022/23 R'000	2023/24 R'000	2024/25 R'000	Total R'000
Compensation of employees	125,076	-	-	125,076
Goods and services	105,759	121,808	-	227,567
	230,835	121,808	-	352,643

The revised baseline after the budget reduction is expected to increase by 5.36% over the MTEF. This is despite the reductions which are only for the 2022/23 and 2023/24 financial years.

Legal Aid SA will continue to implement prudent and cost-effective measures in striving to achieve its strategies and deliver legal services as well as address the challenge of increasing demands for legal aid services in the context of limited funding.

2.7. GOING CONCERN

The Board is of the view that Legal Aid SA will continue to be in operational existence during the 12 months ahead, and therefore the preparation and presentation of the Annual Financial Statements on a going concern basis is considered appropriate.

Legal Aid SA funded the matter of Wilkinson & Another v Crawford NO & Others reported 2021 (4) SA 323 (CC) (judgment delivered on 16 April 2021). This strategic litigation matter developed the law in a deed of trust to include adopted children when providing the interpretation of the Trust Deed. The matter was concerned with the proper interpretation of the words “children”, “descendants”, “issue” and “legal descendants” and whether a court can interpret a private Trust Deed in a manner that is contrary to public policy and that has the effect of discriminating against adopted children in contravention of section 9 of the Constitution.

The facts of this case are as follows: In 1953, at about 28 January, Mr D executed a notarial deed of trust (Trust Deed) wherein clauses 4, 5 and 6 are of relevance in this matter. In clause 4, he (Mr D) identified his children as income beneficiaries of the Trust and upon their death, their respective shares would devolve amongst their children, per stirpes. Clause 5 regulated the duration of the Trust in that it would have to remain in force until a year after Mr D's death if the trust capital had not been applied for the benefit of the beneficiaries. Clause 6 regulated the termination of the Trust Deed, in that the trust capital or balance thereof would be divided equally amongst Mr D's children. If Mr D died before the expiry of the Trust period, it would devolve upon their ‘legal descendants’. About five months later from the date when the notarial deed of trust was executed, Mr D executed a will where he amended clause 5, providing that if Mr D's children died before the termination of the Trust, his or her share would devolve upon his/her ‘descendants’ per stirpes.

In his lifetime, Mr D had four children, three of them had children of their own and one struggled to carry a baby and considered adoption. She even told her father about her consideration to adopt a child/children, but her father told her not to do so in haste as she did not know what the future holds for her. Unfortunately, Mr D died in the same year he executed a notarial deed of trust. After his death, his daughter who struggled to carry a baby decided to adopt two children, Mr D.L.W and Ms A.B.T. After having done so, Mr D's daughter was concerned about the possibility of the adopted children being excluded from inheriting. She decided to approach the High Court seeking a declarator that the impugned clauses in the Trust Deed include her adopted children, alternatively, the Trust Deed be amended in terms of section 13 of the Trust Property Control Act to apply to her adopted children.

The High Court ruled against Mr D's daughter. Amongst the reasons were that if Mr D's intention was to include adopted children in the Trust Deed as he was assisted by lawyers when drafting same, he would have been advised to explicitly do so. The application was dismissed. She appealed to the Supreme Court of Appeal. Unfortunately, she passed on before the Supreme Court of Appeal could deliver a judgment on the matter, and so, her executor pursued the matter. The Supreme Court of Appeal gave a split judgment, with the majority dismissing the appeal and the minority upholding the appeal.

The adopted grandchildren of Mr D took the matter to the Constitutional Court. Legal Aid SA funded this matter at the Constitutional Court. Unfortunately, one adopted child, Mr D.L.W, passed on whilst the matter was pending at the Constitutional Court and was substituted by his executor. The majority judgment at the Constitutional Court held that the matter raised constitutional issues and granted leave to appeal. The majority held that a clear intention to include the applicant's adopted children has not been exhibited by Mr D as required by the 1937 Children's Act, in that the Act requires the testator to clearly convey his intention to include adopted children for them to benefit under the testamentary instrument.

Regarding the interpretation of the words “legal descendants”, the majority held that reading “legal descendants” to be inclusive of adopted children, as required by the proviso, would not accord with the meaning intended by Mr D, in that section 71(2) of the Act requires the testator to do something more for the adopted children to be included. However, the majority judgment considered whether the exclusion constituted unfair discrimination against the adopted children. After having considered the relevant provisions of the Constitution and case law, the majority answered the question in the affirmative and held that the unfair discrimination against adopted children is contrary to public policy and therefore the exclusion is unenforceable. The order of the majority Supreme Court of Appeal was set aside, and the appeal was upheld.

3. Report of the auditor-general to Parliament on Legal Aid South Africa

Report on the audit of the financial statements

Opinion

1. I have audited the financial statements of Legal Aid South Africa set out on pages 159 to 206, which comprise the statement of financial position as at 31 March 2022, statement of financial performance, statement of changes in net assets, cash flow statement and statement of comparison of budget and actual amounts for the year then ended, as well as notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.
2. In my opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Legal Aid South Africa as at 31 March 2022, and its financial performance and cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with the Standards of Generally Recognised Accounting Practice (Standards of GRAP) and the requirements of the Public Finance Management Act 1 of 1999 (PFMA).

Basis for opinion

3. I conducted my audit in accordance with the International Standards on Auditing (ISAs). My responsibilities under those standards are further described in the auditor-general's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of my report.
4. I am independent of the public entity in accordance with the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants' International code of ethics for professional accountants (including International Independence Standards) (IESBA code) as well as other ethical requirements that are relevant to my audit in South Africa. I have fulfilled my other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the IESBA code.
5. I believe that the audit evidence I have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for my opinion.

Responsibilities of the accounting authority for the financial statements

6. The accounting authority is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with the Standards of GRAP and the requirements of the PFMA, and for such internal control as the accounting authority determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.
7. In preparing the financial statements, the accounting authority is responsible for assessing the public entity's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters relating to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the appropriate governance structure either intends to liquidate the public entity or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor-general's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

8. My objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes my opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the ISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.
9. A further description of my responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements is included in the annexure to this auditor's report.

Report on the audit of the annual performance report

Introduction and scope

10. In accordance with the Public Audit Act 25 of 2004 (PAA) and the general notice issued in terms thereof, I have a responsibility to report on the usefulness and reliability of the reported performance information against predetermined objectives for the selected objective presented in the annual performance report. I performed procedures to identify material findings but not to gather evidence to express assurance.

11. My procedures address the usefulness and reliability of the reported performance information, which must be based on the public entity's approved performance planning documents. I have not evaluated the completeness and appropriateness of the performance indicators included in the planning documents. My procedures do not examine whether the actions taken by the public entity enabled service delivery. My procedures do not extend to any disclosures or assertions relating to the extent of achievements in the current year or planned performance strategies and information in respect of future periods that may be included as part of the reported performance information. Accordingly, my findings do not extend to these matters.
12. I evaluated the usefulness and reliability of the reported performance information in accordance with the criteria developed from the performance management and reporting framework, as defined in the general notice, for the following selected objective presented in the public entity's annual performance report for the year ended 31 March 2022:

Objective	Pages in the annual performance report
Objective 1 – Empowered clients and communities making informed choices about their legal matters, rights and responsibilities.	51-52

13. I performed procedures to determine whether the reported performance information was properly presented and whether performance was consistent with the approved performance planning documents. I performed further procedures to determine whether the indicators and related targets were measurable and relevant, and assessed the reliability of the reported performance information to determine whether it was valid, accurate and complete.
14. I did not identify any material findings on the usefulness and reliability of the reported performance information for this objective:
- Objective 1 – Empowered clients and communities making informed choices about their legal matters, rights and responsibilities.

Other matter

15. I draw attention to the matters below.

Achievement of planned targets

16. Refer to the annual performance report on pages 51 to 52 for information on the achievement of planned targets for the year and management's explanations provided for the over and under achievement of targets.

Adjustment of material misstatements

17. I identified material misstatements in the annual performance report submitted for auditing. These material misstatements were in the reported performance information of Objective 1 – Empowered clients and communities making informed choices about their legal matters, rights and responsibilities. As management subsequently corrected the misstatements, I did not raise any material findings on the usefulness and reliability of the reported performance information.

Report on the audit of compliance with legislation

Introduction and scope

18. In accordance with the PAA and the general notice issued in terms thereof, I have a responsibility to report material findings on the public entity's compliance with specific matters in key legislation. I performed procedures to identify findings but not to gather evidence to express assurance.
19. I did not identify any material findings on compliance with the specific matters in key legislation set out in the general notice issued in terms of the PAA.

Other information

20. The accounting authority is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the annual report.
21. The other information does not include the financial statements, the auditor's report and the selected objective presented in the annual performance report that have been specifically reported in this auditor's report.
22. My opinion on the financial statements and findings on the reported performance information and compliance with legislation do not cover the other information and I do not express an audit opinion or any form of assurance conclusion on it.
23. In connection with my audit, my responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements and the selected objective presented in the annual performance report, or my knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.
24. If, based on the work I have performed, I conclude that there is a material misstatement in this other information, I am required to report that fact. I have nothing to report in this regard.

Internal control deficiencies

25. I considered internal control relevant to my audit of the financial statements, reported performance information and compliance with applicable legislation; however, my objective was not to express any form of assurance on it. I did not identify any significant deficiencies in internal control.

Other reports

26. I draw attention to the following engagement conducted by the Public Protector South Africa (PPSA) which had, or could have, an impact on the matters reported in the public entity's financial statements, reported performance information, compliance with applicable legislation and other related matters. This report did not form part of my opinion on the financial statements or my findings on the reported performance information or compliance with legislation.
27. The PPSA performed an investigation into allegations of tender irregularities at Legal Aid South Africa at the request of an anonymous complainant, which covered the 2013-14 financial year. The investigation was concluded in July 2019 and the Public Protector found that Legal Aid South Africa failed to adhere to the constitutional demands of procedural fairness, transparency, lawfulness and reasonableness as envisaged in terms of sections 217 and section 33 of the Constitution when dealing with the appointment of a service provider.
28. Legal Aid South Africa challenged the report of the Public Protector. The application was heard on the unopposed roll on 31 March 2022 and granted that the Public Protector's Report was reviewed and set aside.

Auditor - General

Pretoria
31 July 2022

Annexure – Auditor-general's responsibility for the audit

1. As part of an audit in accordance with the ISAs, I exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout my audit of the financial statements and the procedures performed on reported performance information for selected objective and on the public entity's compliance with respect to the selected subject matters.

Financial statements

2. In addition to my responsibility for the audit of the financial statements as described in this auditor's report, I also:
 - identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error; design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks; and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for my opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations or the override of internal control
 - obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the public entity's internal control
 - evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the accounting authority
 - conclude on the appropriateness of the accounting authority's use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the financial statements. I also conclude, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists relating to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the ability of Legal Aid South Africa to continue as a going concern. If I conclude that a material uncertainty exists, I am required to draw attention in my auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements about the material uncertainty or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify my opinion on the financial statements. My conclusions are based on the information available to me at the date of this auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause a public entity to cease operating as a going concern
 - evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and determine whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation

Communication with those charged with governance

3. I communicate with the accounting authority regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that I identify during my audit.
4. I also provide the accounting authority with a statement that I have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on my independence and, where applicable, actions taken to eliminate threats or safeguards applied.

Notes to the Annual Financial Statements.....	177-206

BOARD RESPONSIBILITY AND APPROVAL

The members are required by the Public Finance Management Act (Act 1 of 1999) to maintain adequate accounting records and are responsible for the content and integrity of the Annual Financial Statements and related financial information included in this report. It is the responsibility of the members to ensure that the Annual Financial Statements fairly present the state of affairs of the entity as at the end of the financial year and the results of its operations and cash flows for the period then ended. The external auditors are engaged to express an independent opinion on the Annual Financial Statements and were given unrestricted access to all financial records and related data.

The Annual Financial Statements have been prepared in accordance with Standards of Generally Recognised Accounting Practice (GRAP) including any interpretations, guidelines and directives issued by the Accounting Standards Board.

The Annual Financial Statements are based upon appropriate accounting policies consistently applied and supported by reasonable and prudent judgments and estimates.

The external auditors are responsible for independently reviewing and reporting on the entity's Annual Financial Statements. The Annual Financial Statements have been examined by the entity's external auditors and their report is presented on page 152.

The Annual Financial Statements set out on pages 156-206, which have been prepared on the going concern basis, were approved by the Board on 30 July 2022 and were signed on its behalf by:

Ms Mantiti Kola
Chief Executive Officer
Legal Aid South Africa

Judge Motsamai Makume
Chairperson
Legal Aid South Africa

REPORT OF THE ACCOUNTING AUTHORITY

The members of the accounting authority present their report for the financial year ended 31 March 2022.

1. INCORPORATION

Legal Aid SA was established on 26 March 1969 in terms of the Legal Aid Act (No. 22 of 1969). The Act was replaced by the new Legal Aid SA Act (No. 39 of 2014) which came into effect on 1 March 2015.

2. REVIEW OF ACTIVITIES

Main business and operations

Legal Aid SA's results are clearly reflected in the attached Annual Financial Statements. No material fact or circumstance has occurred between the accounting date and the date of this report. The entity carries on the business of providing legal services to indigent residents of South Africa utilising State funding. There was no major change in the nature of the business.

3. FINANCIAL RESULTS

The financial statements are prepared in accordance with the Standard of Generally Recognised Accounting Practice (GRAP), as set out in the Accounting Policy. The financial statements fairly present the state of affairs of Legal Aid SA at 31 March 2022, the results of its operations and cash flow information for the quarter then ended. The results of the organisation and the state of its affairs are set out in the attached Annual Financial Statements and do not, in our opinion, require further comments. The financial position of the organisation, which is set out in the Statement of Financial Position, shows it has no borrowings.

4. GOING CONCERN

We draw attention to the fact that at 31 March 2022, Legal Aid SA had an accumulated surplus of R701,608,276 and that the entity's assets exceed its total liabilities by R701,608,276.

The Accounting Authority reviewed Legal Aid SA's budgets and cash flow forecasts for the period under review. On the basis of this review, and in view of the organisation's current sound financial position, the Accounting Authority assesses the organisation's going concern in the year ahead. The Accounting Authority also considered the responsibility of the Minister of Justice and Correctional Services to fund the operations of the organisation as envisaged by the Legal Aid SA Act. Accordingly, the Annual Financial Statements are prepared on a going concern basis based on the Accounting Authority's assessment.

5. SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

The members of the Accounting Authority are not aware of any matter or circumstance arising since the end of the financial year.

6. PROPERTY, PLANT AND EQUIPMENT AND INTANGIBLE ASSETS

There were no major changes in the nature of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets or in the policy regarding their usage during the year. Details are contained in notes 3,4 and 5 of the financial statements.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

1. PRESENTATION OF ANNUAL FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The Annual Financial Statements have been prepared in accordance with the Standards of Generally Recognised Accounting Practice (GRAP), issued by the Accounting Standards Board in accordance with section 91(1) of the Public Finance Management Act (Act 1 of 1999).

These Annual Financial Statements have been prepared on an accrual basis of accounting and are in accordance with historical cost convention as the basis of measurement, unless specified otherwise. They are presented in South African Rands.

Assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses were not offset, except where offsetting is either required or permitted by a Standard of GRAP, when Legal Aid SA has a legal right to set-off the amount and intends to settle on a net basis to realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

A summary of the significant accounting policies, which have been consistently applied in the preparation of these Annual Financial Statements, are disclosed below.

1.1. PRESENTATION CURRENCY

1.2. GOING CONCERN ASSUMPTION

These Annual Financial Statements have been prepared based on the expectation that the entity will continue to operate as a going concern for at least the next 12 months.

1.3. SIGNIFICANT JUDGMENTS AND SOURCES OF ESTIMATION UNCERTAINTY

In preparing the Annual Financial Statements, Management is required to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts represented in the Annual Financial Statements and related disclosures. Use of available information and the application of judgment is inherent in the formation of estimates. Actual results in the future could differ from these estimates which may be material to the Annual Financial Statements. Significant judgments include Judicare provision, impairment of receivables, employee benefits and useful lives and depreciation or amortisation methods and asset impairment.

Other significant judgments, sources of estimation uncertainty and/or relating information have been disclosed in the relating notes.

Trade receivables

The entity assesses its trade receivables for impairment at the end of each reporting period. In determining whether an impairment loss should be recorded in surplus or deficit, the entity makes judgments as to whether there is observable data indicating a measurable decrease in the estimated future cash flows from a financial asset.

Impairment of receivables

Management conducts annual tests to determine whether receivables have suffered any impairment.

Provisions

Provisions were raised and Management determined an estimate based on the information available. Additional disclosure of these estimates of provisions are included in note 12 – Provisions.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Useful lives of tangible and intangible assets

Legal Aid SA's Management determines the estimated useful lives and related depreciation and amortisation charges for the property, plant and equipment and intangible assets. This estimate is based on industry norm. Management will increase the depreciation and amortisation charge where useful lives are less than previously estimated useful lives.

Post-retirement benefits

The present value of the post-retirement obligation depends on a number of factors that are determined on an actuarial basis using a number of assumptions. The assumptions used in determining the net cost (income) include the discount rate. Any changes in these assumptions will impact on the carrying amount of post-retirement obligations.

The entity determines the appropriate discount rate at the end of each year. This is the interest rate that should be used to determine the present value of estimated future cash outflows expected to be required to settle the pension obligations. In determining the appropriate discount rate, the entity considers the interest rates of high-quality corporate bonds that are denominated in the currency in which the benefits will be paid, and that have terms to maturity approximating the terms of the related pension liability.

Other key assumptions for pension obligations are based on current market conditions. Additional information is disclosed in note 10.

Allowance for doubtful debts

On debtors an impairment loss is recognised in surplus and deficit when there is objective evidence that it is impaired. The impairment is measured as the difference between the debtors' carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows discounted at the effective interest rate, computed at initial recognition.

Depreciation and amortisation

During each financial year, Management reviews property, plant and equipment and intangible assets to assess whether the useful lives and residual values applicable to each asset are appropriate. At the end of each financial year, Management assesses whether there is any indication that Legal Aid SA's expectations about the residual value and the useful life of assets included in property, plant and equipment have changed since the preceding reporting date.

1.4. PROPERTY, PLANT AND EQUIPMENT

Property, plant and equipment are tangible non-current assets that are held for use in the production or supply of goods or services, rental to others, or for administrative purposes, and are expected to be used during more than one period.

The cost of an item of property, plant and equipment is recognised as an asset when:

- it is probable that future economic benefits or service potential associated with the item will flow to the entity; and
- the cost of the item can be measured reliably.

Property, plant and equipment is initially measured at cost.

The cost of an item of property, plant and equipment is the purchase price and other costs attributable to bring the asset to the location and condition necessary for it to be capable of operating in the manner intended by Management. Trade discounts and rebates are deducted in arriving at the cost.

Where an item of property, plant and equipment is acquired in exchange for a non-monetary asset or monetary assets, or a combination of monetary and non-monetary assets, the asset acquired is initially measured at fair value (the cost). If the acquired item's fair value was not determinable, its deemed cost is the carrying amount of the asset(s) given up.

Property, plant and equipment is carried at cost less accumulated depreciation and any impairment losses, except for land which is carried at revalued amounts.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Property, plant and equipment are depreciated on the straight-line basis over their expected useful lives to their estimated residual value.

Item	%	Average Useful Life
Land	0	Infinite
Buildings	4%	25 years
Furniture and equipment	6.67% - 20%	5 to 15 years
Motor vehicles	11.1%	9 years
Computer equipment	10% - 20%	5 to 10 years
Leasehold improvements	Lease term	Lease term
Building improvements	6.67%	15 years
Fittings and fixtures	5%	20 years

The depreciable amount of an asset is allocated on a systematic basis over its useful life.

Each part of an item of property, plant and equipment with a cost that is significant in relation to the total cost of the item is depreciated separately.

The depreciation method used reflects the pattern in which the asset's future economic benefits or service potential are expected to be consumed by the entity. The depreciation method applied to an asset is reviewed at least at each reporting date and, if there has been a significant change in the expected pattern of consumption of the future economic benefits or service potential embodied in the asset, the method is changed to reflect the changed pattern. Such a change is accounted for as a change in an accounting estimate.

The entity assesses at each reporting date whether there is any indication that the entity's expectations about the residual value and the useful life of an asset have changed since the preceding reporting date. If any such indication exists, the entity revises the expected useful life and/or residual value accordingly. The change is accounted for as a change in an accounting estimate.

The depreciation charge for each period is recognised in surplus or deficit unless it is included in the carrying amount of another asset.

Items of property, plant and equipment are derecognised when the asset is disposed of or when there are no further economic benefits or service potential expected from the use of the asset.

The gain or loss arising from the derecognition of an item of property, plant and equipment is included in surplus or deficit when the item is derecognised. The gain or loss arising from the derecognition of an item of property, plant and equipment is determined as the difference between the net disposal proceeds, if any, and the carrying amount of the item.

Subsequent expenditure incurred on items of property, plant and equipment is only capitalised to the extent that such expenditure enhances the value or previous capacity of those assets. Repairs and maintenance not deemed to enhance the economic benefits or service potential of items of property, plant and equipment are charged to the Statement of Financial Performance during the period in which they are incurred. The entity separately discloses expenditure to repair and maintain property, plant and equipment in the notes to the financial statements (see note 3).

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

1.5. INTANGIBLE ASSETS

An asset is identifiable if it either:

- is separable, i.e., is capable of being separated or divided from an entity and sold, transferred, licensed, rented or exchanged, either individually or together with a related contract, identifiable assets or liability, regardless of whether the entity intends to do so; or
- arises from binding arrangements (including rights from contracts), regardless of whether those rights are transferable or separable from the entity or from other rights and obligations.

Intangible assets consist of computer software and are defined as an identifiable non-monetary asset without physical substance.

An intangible asset is recognised when:

- it is probable that the expected future economic benefits or service potential attributable to the asset will flow to the entity; and
- the cost or fair value of the asset can be measured reliably.

The entity assesses the probability of expected future economic benefits or service potential using reasonable and supportable assumptions that represent Management's best estimate of the set of economic conditions that will exist over the useful life of the asset.

Where an intangible asset is acquired through a non-exchange transaction, its initial cost at the date of acquisition is measured at its fair value as at that date.

Expenditure on research (or on the research phase of an internal project) is recognised as an expense when it is incurred.

Cost includes the purchase price, all developmental costs incurred in preparing the intangible asset to be ready for use, less discounts received on acquisition including service costs. Intangible assets are carried at cost less any accumulated amortisation and any impairment losses.

An intangible asset is regarded as having an indefinite useful life when, based on all relevant factors, there is no foreseeable limit to the period over which the asset is expected to generate net cash inflows or service potential. Amortisation is not provided for these intangible assets, but they are tested for impairment annually and whenever there is an indication that the asset may be impaired. For all other intangible assets, amortisation is provided on a straight-line basis over their useful life.

The amortisation period and the amortisation method for intangible assets are reviewed at each reporting date.

Reassessing the useful life of an intangible asset with a finite useful life after it was classified as indefinite is an indicator that the asset may be impaired. As a result, the asset is tested for impairment and the remaining carrying amount is amortised over its useful life.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Amortisation is provided to write down the intangible assets, on a straight-line basis, to their residual values as follows:

Item	Depreciation Method	Average Useful Life
Computer software	Straight-line	1 year to indefinite

1.6. LEASED ASSETS

Leased assets are property (land or a building – or part of a building – or both) held to earn rentals or for capital appreciation or both, rather than for administrative purposes.

A lease is classified as a finance lease if it transfers substantially all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership. A lease is classified as an operating lease if it does not transfer substantially all the risks and rewards to ownership.

Finance leases – lessee

Finance leases are recognised as assets and liabilities in the Statement of Financial Position at amounts equal to the fair value of the leased property, or if lower, the present value of the minimum lease payments. Finance lease payments are apportioned between the capital and the interest portions.

The corresponding liability to the lessor is included in the Statement of Financial Position as a finance lease obligation. The interest is expensed in the Statement of Financial Performance and allocated to each period during the lease term so as to produce a constant periodic rate of the remaining balance of the liability.

The lease assets are depreciated over the lease period. The present value of the minimum lease payments is calculated at the net present value based on the applicable prime rate at the reporting date. The minimum lease payments are apportioned between the finance charge and the reduction of the outstanding liability, the discount rate for the calculation of the present value of minimum lease payments 1.4%.

The finance lease obligations are derecognised when Legal Aid SA's obligation to settle the liability is extinguished. The assets capitalised under the finance lease are derecognised when the entity no longer expects any economic benefits or service potential to flow from the asset.

Operating leases

Operating lease payments are straight lined and recognised as an expense over the period of the lease in the Statement of Financial Performance. The difference between the amounts recognised as an expense and contractual payments is recognised as an operating lease asset or liability. The operating lease commitments are disclosed in the notes to the financial statements.

The operating lease liabilities are derecognised when Legal Aid SA's obligation to settle the liability is extinguished. The operating lease assets are derecognised when the entity no longer anticipates any economic benefits or service potential to flow from the asset.

1.7. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

A financial instrument is any contract that gives rise to a financial asset of one entity and a financial liability or a residual interest of another entity.

Credit risk is the risk that one party to a financial instrument will cause a financial loss for the other party by failing to discharge an obligation.

Currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The effective interest method is a method of calculating the amortised cost of a financial asset or a financial liability (or group of financial assets or financial liabilities) and of allocating the interest income or interest expense over the relevant period. The effective interest rate is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash payments or receipts through the expected life of the financial instrument, or when appropriate, a shorter period to the net carrying amount of the financial asset or financial liability. When calculating the effective interest rate, an entity shall estimate cash flows considering all contractual terms of the financial instrument (for example, prepayment, call and similar options) but shall not consider future credit losses. The calculation includes all fees and points paid or received between parties to the contract that are an integral part of the effective interest rate (see the Standard of GRAP on Revenue from Exchange Transactions), transaction costs, and all other premiums or discounts. There is a presumption that the cash flows and the expected life of a group of similar financial instruments can be estimated reliably. However, in those rare cases when it is not possible to reliably estimate the cash flows or the expected life of a financial instrument (or group of financial instruments), the entity shall use the contractual cash flows over the full contractual term of the financial instrument (or group of financial instruments).

A financial asset is:

- cash;
- a residual interest of another entity; or
- a contractual right to:
 - receive cash or another financial asset from another entity; or
 - exchange financial assets or financial liabilities with another entity under conditions that are potentially favourable to the entity.

A financial liability is any liability that is a contractual obligation to:

- deliver cash or another financial asset to another entity; or
- exchange financial assets or financial liabilities under conditions that are potentially unfavourable to the entity.

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates.

Liquidity risk is the risk encountered by an entity in the event of difficulty in meeting obligations associated with financial liabilities that are settled by delivering cash or another financial asset.

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk comprises three types of risk: currency risk, interest rate risk and other price risk.

Initial recognition and measurement

Financial instruments are recognised on the Statement of Financial Position when Legal Aid SA becomes party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. Financial instruments include cash and cash equivalents, trade and other receivables and trade and other payables. Financial assets and liabilities are recognised initially at fair value plus transaction costs, except for those financial instruments that are classified at fair value through profit or loss. In the case of financial assets or liabilities not classified at fair value through the Statement of Financial Performance, transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of the financial instrument are added to the fair value. Financial assets are derecognised if the entity's contractual rights to the cash flows from the financial assets expire or if Legal Aid SA transfers the financial assets to another party without retaining control or substantially all risks and rewards of the asset. Financial liabilities are derecognised if the entity's obligations specified in the contract expire or are discharged or cancelled.

Fair value is the amount for which an asset could be exchanged, or a liability settled, between knowledgeable willing parties in an arm's length transaction.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The financial instruments at Legal Aid SA are currently classified as Financial Instruments at Amortised Cost and are detailed as follows:

Trade and other receivables

- Trade and other receivables are initially measured at fair value, and subsequently measured at amortised cost. Appropriate allowances for estimated irrecoverable amounts are recognised in surplus or deficit when there is objective evidence that not all amounts due will be collected according to original terms of receivables. Significant financial difficulties of the debtor, probability that the debtor will default or delinquency in payments are considered indicators that the receivable is impaired.
- An estimate of doubtful debts is made based on a review of all outstanding individual amounts at statement of position date. The allowance recognised is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows discounted at the effective interest rate.
- The Accounting Authority writes off irrecoverable debts in accordance with Treasury Regulations 11.4.1(a) and (b) after having taken the necessary steps to recover the debt.
- Receivables included in the Statement of Financial Position arise from staff debtors, duplicate Judicare travel claims by practitioners, normal Judicare debtors and other debtors.

Cash and cash equivalents

- Cash and cash equivalents comprise balances in the current and call investment accounts and the cash on hand. Cash and cash equivalents are initially recorded at fair value.
- Deposits held on call and investments are classified as financial assets at amortised cost. Due to the short-term nature of these instruments, the amortised cost approximates its fair value.

Trade and other payables

- Trade and other payables are initially measured at fair value, using the effective interest rate method.
- Trade and other payables are classified as financial liabilities at amortised cost.

Derecognition of financial instruments

- Financial assets are derecognised when the entity loses control of the contractual rights that comprise the financial assets. Legal Aid SA loses such control if rights to benefits specified in the contract are realised, the rights expire or the entity surrenders those rights. Financial liabilities are derecognised when the obligation is discharged, cancelled or expires.

Classification

The entity has the following types of financial assets (classes and category) as reflected on the face of the Statement of Financial Position or in the notes thereto:

Class	Category
Cash and cash equivalents	Financial asset measured at amortised cost
Receivables from exchange transactions	Financial asset measured at amortised cost
Deposits	Financial asset measured at amortised cost
Client trust	Financial asset measured at amortised cost

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The entity has the following types of financial liabilities (classes and category) as reflected on the face of the Statement of Financial Position or in the notes thereto:

Class	Category
Payables from exchange transactions	Financial liability measured at amortised cost
Deposits	Financial liability measured at amortised cost
Client trust	Financial liability measured at amortised cost
Finance lease obligation	Financial liability measured at amortised cost

1.8. IMPAIRMENT OF NON-CASH-GENERATING ASSETS

Cash-generating assets are assets used with the objective of generating a commercial return. Commercial return means that positive cash flows are expected to be significantly higher than the cost of the asset.

Non-cash-generating assets are assets other than cash-generating assets.

Impairment is a loss in the future economic benefits or service potential of an asset, over and above the systematic recognition of the loss of the asset's future economic benefits or service potential through depreciation (amortisation).

Legal Aid SA's property, plant and equipment including intangible assets are classified as non-cash generating assets, as they are not used to generate profit but to provide legal services.

The non-cash generating assets are assessed at each reporting date to determine if there is any indication that the assets are impaired. If there is an indication that the asset may be impaired, the recoverable service amount is estimated for the individual asset. The recoverable service amount of an asset is the higher of its fair value less cost to sell and its value in use. If the recoverable service amount of an asset is less than its cost less accumulated depreciation or amortisation, the impairment loss is recognised immediately in surplus or deficit.

Intangible assets with an indefinite useful life and intangible assets under development are assessed for impairment at each reporting date.

At each reporting date, the entity assesses whether there is an indication that an impairment loss recognised in prior periods for assets may no longer exist or may have decreased. If any indication exists, the recoverable service amounts of those assets are estimated. The increased carrying amount of assets attributable to a reversal of an impairment loss does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognised for assets in the prior years. A reversal of an impairment loss of assets carried at cost less accumulated depreciation or amortisation is recognised immediately in surplus or deficit.

1.9. PREPAYMENTS

Prepayments are payments made in advance for services or goods that have not been delivered, for which Legal Aid SA expects the delivery in the next financial period. Prepayments are recognised as current assets and are not discounted as the discounting effect thereof is considered immaterial.

1.10. CLIENT TRUST FUND

These constitute amounts received from estates late and settlements reached in civil matters. These amounts are payable to recipients based on court settlement orders and/or heirs, legatees or other claimants in estate matters.

1.11. DEPOSITS

These constitute amounts held by landlords for the various buildings leased by the entity, and travel agencies. Deposits are recorded at fair value.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

1.12. EMPLOYEE BENEFITS

Employee benefits are all forms of consideration given by an entity in exchange for service rendered by employees.

Short-term employee benefits

The cost of short-term employee benefits (those payable within 12 months after the service is rendered, such as paid vacation leave, sick leave, bonuses and non-monetary benefits such as medical care) are recognised in the period in which the service is rendered and are not discounted.

The expected cost of compensation for absences is recognised as an expense as the employees render services that increase their entitlement, or in the case of non-accumulating absences, when the absence occurs. Legal Aid SA recognises the expected cost of bonus, incentive and performance-related payments when the entity has a present legal or constructive obligation to make such payments as a result of past events and a reliable estimate of the obligation can be made. A present obligation exists when Legal Aid SA has no realistic alternative but to make the payments.

Employee entitlements to annual leave are recognised when they accrue to employees. An accrual, based on total employment cost, is raised for the estimated liabilities as a result of services rendered by employees up to reporting date.

Defined contribution plans

Legal Aid SA has a defined contribution plan, where contributions are made to a separately administered fund. The fund is administered under the control of the National Government. The National Treasury stands as guarantor for any shortfall that the fund may experience.

Existing employees

Past service costs, experience adjustments, the effects of changes in actuarial assumptions and the effects of plan amendments in respect of existing employees in a defined contribution plan are recognised as an expense or as income systematically over the expected average remaining working lives of those employees (except in the case of certain plan amendments where the use of a shorter time year is necessary to reflect the receipt of economic benefits by the entity).

Plan terminations, curtailments and settlements

When it is probable that a defined contribution plan will be terminated or that there will be a curtailment or settlement of the retirement benefits payable under that plan,

- any resulting increase in the retirement benefit cost is recognised as an expense immediately; and
- any resulting gain is recognised as income in the year in which the termination, curtailment or settlement occurs.

Post-retirement medical benefit

The defined benefit obligation, the related current cost, and where applicable, past service costs are determined by using the Projected Unit Credit Method. A portion of the actuarial gains and losses is recognised as income or expense in the year it occurs.

Unvested past service cost is recognised as an expense on the straight-line basis over the average year until the benefits become vested, while vested past service costs are recognised as an expense in the Statement of Financial Performance.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

1.13. PROVISIONS

Provisions are recognised when:

- the entity has a present obligation as a result of a past event;
- it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits or service potential will be required to settle the obligation; and
- a reliable estimate can be made of the obligation.

The amount of a provision is the best estimate of the expenditure expected to be required to settle the present obligation at the reporting date.

Provisions are reviewed at each reporting date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimate. Provisions are reversed if it is no longer probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits or service potential will be required to settle the obligation.

Provisions are recognised when Legal Aid SA has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of past events; it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation, and a reliable estimate of the amount of the obligation can be made. These provisions are raised based on Management's determined estimate using information available and represent the best estimate expected to be required to settle the present obligation at the reporting date. Other provisions of the entity are short-term in nature and thus ignore the effects of discounting.

Where the effect of time value of money is material, the amount of a provision is the present value of the expenditures expected to be required to settle the obligation. The discount rate is a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the liability.

Provisions are reviewed at each reporting date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimate. Provisions are reversed if it is no longer probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits or service potential will be required to settle the obligation. A provision is used only for expenditures for which the provision was originally recognised. Provisions are not recognised for future operating deficits.

Judicare provision

Judicare provisions are recognised when Legal Aid SA has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of past events, for which it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required.

In the process of applying the Accounting Authority's accounting policies, Management has made the following judgment that has the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements:

- The calculation for this provision is based on reviewing actual payments for matters over a minimum period of five (5) financial years and adjusting all payments made during this period to their present value. Management thereafter determines the percentage of case activities that is completed per month for each matter and/or court type, up to a maximum of 36 months. This information is then used to determine the provision amount for each pending matter based on its age and the cost per case of the matter.

Corporate litigation

Corporate litigation is provided for legal matters where it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and the amount can be reliably measured.

1.14. CONTINGENT LIABILITIES

Contingent liabilities are possible obligations that arise from past events and whose existence will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within control of Legal Aid SA, or a present obligation that is not recognised because the outflow of economic benefits or service potential is not probable and/or a real present obligation that may not be recognised, either because the timing or the measurement is not known. Contingent liabilities are only disclosed in the notes to the Annual Financial Statements.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

1.15. COMMITMENTS

Items are classified as commitments when an entity has committed itself to future transactions that will normally result in the outflow of cash.

Commitments are disclosed at cost in the notes to the financial statements when there is a contractual arrangement or an approval by Management in a manner that raises a valid expectation that the entity will discharge its responsibilities, thereby incurring future expenditure that will result in the outflow of cash. Commitments are not recognised in the Statement of Financial Position but are disclosed in the notes to the Annual Financial Statements.

1.16. REVENUE FROM EXCHANGE TRANSACTIONS

Revenue is the gross inflow of economic benefits or service potential during the reporting period when those inflows result in an increase in net assets, other than increases relating to contributions from owners.

An exchange transaction is one in which the entity receives assets or services, or has liabilities extinguished, and directly gives approximately equal value (primarily in the form of goods, services or use of assets) to the other party in exchange.

Fair value is the amount for which an asset could be exchanged, or a liability settled, between knowledgeable, willing parties in an arm's length transaction.

Measurement

Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable, net of trade discounts and volume rebates.

Other income

The entity receives occasional income by way of a share in awards made to clients in civil matters as well as receiving cost awards, and income from disposed assets sold to staff. Due to the nature of services as well as the prospect of appeals, Legal Aid SA only recognises this income as soon as it is awarded to it.

Interest income

Interest is recognised on a time proportion basis that takes into account the effective yield on cash and cash equivalent.

1.17. REVENUE FROM NON-EXCHANGE TRANSACTIONS

Non-exchange transactions are transactions that are not exchange transactions. In a non-exchange transaction, Legal Aid SA either receives value from another entity without directly giving approximately equal value in exchange or gives value to another entity without directly receiving approximately equal value in exchange.

Recognition

An inflow of resources from a non-exchange transaction recognised as an asset is recognised as revenue, except to the extent that a liability is also recognised in respect of the same inflow.

As the entity satisfies a present obligation recognised as a liability in respect of an inflow of resources from a non-exchange transaction recognised as an asset, it reduces the carrying amount of the liability recognised and recognises an amount of revenue equal to that reduction.

Government grant

Legal Aid SA receives an unconditional Government grant from the Department of Justice and Constitutional Development. The Government grant is recognised in the period when it becomes receivable.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Services in-kind

Where services in-kind are not significant to Legal Aid SA's operations and/or service delivery objectives and/or do not satisfy the criteria for recognition, the entity discloses the nature and type of services in-kind received during the reporting period.

The entity recognises services in-kind that are significant to its operations and/or service delivery objectives as assets and recognise the related revenue when it is probable that the future economic benefits or service potential will flow to the entity and the fair value of the assets can be measured reliably.

1.18. FINANCE COSTS

Finance costs are charges incurred by the entity in connection with the finance lease liability. Finance costs are recognised as an expense in the period in which they are incurred.

1.19. TRANSLATION OF FOREIGN CURRENCIES

Foreign currency transactions

A foreign currency transaction is recorded, on initial recognition in Rands, by applying to the foreign currency amount the spot exchange rate between the functional currency and the foreign currency at the date of the transaction.

Exchange differences arising on the settlement of monetary items or on translating monetary items at rates different from those at which they were translated on initial recognition during the period or in previous Annual Financial Statements are recognised in surplus or deficit in the period in which they arise.

1.20. TAX

No provision is made for taxation as Legal Aid SA is exempt in terms of section 10(1)(CA) of the Income Tax Act.

1.21. MATERIALITY

Section 55(2) of the PFMA specifies components of the financial statements that have to take into account tolerance levels both in terms of financial, non-financial and disclosure of specific information such that it enables the Executive Authority to effectively perform their fiduciary duties. The entity has an approved framework of acceptable levels of materiality and significance.

1.22. CASH FLOW

The Cash Flow Statement is prepared in accordance with the direct method. Specific information has been presented separately on the Statement of Financial Position, such as:

- Receivables from exchange transactions.
- Trade and other payables from non-exchange transactions.

1.23. BUDGET INFORMATION

Entities are typically subject to budgetary limits in the form of appropriations or budget authorisations (or equivalent), which is given effect through authorising legislation, appropriation or similar.

General purpose financial reporting by an entity shall provide information on whether resources were obtained and used in accordance with the legally adopted budget.

The approved budget is prepared on a cash basis and presented by economic classification linked to performance outcome objectives.

The approved budget covers the fiscal period from 1 April 2021 to 31 March 2022.

The budget for the economic entity includes all the entities' approved budgets under its control.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Annual Financial Statements and the budget are on the same basis of accounting, therefore a comparison with the budgeted amounts for the reporting period have been included in the Statement of Comparison of Budget and Actual Amounts.

1.24. IRREGULAR EXPENDITURE

Irregular expenditure means expenditure other than unauthorised expenditure, incurred in contravention of, or that is not in accordance with the requirements of any applicable legislation from the definition in the PFMA.

All expenditure relating to irregular expenditure is recognised as an expense in the Statement of Financial Performance in the period that the expenditure was incurred.

Irregular expenditure is recorded in the notes to the financial statements when confirmed. The amount recorded is equal to the value of the irregular expenditure incurred unless it is impracticable to determine, in which case reasons therefore are provided in the note.

Irregular expenditure is removed from the note when it is either condoned by the relevant authority, transferred to receivables for recovery or is not condoned and is not recoverable.

Irregular expenditure receivables are measured at the amount that is expected to be recoverable and are derecognised when settled or subsequently written off as irrecoverable.

1.25. FRUITLESS AND WASTEFUL EXPENDITURE

Fruitless expenditure means expenditure which was made in vain and would have been avoided had reasonable care been exercised.

All expenditure relating to fruitless and wasteful expenditure is recognised as an expense in the Statement of Financial Performance in the period that the expenditure was incurred.

Fruitless and wasteful expenditure is recorded in the notes to the financial statements when confirmed. The amount recorded is equal to the total value of the fruitless and/or wasteful expenditure incurred.

Fruitless and wasteful expenditure is removed from the notes to the financial statements when it is resolved or transferred to receivables for recovery.

Fruitless and wasteful expenditure receivables are measured at the amount that is expected to be recoverable and are derecognised when settled or subsequently written off as irrecoverable.

1.26. RELATED PARTIES

A related party is a person or an entity with the ability to control or jointly control the other party, or exercise significant influence over the other party, or vice versa, or an entity that is subject to common control, or joint control.

A related party transaction is a transfer of resources, services or obligations between the reporting entity and a related party, regardless of whether a price is charged.

Close members of the family of a person are those family members who may be expected to influence or be influenced by that person in their dealings with the entity.

All payments to Executive Management and non-executive members of Legal Aid SA are disclosed as related party transactions. Transactions with State-Controlled Organisations falling under the definition of control or significant influence which occurs other than in accordance with operating parameters established are disclosed separately in the notes to the financial statements.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

1.27. EVENTS AFTER REPORTING DATE

Events after reporting date are those events, both favourable and unfavourable, that occur between the reporting date and the date when the financial statements are authorised for issue. Two types of events can be identified:

- those that provide evidence of conditions that existed at the reporting date (adjusting events after the reporting date); and
- those that are indicative of conditions that arose after the reporting date (non-adjusting events after the reporting date).

Legal Aid SA will adjust the amount recognised in the financial statements to reflect adjusting events after the reporting date once the event occurred.

Legal Aid SA will disclose the nature of the event and an estimate of its financial effect or a statement that such estimate cannot be made in respect of all material non-adjusting events, where non-disclosure could influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of the financial statements.

1.28. CHANGES IN ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES

Change in estimates is an adjustment of the carrying amount of an asset or a liability, or the amount of the periodic consumption of an asset, that results from the assessment of the present status of, and expected future benefits and obligations associated with assets and liabilities. Changes in accounting estimates result from new information or new developments and accordingly are not corrections of errors. The nature and amount of a change in an accounting estimate that has an effect in the current period is disclosed in the notes. Changes in accounting estimates are accounted for prospectively.

1.29. BUDGET

Legal Aid SA prepares its annual budget on a cash basis in terms of the PFMA and the National Treasury Medium Term Expenditure Framework Guidelines issued annually. The budget is approved by the Accounting Authority before the commencement of the new financial year. The Statement of Financial Performance is prepared on an accrual basis.

1.30. COMPARATIVE FIGURES

Where necessary, comparative figures have been reclassified to conform to changes in presentation in the current year.

	36,233,096	5,608,613

Included in the trade and other receivables is an amount of R11,946,320 relating to Judicare duplicate travel claims raised from 2004-2005 to date.

NOTES TO THE ANNUAL FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

An additional grant amounting to R33,000,000 relates to the Land Rights Management Unit, received from the Department of Agriculture, Land Reform and Rural Development.

Credit quality of trade and other receivables

Credit risk arises mainly from receivables and cash and cash equivalents. Legal Aid SA's exposure to credit risk arises because of default of counterparties with maximum exposure equal to the carrying amount of these instruments:

Groups	March 2022	March 2021
Group 1	646,639	4,629,837
Group 2	1,258,142	638,802

Group 4	12,092,026	11,980,113
	47,179,416	17,296,077

Group 1 – Staff debtors outstanding for less than 90 days and with no defaults; these largely comprise of membership fees.

Group 2 – Other staff debtors outstanding for more than 90 days and with no defaults.

Group 3 – Existing debtors outstanding.

Group 4 – Judicare and other legal debtors outstanding for more than 90 days and handed over for collection.

The total gross carrying amount of the impaired receivables as at reporting date is R47,179,416 (March 2021: R17,296,077) and the associated total impairment is R10,946,320 (March 2021: R11,687,463). The recovery of R10,740,176 (March 2021: R10,640,893) has been handed over for collection.

Receivables from exchange transactions past due but not impaired

Trade and other receivables which are less than three months past due are not considered to be impaired. At 31 March 2022, R36,233,096 (2021: R5,608,613) was past due but not impaired.

Other receivables which are past due for more than three months but not impaired were assessed in line with GRAP 104 and the resultant impairment on the gross account receivables amounted to R10,946,320 (2021: R11,687,464).

The aging of amounts past due but not impaired is as follows:	March 2022	March 2021
1 month past due	33,206,193	4,461,331
3-6 months past due	1,142,531	807,307

10. EMPLOYEE BENEFIT OBLIGATIONS

Defined benefit plan

Post-retirement medical aid plan

Legal Aid SA contributes to a medical aid scheme for certain retired employees. The liability for future contributions to the scheme in respect of three retirees was actuarially valued at year end. The scheme is valued every three years.

Legal Aid SA provided for the payment of medical aid for retired employees. This practise has ceased; however, a contractual obligation exists for certain employees who retired with this condition. It is anticipated that these amounts will be paid out over the remaining lives of these pensioners.

NOTES TO THE ANNUAL FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Pension benefits

Defined contribution plan

Legal Aid SA has a defined contribution plan, where contributions are made to a separately administered fund. The plan is governed by the Associated Institutions Pension Fund Act 41 of 1963. The assets of the plan are administered by trustees in a fund independent of Legal Aid SA. The fund is administered under the control of the National Government. The National Treasury stands as guarantor for any shortfall that the fund may experience. For this reason, no provision is made in the books of Legal Aid SA for any shortfall or surplus that may arise. The disclosure for this plan is done in accordance with a defined contribution plan due to the following reasons: Legal Aid SA is not the only member of the Pension Fund and the liability exposure and the assets cannot be separated from the other members' liability and assets.

Group Life risk cover

Legal Aid SA contributes to a Group Life scheme on behalf of its employees and is not exposed to any actuarial or investment risk of the fund. As the contributions made are those of the employees from guaranteed remuneration, the contributions paid are expensed as remuneration.

Judicare

Legal Aid SA instructs independent legal practitioners where it believes that the interests of the client are best handled in this manner. These practitioners are paid according to a tariff set by Legal Aid SA from time to time. A consequence of the nature of court cases is that while an estimate can be made of the cost of cases based on historical experience, the actual payments may vary. In addition, the length of time taken to complete cases often varies; in general, payment is only made on completion of a case.

Gross claims incurred comprise all claims arising from events that have occurred in the period and for which Legal Aid SA is responsible, whether or not reported by the end of the period.

Net claims incurred comprise:

- claims submitted and accrued for services rendered during the period net of recoveries; and
- claims for services rendered during the previous period not included in the outstanding claims provision for that period, net of recoveries.

Outstanding claims provision

The method used is based on reviewing actual payments for matters over a minimum period of five financial years and adjusting all payments made during this period to their present day value. We thereafter determine the percentage of case activities that is completed per month for each matter and/or court type, up to a maximum of 36 months. This information is then used to determine the provision amount for each pending matter based on its age and the cost per case of the matter.

NOTES TO THE ANNUAL FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Changes in assumptions and sensitivities to changes in key variables

All assumptions are based on actual claims experience in determining the outstanding claims provision. Due to the nature of the provision, no material change is expected in any assumptions made.

Legal Aid SA believes that the liability for claims reported in the Statement of Financial Position is adequate. However, it recognises that the process of estimation is based upon variable factors and assumptions which could differ when claims arise. A retrospective review of actual claims experience is performed monthly to determine the accuracy of the outstanding claims provision. Due to this, the impact of a change in the key variables is not considered to be significant and no further sensitivity analysis is provided.

Incentive payments

An incentive payment is payable to employees during August each year based on their individual performance as well as that of the organisation as a whole.

Litigation

Legal Aid SA, by the nature of its activities, has at any time a number of legal matters in process. The cost of these, as well as the possible effect of any outcome, is provided for in the year in which the cause of action arises. No certainty exists as to the timing of when these amounts will be paid.

27. CHANGES IN ESTIMATES

In the current period, Management has re-assessed the useful lives of property, plant and equipment (Computer hardware, Leasehold improvements, Furniture and equipment as well as Building improvements) as it had been determined that the assets could be used for a longer period in line with the cost containment measures applied in the organisation. The effect of the change in accounting estimate has resulted in a decrease in depreciation charge of R6,046,300 for the current period. The effect on future periods could not be reasonably determined.

33. RISK MANAGEMENT

Financial risk management

The entity's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks: market risk (including currency risk, fair value interest rate risk, cash flow interest rate risk and price risk), credit risk and liquidity risk.

Liquidity risk

The entity's risk to liquidity is a result of the funds available to cover future commitments. The entity manages liquidity risk through an ongoing review of future commitments. This risk is regarded as low considering Legal Aid SA's current funding structures and the management of available cash resources.

Credit risk

Credit risk arises mainly from receivables and cash and cash equivalents. Legal Aid SA's exposure to credit risk arises because of default of counterparties with maximum exposure equal to the carrying amount of these instruments. These risks are mitigated as follows:

- Cash and cash equivalents are placed with high credit quality financial institutions, thus rendering the credit risk with regard to cash and cash equivalents limited.
- Transactions are entered into with reputable institutions approved by the National Treasury.
- With regard to accounts receivables, credit risk is limited by the fact that the organisation does not issue loans or raise debtors in its day-to-day business.
- Legal Aid SA does not offer credit facilities to neither employees nor any other person, except where a debtor may be raised due to advances on travel and subsistence.

Credit risk consists mainly of cash deposits, cash equivalents and trade debtors. The entity only deposits cash with major banks with high quality credit standing and limits exposure to any one counterparty.

Financial assets exposed to credit risk at year end were as follows:

Financial instrument	2022 R	2021 R
Cash and cash equivalents	703,088,371	573,970,277
Receivables from exchange transactions	36,233,096	5,608,613
Deposits	1,736,548	1,708,705
Client trust account	55,827,063	56,726,471

NOTES TO THE ANNUAL FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Market risk

Interest rate risk

The organisation is exposed to interest rate risk in respect of returns on investments with financial institutions and interest payable on finance leases contracted with outside parties. The organisation's income and operating cash flows are substantially independent of changes in market interest rates. The organisation has no significant interest-bearing assets other than liquid cash.

Sensitivity analysis risk

Legal Aid SA's major source of revenue is a Government grant and to a lesser extent, interest income depending on cash equivalents held. A major expense is salaries which are fixed for the period under review.

Below is the recalculated financial assets and liabilities showing the effect of:

- A one percentage point decrease or increase in the current account interest rate.
- A one percentage point decrease or increase in the trade and other payables account interest rate.
- A one percentage point decrease or increase in the trade and other receivables account interest rate.

Method used

It is assumed that the deceased estates funds and the rental deposit interest rate trend have a significant effect on the amounts recognised in surplus or deficit. A one percentage point change in the assumed deceased estates funds and rental deposit interest rate would have the following effects:

	March 2022	1%	March 2021	1%
	(1%)		(1%)
Cash and cash equivalents	(703,087,385)	(70,030,874)	(573,970,277)	5,739,703
Deposits	(1,736,548)	(17,365)	(1,708,705)	(17,087)
Client trust account	(55,827,063)	(558,271)	(56,726,471)	(567,265)
Trade receivables	(36,233,096)	(362,330)	(5,608,613)	(56,086)

34. GOING CONCERN

We draw attention to the fact that at 31 March 2022, the entity had an accumulated surplus of R701,608,276 and that the entity's assets exceed its total liabilities by R701,608,276.

The Annual Financial Statements have been prepared on the basis of accounting policies applicable to a going concern. This basis presumes that funds will be available to finance future operations and that the realisation of assets and settlement of liabilities, contingent obligations and commitments will occur in the ordinary course of business.

The Accounting Authority reviewed Legal Aid SA's budgets and cash flow forecasts for the period under review. On the basis of this review, and in view of the organisation's current sound financial position, the Accounting Authority assesses the organisation's going concern in the year ahead. The Accounting Authority also considered the responsibility of the Minister of Justice and Correctional Services to fund the operations of the organisation as envisaged by the Legal Aid SA Act.

In four (4) instances, there were no specific members who could be held responsible as these were due to challenges with non-responsive bids and delays in the procurement process.

38. BUDGET DIFFERENCES

Material differences between budget and actual amounts

The excess of actual expenditure under the final budget of 5% is acceptable.

Interest income

The 29% variance on interest is mainly due to a higher balance that is invested than what was anticipated at budget stage.

Finance costs

For the current financial year, finance costs were not budgeted for, hence 100% variance; the expenditure related to the interest paid on the finance leases and post-retirement medical aid actuarial valuation.

Administrative expenses

The 24% variance is as a result of less court attendance due to implemented COVID-19 mitigation measures before moving to Level 1 at the end of the third quarter.

Operating expenses

The 14% variance on other expenses is due to certain projects such as the purchase and maintenance of motor vehicles, computer software and hardware, tools and IT support that could not be finalised due to matters beyond the control of the organisation. A request to roll over the funds has been submitted.

Debt impairment

For the current financial year, debt impairment was not budgeted, hence 100% variance.

Grants received

The over collection of 3% as a result of a transfer of the Land Rights Management Unit to Legal Aid SA with a budget of R33 million and the new Specialised Commercial Crimes Court funding of R11 million.

Ramabitle v Nedbank Limited

Our client (the applicant) in a strategic litigation matter purchased a property in February 2006 through a Nedbank home loan, for R80,000.00. The loan was covered by a covering mortgage bond in favour of Nedbank. The property was registered in the applicant's name in March 2006. In January 2007, Nedbank issued summons against the applicant for payment of an amount of almost R85,000.00 allegedly owed by the applicant on the aforesaid mortgage bond. Nedbank alleges that when it issued summons, the applicant was 3.5 months in arrears in respect of monthly bond payments. The return of service indicates that the summons was served by affixing a copy thereof to the principal door on 26 February 2007. The applicant contends that she never saw the summons, thus no appearance to defend was entered by the applicant.

On 26 March 2007, the Registrar of the court granted default judgment against the applicant in the High Court, Pretoria at Nedbank's instance for payment of the sum of almost R85,000.00 together with a further order declaring the property executable for the sum of almost R85,000.00 together with costs. After having this judgment granted in its favour, Nedbank proceeded with the sale in execution.

There were two sales in execution:

In the first, in April 2007, the applicant received a letter from Nedbank advising that her house would be sold by way of auction at a sale in execution on 28 May 2007. She contacted Nedbank and was advised that she had to pay an amount of R4,000.00 to settle the arrears. The applicant was only able to raise a sum of R3,000.00 and paid it to Nedbank. The sale in execution was cancelled. The applicant avers that it was never brought to her attention that a judgment had been granted against her, and as a lay person she believed that paying the R3,000.00 duly dealt with the matter and she never sought legal advice.

A second sale in execution was held on 22 October 2007, after which the applicant's property was sold in execution to one N.A. Motshweni (now deceased). On 16 November 2012, the second respondent, an executrix from Standard Bank Ltd, being the executrix of the deceased's estate, was joined to the proceedings.

Considering the interaction between the applicant and Nedbank, the applicant thought that the matter was resolved and was unaware that Nedbank had proceeded with a second sale in execution on 22 October 2007. As a result of the understanding that the matter had been resolved, the applicant continued paying her R798.80 monthly bond payments without fail. She was never informed by the bank that her monthly instalment was inadequate.

There is no notice of sale in execution and returns of service filed on paper pertaining to the sale in execution held on 22 October 2007.

The applicant was only contacted in April 2011 by the deceased who informed her that he had purchased the property on auction. Only later in 2011 did the applicant learn that her house had been put on a second auction and that it was sold for an amount of R15,000.00. The applicant then approached Legal Aid SA for legal assistance.

In 2011, the deceased launched an application in the Magistrate's Court for the eviction of the applicant from the property. The eviction order was granted.

In presenting the argument, legal principles for rescission application were set out and considered by the Judge in the judgment. This is reflected in paragraphs 22 to 28 wherein Rules 31 and 42 of the Uniform Rules of Court and case law are discussed. On the merits of the case, it was contended as follows: (i) The monthly payments paid by the applicant to Nedbank, in respect of the mortgage bond, is reflected in a printout attached to the applicant's affidavit; (ii) The applicant contends that the terms and conditions of the sale in execution of her property caused her great harm because no reserve price was set; this resulted in the property being sold below market value for a mere R15,000.00; (iii) The conduct of Nedbank intended to leave the applicant and family homeless; (iv) The default judgment, including an order declaring the applicant's property specially executable was issued by the Registrar. It was submitted that no judicial oversight was exercised prior to the applicant's property being declared specially executable; (v) That it was unconstitutional for the Registrar to declare immovable property specially executable.

The application was filed out of the time prescribed by the Rules of Court and an application for condonation was launched.

The court held that condonation is granted; the default judgment granted on 26 March 2007 is declared unconstitutional; the default judgment granted on 26 March 2007 is rescinded and set aside; the warrant of execution issued by the Registrar on 27 March 2007 is set aside; the sale in execution held on 22 October 2007 for the applicant's property is set aside; the eviction application granted on 18 August 2011 is set aside, and the court directed that the property be transferred back to the applicant and Nedbank was ordered to pay the applicant's costs.

After the delivery of the judgment, the SLU prepared a bill of costs and a settlement was reached between the attorneys on the amount for legal costs to be paid by Nedbank to Legal Aid SA. This has already been paid. The bank has requested documentation from the applicant to effect the process of transfer of the property back to our client. This was an excellent outcome for our client.

Legal Aid SA assisted a client with a labour review. They were charged and dismissed based on several allegations of misconduct levelled against them which included: (1) Displaying unprofessional behaviour towards fellow employees by shouting in front of working colleagues and members of the public; (2) Non-attendance of meetings called; (3) Unauthorised use of vehicles; (4) Intimidation of fellow employees. A disciplinary hearing was conducted in our client's absence as her request for a postponement was refused. Our client thereafter lodged an internal appeal, which was also unsuccessful. She declared a dispute with the Public Service Co-ordinating Bargaining Council (PSCBC) for unfair dismissal. The matter was arbitrated and the Arbitrator confirmed the dismissal. Legal Aid SA then assisted the client to take the decision of the PSCBC on review and the legal practitioner argued that the employer firstly failed to follow proper procedure to dismiss the employee as she was dismissed in absentia which offends the rules of natural justice and further, in terms of Resolution 1 of 2003 of the Collective Agreement of the PSCBC, the suggested sanction for the charges levelled against our client was either a warning or final written warning. The Court agreed that the Arbitrator's decision was unreasonable as it was not one that can be reached by a reasonable decisionmaker because the employee should have been given a warning. The award was reviewed with an order that our client be given a final written warning and be reinstated.
